

SCHOOL NOTES.

The Christmas Vacation.

(BY E. M. BROOKS, SUPERINTENDENT.)

School will close next Friday, the 23d, for a week's holiday vacation. This is not only our longest vacation during the term but is the happiest. The Christmas time is universally recognized among civilized nations as the season of especial good will and cheer. Not so much because we are to have a holiday, to receive so many presents, bonbons, letters and other happy mementos of the glad day, but because the poor and others unfortunate with whom daily life is hard and pinched and cheerless, are remembered and find some unusual comfort and happiness. It is peculiarly the province of education to enlarge our sympathy through knowledge, to make us less selfish through culture, and to instill and develop an appreciation of the origin and spirit of the Christ life. For the love, sympathy and charity of the Christmas season have their center and circumference in the life and teachings of the humble Nazarene. As the embodiment of the doctrines of sympathy for the downcast and the outcast, of kindness to our inferiors, of charity for the poor, of forgiveness for our enemies, and of good will toward all men of whatever nation, rank, color or creed, the Christ is the world's greatest teacher. In the magnitude of his sacrifice for humanity, he is the world's greatest example of self-denial for the sake of others.

Not alone the rich and the well-to-do have the opportunity and are charged with the responsibility of sharing with the poor, but each of us can make some heart glad that is not accustomed to many happy occasions. May the joys of giving as well as receiving be yours; may the pleasures of the week be without dissipation; may no sorrows and disappointments cast shadows over your Christmas gladness; may health, rest and a renewed spirit return each of you to school again in the new year.

Our pupils did well in their literary program again last Friday. We are pleased to note the willingness of each one placed on the program to do the best possible under the circumstances.

Our friend, Ray Evans, of the class of 1910, visited the scenes of his childhood in high school one day this week. He is home from the state university till after the holidays. We hope all of our absent alumni will remember us with a call during their vacation. You are always welcome, every one of you. We will be glad to see you.

The Freshman history class engaged in a most interesting debate last week, the question being, "Resolved, that an expedition shall be sent to Sicily." The class debated in two sections, one-half of each section taking the negative and affirmative. In this way every pupil had opportunity to take part. All, even the most timid, did well, and many pupils showed splendid preparation as well as earnestness and force in delivery.

We all smiled and felt happy Tuesday afternoon because Miss Bessie Alkire visited us. Her health has not permitted Miss Alkire to attend so far this term, but we are hoping she may be in her place next semester.

Mr. John Wachtel and family have moved to Rosendale, Kan., and taken with them our genial friends and classmates, Carl and Paul. Carl says he doesn't believe he can stand the pressure and is already planning to enter O. H. S. next semester. You are right; Carl, you never had more friends than you have in O. H. S. We not only miss you, but we need you and have an enrollment blank ready for you.

The pupils in the grades are getting along nicely with their Christmas programs for Friday afternoon, the 23d. We want again to commend these programs. Let the boys and girls in our schools sing glad songs, and say beautiful pieces, and impersonate Dear Old Santa in form and word and deed. They may forget longitude and time and the table for apothecaries' weight, or how to bound Colorado and the capital of Florida or even the conjugation of the verb walk, but so long as into their young lives is drilled, in song and verse and story the sweet spirit of the Christmas tide, there is reason to believe that goodness will not wholly depart from their lives as men and women. The parents and other friends are cordially invited to visit the programs on the 23d. We hope many will plan to be present and encourage the little folks.

Some of the Real Estate For Sale By

R. C. BENTON, OREGON, MO.

- No. 1. Is a 320 acre tract of very rich bottom land, 200 acres of which is now in corn, wheat and oats—balance mostly in grass. Good dwelling, stable and granary; farms all under fence. This farm is a good producer and money maker. Would consider some trade or would divide and sell in two tracts and still take some good property on each tract. Owner is a non-resident and in business, so wants to dispose of this farm. A bargain here for the right party. No. 2. Is a farm of 203 acres, 7 miles from Oregon and close to church and school; has dwelling of 4 rooms, smoke and chicken house, barn 28x40, cattle sheds 12x40 and 32x36, hog house 10x60, also tenant dwelling. About 160 acres of this farm is being plowed and mowed, including 10 acres of orchard which is in grass and the balance is in timber pasture; well and running water, 1200 rods hog tight fence, in fact it is an up-to-date stock farm and one among the best in the county. Price $17,000, and considering the fertility of the soil and the splendid improvements, it is cheap at the money. No. 3. Here is a small investment that is hard to excel: 80 acres of land 7 1/2 miles east of Dallas and one and one-fourth miles of Golden on the M. K. & T. R. R., Texas. Dwelling of 4 rooms, barn 24x48, with shed, corn crib, etc. Land level, no stone or gravel; good well of water 22 feet deep. Cash price $2100, will trade for good property here. Owner lives in Iowa and bought the above property for his son and he refuses to go to Texas and live on it. It is splendid farming land in a fine county. No. 4. Contains 42 acres, situated about 2 miles from Forbes, Mo.; has a good substantial dwelling of 5 rooms, with plenty of closets and porches, new barn 28x38, hen house, smoke house and other out-buildings. About 5 acres of orchard containing apples, peaches, pears, plums, also grapes and strawberries. A splendid well of water. Farm mostly in grass and is a bargain at $3250.00. No. 5. Consists of 80 acres of land, situated 4 1/2 miles northeast from Forest City and 8 1/2 miles southeast of Mound City, in a fine neighborhood—has dwelling of 7 rooms, barn 20x40, smoke and chicken houses, a splendid well of water, 2 cisterns and living water, apples, about 800 peach trees, pear trees, cherry, plum and small fruit and fenced into five fields, mostly hog tight, 8 acres of timber, only 28 acres in corn, 4 acres alfalfa, and the balance in timothy and clover. I will make you a price on this farm that will sell it.

THE RESURRECTION

Sunday School Lesson for Dec. 18, 1910

Specially Arranged for This Paper

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 28:1-9. Memory Verses, 5, 6. GOLDEN TEXT—"Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world."—Matt. 28:20. Jesus was in the grave three days, from Friday, April 7, to Sunday, April 9, A. D. 33. The Resurrection was a tomb Sunday morning, and was from a tomb in a garden near Calvary. The home of the disciples during the forty days was in Jerusalem. The appearances of Jesus were in the vicinity of Jerusalem, and in Galilee. The Ascension was from Mount Olivet.

It is hard to conceive of a greater disappointment, or a deeper mental and spiritual gloom than the Egyptian midnight darkness, without a star of hope, which closed about the disciples when Jesus their Lord was dead upon the cross, and every precaution was taken to make certain that he was really, irrevocably dead.

The enemies of Jesus guarded against every possibility of mistake as to the reality of his death. This is a very interesting example of the Providence of God. For if Jesus did not die, he could not be raised from the dead. Moreover if the proof that Jesus really died came from his friends, people would question whether they did not in some way deceive.

But the enemies of Jesus were very anxious that he should be really dead, in order that he might never trouble them again. Hence they did every thing possible to accomplish their purpose. The soldiers pierced his body with a spear, and blood and water flowed from the wound—a proof of death (John 19: 34, 35). The centurion, who was accustomed to executions, was convinced that he was dead, and so reported to Pilate. The tomb in which he was buried was a new one, in which no one had ever been buried, and so there could be no doubt as to the identity of the body of Christ.

At the request of the chief priests, the stone against the door of the sepulcher was sealed, and a Roman guard placed around the tomb, so that no one could take away the body and then pretend that Jesus had risen (Matt. 27: 62-66).

Jesus rose early on Sunday morning. Of the method or circumstances we know only what is stated here: "Behold, there was a great earthquake. Early in the morning, before the arrival of the women at the tomb. For the (an) angel of the Lord descended from heaven. A divine messenger, to overawe the guards, and show that Jesus rose, and was not taken from the tomb by human power, and that the same body came forth that had been buried. Rolled back the stone from the door, and sat upon it, as a guard waiting to give the needed information to the disciples. His countenance (his appearance) was like lightning, in vivid and intense brightness. And his raiment white as snow." This was heavenly apparel, the visible expression of his heavenly nature.

It seems that Mary Magdalene first reached the tomb, and seeing the stone rolled from the door, hastened to tell the news to Peter. The others then came, and entering into the tomb, "found not the body of the Lord Jesus" (Luke). It was fitting that the resurrection should occur at the dawning of the day. It was the dawning of the world's day of redemption. Mark adds, "and Peter." For he would be the saddest of all. This message would be a drop of joy in his cup then, as showing Christ's forgiveness.

The Ascension was the only fitting close of the earthly life of Jesus. When the disciples had been thoroughly convinced by "many infallible proofs" during forty days, that Jesus was really alive, then he went home to his throne and to his Father in the only way that would enable them to realize that he was their ever-living Lord and Saviour. The last view of Jesus was not on the cross, but ascending in glory, a living Saviour.

The resurrection of Christ is the assurance that the death of the body is not the end of existence. For the soul lives on without this mortal body, but receives a body in the other world, like Christ's glorious body.

The resurrection life removes all fears and doubts with the assurance of a continued life hereafter, all we have gained in this life being but a preparation for that eternal life.

The very soul of our religion is missionary, progressive, world embracing; it would cease to exist if it ceased to be missionary, if it disregarded the parting words of its founder, "Go ye, therefore, and teach all nations," etc. The spirit of truth is the life-spring of all religion; and where it exists, it must manifest itself, it must plead, it must persuade. It must also convert. There may be times when silence is gold, and speech silver; but there are times also when silence is death, and speech is life—the very life of Pentecost.

The progress of the church through missions is one of the most hopeful signs of the times. The era of missions has been its era of greatest advancement at home. The awakening of the nations all over the world; the fruits of mission work made manifest within the last ten years, are an inspiration to the whole Christian world, to larger giving and to deeper consecration. Conversion and joining the church are but the beginning of the Christian life. Christ's last command was, "Go ye, therefore." Do not wait for people to come to you, but go to them.
