BLAINE'S ADVICE.

Turn all the Energy Against the Common Enemy.

Brooklyn, June 11. Before he left the city for his home last evening Mr. Blaine gave the following address to the Journal.

"The resolution, energy and persistence which marked the proceedings of the convention at Minneapolis, will, if fully recognized, make the progress of the campaign in November. All minor differences should be merged in the duty of every Republican to do all in his power to elect the ticket nominated today."

JAMES G. BLAINE.

Those Northern Votes.

The idea was simple at Minneapolis. The Union ticket of the Northern states had nominated Harrison, and that he could not get an electoral vote from the Democratic section of the country...

An analysis of the vote of what are called the Northern states does not make the case for the Republican ticket. From thirty-five states and territories property classed as "Northern" - all Republicans or doubtful Mr. Harrison...

There is no fair reason, in view of the facts, to assume that the Southern vote will be divided between the two candidates.

Why They Will Vote For Warner.

"Stand up for Missouri!" will win the day. As a business proposition about the election of Major Warner will be worth millions to the state, for it will...

The business sense of the proposition is drawing a business case to the standard of Major Warner for the entire peninsula of the state, without party distinction.

They are beginning to understand the reasons which have retarded the state's development, and they are beginning to understand the reasons which have retarded the state's development...
