

Home vs. Outside Industries

Should home town industries be protected? Are town halls, high schools, hotels, public libraries, churches, doctors, etc., desirable in your immediate neighborhood? What is a town hall for? For public gatherings and entertainments. Good entertainments cost money. Destroy the home town industries and the home town spirit languishes and dies. With the town gone on the people go. Who will then pay for first-class entertainments? Who will then support the high schools? Who will then patronize first-class hotels? Who will keep up the churches? What first-class preacher or doctor will come to a dead town? They will go where the people go. Where are the people going? To large cities. Why? Because too many persons are sending their money to the large cities. When money goes to large cities, the good teachers, good preachers, good doctors follow to get the money—your money. The result will be poor teachers in your schools, poor preachers in your churches, doctors that you are afraid to employ, druggists who can't fill a prescription safely. Can you expect first-class professional men to remain in your locality when you send your money to the city? No! When you patronize mail-order houses you play into the city plutocrat's game. How? By killing home industries, driving skillful doctors and teachers to the city because they cannot afford to stay with you. You deprive your children of good teachers, your wife and daughters of social life, your entire family of good medical service and religious opportunity, turning over all these benefits to the city man. Is he to have entertainments and expert professional services and you take what is left? Buy at home and keep your money in your home town. Unless you do you will soon have no town, no respectable schools, no churches, no social pleasures. Just hum-drum routine, like horses and cows.

APOLOGY THAT WAS LOST.

Absent-Minded Professor Makes a Mistake in Trying to Do the Polite.

The professor of philosophy, absent-minded and full of enthusiasm, came into the sitting room, relates Harper's Magazine. "What a beautiful woman Mrs. Raymond is!" he exclaimed. "I have just had a pleasant talk with her in the bookstore." His wife looked up from her sewing. "John!" she exclaimed, "where is your collar?" The professor of philosophy put his hand to his throat. "I must have left it at the barber shop. Yes, that's it. I went to the barber shop, then to the bookstore. Why," he ended, lamely, "Mrs. Raymond would think it very careless of me to appear in public without my collar, wouldn't she?" "Rather," said his wife. "Perhaps you'd better call her up and tell her how it happened." "Exactly," said the professor. The professor went to the telephone. "Hello, central, hello. Hello—is this Mrs. Raymond? Yes? Well, really, it was very stupid of me, Mrs. Raymond, but, you know, I had been thinking of something very important, and I quite forgot my collar. I—oh—ah!—good-by." The professor suddenly hung up the receiver. He gave utterance to a mild exclamation. "John!" exclaimed his wife. "She says she hasn't been out of the house to-day," groaned the professor.

Rented by the Year. Fancy being evicted from your last resting place if your relatives neglected to pay the rent! Yet this is what happens every day in Porto Rico. In the Campo Santo, the consecrated field, which lies on the cliff edge, near San Juan, it is impossible to buy a grave right out, except at a price which puts it out of the question for poor people. The graves are leased for a term of years, and if at the end of that time the lease is not renewed, the remains are dug up and the ground re-let.

Filipinos Like to Sing. Visitors from this country and teachers in the Filipino schools have commented on the fondness of the children for singing, and the quickness and accuracy with which they learn new songs. A returned traveler, who was in a Filipino school on Washington's birthday, says he never heard the "Star-Spangled Banner" sung as those children sang it.

Stung! Mr. Jones—I didn't marry your whole family—I only married you. Mrs. Jones—Of course, dear. I was the only fool in the family.—Judge.

—John Eiler, Charley Foster, James Hinde, Dr. Whitmer, Merrill Christy and Jones Hostetter took in the ball game at St. Joseph, Sunday.

—An ingenious farmer by the name of E. W. Harvey, who is a patron of the rural mail route in a neighboring county, but whose house is at a considerable distance from the road, has rigged up a new device for getting his mail to the house without going after it. He has extended two wires from the porch of his house to the mail box on the road side and has so arranged the whole apparatus that, by turning a wheel on the porch the mail box to which the pulleys are fixed roll smoothly over the wire and delivers the goods right at the door. To return the box he merely reverses the movement of the wheel.

All persons having claims against said estate, are required to exhibit them for allowance to the administrator within one year after the date of said letters, or they may be precluded from any benefit of said estate; and if such claims be not exhibited within two years from the date of this publication, they shall be forever barred. —Dr. Bert G. Pierce will go to St. Louis next week, where he will give a clinic before the State Dental Association, his subject being: "Gutta Serena Base Plates." —Judge William H. Wallace, of Kansas City, who will deliver the commencement address tonight, is one of the ablest orators and public speakers in the state. No one can afford to miss him.

—WANTED:—Information as to the address of John F. Moller, or heirs, if he is dead. Address was Holt county about 1862. Small recovery can probably be made. Address, Harvey Spalding & Sons, Washington, D. C.

—Elder W. A. Haynes preached at the Christian church here last Sunday. He had just returned from Doniphan, Ripley County, Mo., where he had held a two weeks' meeting for the church there, resulting in thirty additions.

—Our sympathy goes out to J. W. Crider, in the great loss that has come to him and family, by the death of his wife, which occurred at her home near Maitland, Sunday, May 14, 1905. Funeral services were held Tuesday. We hope for an obituary next week.

—The period again approaches when the assessors will make their annual abortive effort to find and get onto the tax lists of all personal property. And the period is again coming when the usual escape of three-fourths of the personalty of the state will dodge the assessors, leaving the inescapable realty and what personalty cannot be hidden to bear the entire burden.

—J. F. Elston, superintendent of rural mail routes, has been here, looking over the county with the view of putting in a complete system of rural routes here and at Forest City, touching every farm possible in this county. He will report in St. Louis, and report here Friday of this week. We advise our farmers, if they desire the rural mail to stay with them or be extended, the surest way to win is to get out your drags and get your roads in first class condition. Uncle Sam isn't in the habit of carrying people around on chips. Sam means business—Good roads and free rural delivery; bad roads and no rural free delivery. We warned our readers some two weeks ago about the prospective coming of the inspector, and if you are cut out of a mail route, you will have no one to "cuss" but your own "cussed" carelessness. Get a hustle in our advice. Our congressman, F. B. Fulker-son, has been particularly zealous since his election last fall, in securing the extension and establishment of new rural routes.

A Chapter on Accidents.

From the Forest City Press—Ed. Fitzmaurice's daughter, Lizzie, was quite severely hurt at her home, two and one-half miles north of town, Saturday, May 6, 1905, by a heavy gate falling on her. She was rendered unconscious for a short time, and medical aid was called and she is doing nicely at present.

Mrs. Lizzie Thornhill met with quite a serious accident Tuesday, May 9, 1905. She started to go down cellar when her foot caught on a loose board which threw her down, and in trying to catch herself her hand struck a nail which penetrated through the palm of the hand. A physician dressed the wound and it is hoped no more serious results will follow.

Sunday, about 5 o'clock p. m., May 7, 1905, the 18 months, old child of Sidney Eads and wife, while at the home of Vince Hopper, drank coal oil from an old can from the effects of which it soon became unconscious and had had a convulsion, remaining unconscious for seven hours. A physician was hastily summoned, arriving about 6 o'clock, who, after emptying the stomach, administered restoratives from the effect of which the condition of the child began to improve, and has now about recovered.

The Markets.

Special to THE SENTINEL: KANSAS CITY, MO., Wednesday, May 17.—It was figured that the moderate loss in cattle last week was a result of contracted cattle being forced on the market, swelling the run unnaturally. Lack of confidence in future prices also had some effect. More cattle than it was realized have been put on feed in the last two months, or since the present era of high prices set in, and the marketing of these is beginning to be felt in increased receipts. Top last week was $6.30, top yesterday $6. The run for three days is 2,000 less than same days last week, and all kinds are showing some improvement. Bulk of steers sell at $5.00 to 5.90, cows $3.50 to 4.75, heifers $4.00 to 5.25, veals $4.00 to 5.50, bulls $2.65 to 4.65, stockers and feeders $3.50 to 4.85. The cattle market is 50 cents to a dollar higher than last May, and above the May average for a series of years.

The hog market is easily affected now; Monday heavy receipts depressed prices 5 to 10 cents, but yesterday and today exactly the opposite is the case, not as many hogs received as expected, and market higher. Medium weights are now selling at the top, right along with heavies, and will probably lead the heavies from now on during the summer. Top today $5.45, bulk of sales $5.30 to 5.42½, weights below 200 pounds up to $5.40.

The mutton market has regained some of the strength it had a month or two ago. Texas and Arizona grass sheep make up most of the arrivals, and sell well, at $4.50 to 5.00, mostly, a few feeding animals at $3.25 to 3.75. There are few lambs in sight anywhere on feed, for some time to come, and they are selling, accordingly, very strong. Some medium grade woolled lambs sold at $7.10 yesterday, and clipped lambs at $6.25; choice ones would bring $7.40. E. P. German, Craig, Mo., had a car of cattle here Tuesday.
