Trustee's Sale.

Whereas, Charles D. Parson, a single and unmarried man, by his Deed of Trust, dated the 24th day of November, 1903, recorded in Book 96 at Page 350 of the real estate records of Holt County, Missouri, conveyed to Cave J. Hunt, Trustee, the following described real estate, situate in the County of Holt and State of Missouri, to-wit: Thirty-three and one-half square rods more or less commencing at a point ninety-three rods south and seventy-three rods east of the northwest corner of the northwest quarter of Section thirty-five (35) in Township sixty (60) of Range thirty-eight (38), thence running north 31 1/2 degrees east thirteen (13) rods; thence south 23 1/2 degrees east about two hundred and thirty six feet (236) and to a point due east of the point of beginning; thence west about one hundred and twelve (112) feet, or to the place of beginning, in trust to secure the payment of a certain note in said deed of trust fully described.

MOLASSES AS A STOCK FEED

W. C. Stadler, Vinegrove, Kentucky, writes: "What do you know about the value of black strip or low grade molasses as a feed, and how much should be fed?" The Experiment Station Bulletin No. 118, of the Massachusetts Experiment Station, Amherst, Mass., gives a very complete digest of the subject of molasses as a feed. The conclusions do not seem to be very satisfactory regarding its value. Where it can be obtained cheaply, and where the grains are high priced, it probably has a place in the feeds. It is sometimes fed by diluting it with water so that stock will drink it, but generally it is used to give cheaper feeds more palatability; that is, it can be mixed with chopped straw or other coarse hay and stock will eat this to get the molasses. It is also used to quite an extent with alfalfa meal.

Laying Tile in Quicksand

Reply to M. E. Barton, Mishawaka, Indiana: "Will you please give me a little information on laying tile on a farm that has a quicksand bottom, also a little advice on killing out smartweed?" This is quite a difficult proposition, and we believe the only way that results can be obtained is to use some durable timber and lay a board in the bottom of the ditch on which the tile can be laid to keep it from getting out of line. You would need a board about the same width as the tile, that is, for 4-inch tile a 1x4 board would be sufficient. At the points where the boards join, a short piece 12 or 14 inches long should be placed below so that there would not be a possibility of the tile becoming dislocated by one end of the board settling.

October Reminders

Arrange sheds and mows to feed shredded fodder to the stock—if you have never done so you will be pleased with results, especially with the fine lot of manure you have to spread. Hay stacks in meadows adjoining corn fields should be fenced now in order to give free range to our stock just as soon as the corn is husked. To dig post holes in frozen ground is not what we call a "snap." To furnish food for the world is an accomplishment worthy of great praise, but it is not our whole duty—remember that Tuesday, November 5, is election day. See that the seed corn which you have carefully selected and hung up or put on racks to dry is not subjected to freezing weather. Sudden weather changes may happen any time—we should guard against these. Pasturing alfalfa or clover too late is bad practice, to say the least. These crops, when cut or pastured close, are apt to be winter killed. Are you making a record and ordering the needed repairs for the various machines as they are stored for the winter?
