

New Bank Notes are Ready.

The comptroller of the currency has received from the bureau of engraving and printing and has issued the first delivery of the new national bank notes, known as the series of 1902. These notes will be issued only to new banks organized since January 1, 1902, and those extending or re-extending their charters. Only the denominations of $10 and $20 are ready for issue. Later fives, fifties and hundreds will be issued. These notes are a radical departure in design from bank notes heretofore issued, and are considered a great improvement. The backs have only one plate printing, which is an artistic vignette printed in green. The faces all bear portraits of prominent deceased officials of the government—President Harrison for the $5 note, President McKinley for the $10 note, Secretary McCulloch for the $20 note, Senator Sherman for the $50 and Comptroller John J. Knox for the $100.

To facilitate the assorting of currency in the redemption agency of the treasury department, the charter numbers, with a system of letters in broad-faced type designating the geographical division in which the bank is located, will be placed hereafter on both ends of the face of all notes printed, including the new series, as follows: Letter "N," New England states; "E," Eastern states; "M," Middle states; "S," Southern states; "W," Western states, and "P," Pacific states. These are the geographical divisions heretofore used in the department under which statistical matter has been reported. The comptroller desires to save banks, as well as the office, unnecessary correspondence by announcing that it will be impossible to change designs for banks which have already had their notes prepared, as this would disarrange the system of records kept in the division of issue.—New York Tribune.

Farmers Have Zoo?

Farmers and wealthy men of Winnebago county are collecting and propagating wild game and strange animals from many parts of the world, says the Chicago Daily News.

W. J. Knapp, who owns a large farm near the Freeport line of the Chicago & Northwestern railway, has a zoo of his own which has attracted attention from animal breeders in different parts of the country, and B. Eldridge, the wealthy manufacturer of Belvidere, has embarked in the propagation and protection of game animals and birds on a large scale.

Mr. Knapp began his work several years ago in a small way. A menagerie passing along the highway left a wounded bear on the roadside. Bruin had been given up to die, but Knapp took pity on the beast, carried him to his farm and nursed him back to life. From that time he has been adding to his collection until he has a good-sized zoo. There are elk, deer, monkeys and a lot of birds of fine feather. There is a pretty herd of Shetland ponies and a great pond in which there are some large variety of trout. Not long ago he imported a zebu cow, which, with her tiny calf, came all the way from India. There are many specimens of rare character, one of which is a lion which belongs to the quadrumanous tribe allied to the lemurs. Recently a pair of two-year-old buffalo was secured and the purpose is to breed a herd of this great beast of the prairies. A pair of lions is also being negotiated for. The care of these animals entails an immense amount of work and expense, it having been necessary to provide an animal house for them.

The effort of Mr. Eldridge is more in the line of a game preserve. He has acquired a large tract of land north of Belvidere and will probably enlarge it. He has already turned loose a herd of deer, elk and other game animals and will add to the collection from time to time. Of the smaller game there are squirrels, rabbits, quail and pheasants. The entire preserve is inclosed in a high wire fence and the whole placed in charge of a game keeper.

The farmers of Northern Illinois are becoming more and more stringent in the matter of prohibiting shooting on their farms. In Rockford township of Winnebago county the farmers have formed an association, and among other things the shooting matter is handled by the association, a member of which allows no hunter on his premises unless the hunter is accompanied by a representative of the farmer, and shooting on Sunday is not permitted at all on the farm of any member of the association. The result is that hunters are giving the locality a wide berth and are establishing hunting preserves in different swamp lands in Illinois and Wisconsin.

Then, when you have finished your lecture," said the professor of elocution and deportment to young Dulle, "how gracefully and leave the platform on tiptoe."

"Why on tiptoe?" queried Dulle.

"So as not to wake the audience," replied the professor.—Pearson's Weekly.

MILLIONS FOR RAILROAD WORK.

Estimated $400,000 Will be Expended This Coming Summer.

During the coming summer $400,000,000 is to be expended on the railroads of the United States, according to the Brooklyn Eagle. In speaking of the matter, it says:

"Traffic has assumed such vast proportions that the railroads are unable to handle it. Thirty million dollars in earnings were lost to the railroads last year simply because they could not haul the freight offered, notwithstanding the fact that 150,000 cars were added to the equipment. To prepare for the coming busy season many millions are to be spent for rolling stock so much heavier than anything now in use that it becomes necessary to rebuild bridges and track to carry the 130-ton locomotives and the cars containing fifty tons of cargo.

"Road beds are to be built, curves straightened out, grades reduced and cutoffs constructed. Long stretches of single track will be made into double-track systems. Lines that have sufficed to carry trains of average weight are to be made over to suit the exacting demands of the heavy traffic of today. A great proportion of the rolling stock of the last few years must be swept out of existence. Engines and cars are no longer big enough, powerful enough to handle the rapidly increasing traffic. The cry everywhere is for more powerful rolling stock. For these there must be better road beds.

"Freight yards are growing too small. The volume of trade has grown beyond them. The press of cars is so great that new side track facilities must be devised for their loading, their unloading and their shifting. The problem of the freight yards is being added to as well by the increase in size of the new cars that are now coming into use. Altogether it is an era of new construction. One new set of conditions has made necessary others. Two years from now will see the country's railroads on quite a different plane.

"The day has come of the decapod locomotive, with its ten driving wheels, a machine that rises so high in air, that to pass through tunnels the smokestack has to be dented; of the freight car twice as large as that of half a dozen years ago; of some arch bridges in the place of steel, of the freight yard of several stories.

"Such a freight yard is now being designed for the new Wabash terminal in Pittsburg, a huge steel building that will be several stories in height. The cars will be run in here and will be lifted on huge elevators and unloaded and reloaded on the upper floors. No one has as yet been allowed a view of the preliminary designs. But their importance can be readily realized.

"A building of this sort, revolutionary as it is, is a necessity for this Pittsburg terminal, since it was impossible to get sufficient land to build a freight station of the ordinary kind. If it proves a success it will mean a new era in freight handling."

WORTH $300,000,000.

The President of a certain big Oil Company is said to be worth $300,000,000. A tidy bit of money and no mistake. And yet he isn't happy. In an address to a Bible class he spoke of trials and troubles of the rich and the loads they have to carry. A young lady whispered to a friend that he might wear a Benson's Porous Plaster on his back, or better still, divide the money among the members of the class. I don't know why her idea about the plaster makes me want to laugh, but it does. All the same I have seen plenty of people laugh after putting Benson's Plasters on their backs or chests, or on any other spot where there was weight, heaviness, weakness or pain. It may be the sharp stab of neuralgia, the aches and wrenches of rheumatism; it may be colds in muscles or bones; it may be those kidney or lumbar aches that make you yell as at a dog bite; or it may be a strain or cramp, anything that wants quieting and comforting. Don't bother with salves, liniments, lotions, etc., or with any of the stupid and useless old style plasters. Clap on a Benson's. It relieves at once and cures quickly. It stops the pain and makes you laugh for the very ease and good feeling of it. But watch out against imitations and substitutes. All druggists, or we will prepare postage on any number ordered in the United States on receipt of 25c. each.

IT IS NOT BRITISH.

Mule Camp At Lathrop, Mo., Is Not a British Enterprise.

The complaints of General Pearson, the Boer agent in the United States, regarding the British army's mule camp at Lathrop, the sensational speeches made about it by Missouri congressmen and the decision of congress to investigate it, have made Lathrop a point of international interest. The camp has been in existence since May 1, 1901. Since then about 72,000 horses and mules—55,000 horses and 17,000 mules—owned by the British government have been in the Guyton-Harrington Mule Company's pasture there. They have been shipped from every every part of the United States, kept there two or three weeks each, and reshipped again by the trainload to New Orleans. Ever since last May this has been the largest horse and mule camp ever maintained by any government in the world. For this reason, the people of Lathrop think the Boer agents and their friends have been somewhat belated in making what they believe is the discovery that the neutrality laws are not violated in favor of the British.

The proposed investigation is the only thing talked about in Lathrop. The news that General Pearson was on his way there ran rapidly through the town and everybody knew it. Generally the townspeople take the British side of the argument and maintain that there is no ground for asserting that the Boers' rights are being infringed. The presence of the British army officers, who are "good spenders," and the large number of people and animals which the people have been called upon to feed, has very considerably increased the local prosperity, and this doubtless influences the opinions of not a few.

Now, both the British army officers there and the members of the Guyton-Harrington Mule Company and their employes declare that the Guyton-Harrington Mule Company either owns or has leases on every acre of land in the camp; that it owns all the buildings upon it; and that the only service it has rendered the British government is that of selling its horses and mules and feeding horses and mules which the representatives of that government had bought.

There was a tremendous south wind here yesterday," said Sherlock Holmes, who was traveling along the country road in Kansas. The company turned in wonder to the great detective.

"How on earth could you tell that?" a man asked. And Sherlock turned and pointed to the south side of a hedge fence, against which had lodged a barn, the washing of four families, 10,000 newspapers, a span of mules and a baby buggy.—Wichita Eagle.
