

The Fudgers Are Entertained.

All records for unique and original entertainments, which the Fudge club ladies have deservedly held from the very infancy of their club down to the present time, were broken Thursday evening of last week, by their "Fire-side Party" tendered them by Mrs. Emma Zook, at her delightful home. The home was ablaze with electric lights and profuse decorations. An informal program of instrumental and vocal music was enjoyed before luncheon. The artistic beauty of the table arrangements was an appetizer that proved effective. The rich dining table was free from any table cloth and only elaborate doilies marked the place for each guest. In the center was the typical old time chimney, and from it just at its base, Old Santa Claus, was to be seen emerging from his drop from the roof; the chimney was covered with "snow," and from every nook and corner of Santa's abiding place red ribbons came out extending to each doily, and to these ribbons were attached the place cards, and to the chimney end of the ribbons unique souvenirs were attached—little red stockings filled to overflowing with bonbons. The dinner was served in six courses, and on completing the last course each guest pulled their ribbon which brought to them their "tokens" from the chimney and Old Santa. In addition to the members of the club, Mrs. Zook invited the following young gentlemen—just in order that the young ladies of the club might have "company home." The young men accepting the invitations were: Messrs Sherman Hibbard, Harold Hoffman, Corban Markland, Barny Noland, Johnny Rayhill, Wesley Markt, Harry Pollock, Don Hunt and Frank Castle. And these young gallants "saw their home"; returned them to their dear mamas, and then to dream land they went, thinking of the happy, joyous evening they had passed through the kindness of their host, Mrs. Zook.

Happy Hearts.

On Christmas Day, 1906, in the presence of a few intimate friends and relatives of the contracting parties, a quiet home wedding occurred at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Ashworth, when they gave their daughter, Bessie, in marriage to Mr. John Sommers.

The cozy new home of Mr. and Mrs. Ashworth was elaborately decorated for the happy event, the color scheme being green and red. Promptly at high noon as the gentle notes of the wedding march floated out sweet and clear, rendered by Miss Minnie Ashworth, the happy couple, led by Roy Ashworth, a brother, as best man and Miss Allie Peterson as the bride's maid, they took their places underneath a massive wedding bell, which was artistically decorated in green and red; behind the bridal party was a background of evergreen and potted plants and ferns.

Here the Rev. Saucerman, of the M. E. church, of Fillmore, impressively spoke the words that united this most worthy young couple as man and wife. Following the ceremony the wedding party and guests repaired to the spacious and handsomely decorated dining room, where a bountiful repast awaited them.

The bride was handsomely attired in lavender silk and carried a bouquet of white roses, while her maid carried a bouquet of red roses, and was gowned most becomingly. The bride is one of the most popular young ladies of the Highland neighborhood, and a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Norris, of this city. The groom is a prosperous young farmer, who is highly respected by all who know him. They left for a brief visit with the groom's parents living near St. Joseph, and are now at home to their many friends on the Sommers farm east of this city. A Guest.

This is the anniversary evening, and all members are requested to be present to enjoy the program and the social hour which follows.

—Examinations for the work of the first half of the school year in our schools will be held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week.

—Dr. Blevins, of St. Anthony, Id., is here, visiting relatives.

—D. A. Brodbeck, of Frankfort, Kas., was here this week on business.

—Fred Sipes and Cort Gifford, of Curzon, are new students in our school.

—Mrs. F. E. Seeman and little child, of Red Oak, Iowa, are visiting relatives here.

—Dave Cropp has returned from a visit with his brother, Eppa, and family, in Chariton, Iowa.

—Mrs. Cora Burgess and son Bruce, have returned from their visit in St. Joseph and vicinity.

—Miss Olive Grebe, of Omaha, Neb., is visiting here, the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Maude Simmons.

—Miss Francis Montgomery, of Skidmore, is visiting Grandpa and Grandma Montgomery, this week.

—Charley Peret, of Fullerton, Nebr., was here for a few days the past week, visiting relatives and old time friends.

—Rev. C. M. Evans, of Iowa, visited with old friends, F. S. Morgan and wife, of this city, for a couple of days, this week.

—Amos Weis, of Robinson, Kas., has been at home on a visit with his father and mother, Henry Weis and wife, for a few days.

—Mrs. Ann Virginia Noland, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. C. Leverich, has returned to her home in Hiawatha, Kas.

—Dr. Proud reports a fine girl baby at the home of Everett McAfee and wife, near Forbes, Wednesday evening, Jan. 2, 1907.

—Superintendent A. R. Coburn, of our public schools, was in Moberly, this state, last week, attending the State Teachers' meeting.

—J. L. Anno, of the Oakland school district, was in Oregon Wednesday of this week, paying his taxes and looking after other business interests.

—James Elder, who has been quite sick for several days, is now some better, we are glad to state. His brother, Jesse, is carrying the Star route during his sickness.

—Midway Hoover has moved to the O. D. G. Gelvin farm, five miles northwest of Oregon, and Oren has moved back to his father's, Matt Gelvin, of the Woods district, where he will take charge of the farm the coming season.

—The Oratorio "David King of Israel" will be given at the Presbyterian church in this city on Wednesday evening, January 9th, 1907. The music is fine and you will be well entertained. Admission, free. Everybody welcome.

—H. B. Harris, of Coin, Ia., was here last week for a brief period, visiting his sister, Mrs. Frank Petree, and his father, C. W. Harris, who has been making his home here since September last. Mr. Harris accompanied his son to Coin, where he will remain the coming winter.

—The solos, duets, trios and quartettes in the "David, King of Israel Oratorio" are beautiful and entertaining. Hear this special music in an evening of sacred song at the Presbyterian church, January 9th, 1907. Some instrumental selections will add to the program. No admission fee will be charged.

—Phillip Snider, than whom any man in Holt county ever had any more friends, was here for a few days, this and last week, visiting relatives and friends. He is now located in Lincoln, Neb., and is the night watchman in the Freie Presse building. Uncle Phil does not look a minute older than when he lived here, and is the same jolly, good natured, splendid man that he always was. May he live long and prosper.

—De Witt Williamson, aged 8 years, died in Chicago, Wednesday, January 2, 1907, from diphtheria. He was the only son of Arthur T. Williamson and wife, Mrs. Williamson was formerly Miss Bessie Soper, of this city. They have two daughters left, both of whom are down with the same disease. Their many friends here extend sincere sympathy to them in their hour of affliction, and hope that the children now sick with this dread disease, may recover.

—In the closing weeks of his term of office Judge Alkire performed a service for the people of Holt county for which he received no pecuniary reward; but he is rewarded by the consciousness of duty well done, and by the hearty thanks of all who have any occasion to delve among the old records of the office. For many years the papers connected with the administration of estates in that court, were, after final settlement, thrown into pigeon holes anywhere to get them out of the way. They were in a state of almost inextricable confusion, and it was an almost hopeless job to go through the mass and dig out the papers of any particular estate. Besides the inconvenience these papers were in the office red not in the vault and so were constantly in danger of destruction in case of fire. Several months ago Judge Alkire had some cases put in the vault and began the tedious job of sorting out and arranging this immense mass of papers. It took all his spare time for months, but as a result this disorder was reduced to order and all the papers now in existence, connected with the administration of estates in our Probate court, are in the vault and arranged alphabetically. When it is remembered that the title to more than half the land in Holt county has at some time passed through the Probate court, and depends upon the regularity and validity of the proceedings in that court, some idea may be formed of the value of the service gratuitously rendered by Judge Alkire.

Death of Samuel May.

He who has but one aim, that of destruction, and who never passes along human paths only to gather spoils, has again shown his power among us. No mortal can ever learn to fully know him. We cannot learn by practice to advise against him, for we never return from the first journey with him through the shades, to inform our friends of the images along the way. No one can help another to successfully escape his present destroying power. But his power has been confined to the material realm. Beyond this point of his scythe has never reached, yet each human life lives more in the spiritual and unseen than it does in the material. Hence the fuller life is never touched by him.

Samuel W. May was born in Rockingham county, Virginia, June 7, 1843. Removed to Indiana, then to Illinois, then to Northwest, Missouri, where he had lived for 30 years or more. His first wife to whom he was married in 1867, left this present life six years ago. His surviving companion to whom he was united March 7, 1905, remains in the home he so lately vacated in Forest City.

He has one brother, who lives in the West. Two sisters, Mrs. Wm. Burke, of Mound City, and Mrs. Abe Strough, of Craig. The former with her daughter and the latter with two sons were in attendance at the funeral, which was held from the Christian church at Forest City, Dec. 27th at one o'clock p. m., after which the body was laid away in the ever enlarging city on the nearby hill.

Mr. May had gone to the vicinity of Mt. Grove, Mo., with a view to finding some place that might offer better opportunities than were immediately presented. In the midst of active life, death walked near with feet shod in wool. Pneumonia fastened upon the body which was consumed by the feverish flame—what remained was brought back to the old home.

Mr. May was a friend of the writer. Those among whom he labored could trust him always. One whom we know personally to be an honest and truthful man, said that he ever trusted Mr. May as one who was ever true to every duty enjoined upon him.

O, for a more comprehensive view of life. That we may see each human life as it sets, like the setting sun, throw its glory toward the sky of immortality, where a more beautiful presentation is seen than was noticed while it was apparently higher in the world of life.

Our State Solons.

The general assembly of the State of Missouri was called to order at noon Wednesday; the house being called to order by Secretary of State, John E. Swanger; the senate by Lieutenant Governor McKinley. Governor Folk submitted his message, which was read to both House and Senate on Thursday, and we hope to furnish a brief of the message in our next issue. The legislature is only in temporary organization, and will not be ready for regular business before Monday next. As has been the custom of THE SENTINEL for years, it will keep its readers posted on the more important legislation during the session.

Uncle Si Haskins.

Primrose's "Uncle Si Haskins" drew a good crowd at the Auditorium last night, and sent the same crowd home well pleased. The play, a rural comedy of the type that everybody likes, has been rewritten and improved, and well presented last night by Hayes Greenwalt as "Uncle Si" and his excellent supporting company. The specialties were good, the whistling specialty of Loris Symthe being especially worthy of mention. His imitations were fine.—Norfolk, Neb., News, Jan. 18th, 1906.

Will appear at Forest City opera house, Saturday night, Jan. 5, 1907.

A Fine Record.

Mrs. D. W. Smith and daughter, Miss Selma, of near Bigelow, send us the following report of what they made from their chickens and cows last year.
