

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Born February 12, 1809. Died April 15, 1865.

Society.

Misses Katherine and Loraine King and Grace Aikire entertained at a six o'clock dinner Monday evening, Feb. 9, at Sunnybrook Farm. Covers were laid for ten. The evening was merrily spent in making candy and playing various games.

Sunday last, Feb. 8, Edna Markt gave an informal dinner party for the members of the B. G. C. club. Plates were laid for seven. The girls surely enjoyed themselves, as they spent the whole day in just eating and having a general good time.

Little Katherine Keeves was made especially happy, Saturday of last week, by the sudden and unexpected call from some fourteen of her little boy and girl friends, who came to bear her their kindly greetings, a little in advance of the real incident in her life—her birthday. She was nine years old Monday, the 9th inst., and they just surprised her on Saturday, and not on a school day. A delightful time was had, a nice luncheon was served, and they brought her many nice presents. It was a happy, joyous bunch.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Powell on Friday evening, Feb. 6, entertained Mr. Powell's Sunday school class, composed of the younger married ladies of the Presbyterian church, at the home of the class president, Mrs. George Lehmer. This class of women, being the only organized Sunday school class in our town, has thirty-six active members. The ladies, besides having an enjoyable chat, were entertained by answering a set of questions on the Bible and on the history of the Presbyterian church. Mrs. James Hinde in this contest won the trophy, a testament. During the events of the evening, Mrs. Harry Dungan and Mrs. James Hinde each rendered a solo. At a very late hour, after a delicious two-course luncheon had been served, the party ended. May this splendidly organized class of women be taken as a model in our Sunday schools.

The Woman's Union society was entertained on Tuesday evening, Feb. 10, by Mesdames Charley Zook, Claude King, C. E. Bunker, Charles Kooek, Charlene Dawson, Lillian Hasness, Ida Evans, Cora Burgess, Emma Philbrick and Miss Nell Graham. The society has a plan by which its entertainments are given by the women on a certain street, so this time it fell to those on Silk-Stocking street. Each woman had to act out some home duty that she disliked the most. Mrs. Alberta Kunkel was awarded the prize for the best acting—her dislike being to whip children. They next had to make a valentine and then write an appropriate piece of poetry. Mrs. Kate Thatcher won this prize. But the taking feature of the evening was a regular old-fashioned spelling match in which the women had the time of their lives and were surprised to find out that each other could spell. At a late hour a dainty luncheon was served.

On February 9, 1914, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Loucks, of Skidmore, Mo., celebrated their thirty-fifth wedding anniversary. This celebration was a surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Loucks. The first they knew about it was when Mark Loucks drove into their yard with his automobile piled high with children, ice cream freezers, cakes, heavily loaded baskets, and in fact everything that went to make the day a joyful and long-to-be remembered one. The other guests soon arrived, most of them carrying beautiful gifts of silver ware. There were twenty guests in all, although forty had been invited. Mesdames Fred Williams, Mark Loucks, Pete Loucks, all three, who had furnished the dinner, soon transformed themselves from being guests to be the hostesses. The dining room table was lengthened and covered with all of the good things found in those baskets and freezers. Mr. and Mrs. Loucks have four children—Mrs. Fred Williams and Mr. Mark Loucks, of Skidmore, Mr. Pete Loucks, of Maitland, and Mrs. Charley Jackson, of Hiawatha, Kas. Mrs. Jackson was not present at the celebration. This couple was married, near Maitland, and have always lived three miles north of Maitland until late in the fall they moved to Skidmore.

On Saturday afternoon, February 7, 1914, while Miss Maude Hoffman, a February bride, was seated at the table, busy writing recipes, a crowd of her many friends rushed in on her and gave her a complete surprise (although it was hard for Mr. Will Hurst not to whisper it to her, but he knew it was of no use, for women plans always work out all right). The shower consisted of linens, silver ware, cut glass, aluminum ware, granite ware, China, glass, tin and a lovely comfort.

Those present were: Mesdames John Oppenlander, Anna Weigel, J. C. Pianalp, J. C. Morris, Hannah Kramer, Lizzie Burns, Laura Hurst, G. M. Pollock, Ed Hornecker, H. E. Pollock, John Griffin, Charles Hornecker, Harry Kee. Misses Lora Pianalp, Emma and Bertha Oppenlander, Nellie Forney, Pearl Waegle, Nellie Breit, Ina McIntyre, Nettie and Maggie Morris, Mamie Griffin, Will Hurst. Those who could not be present, but remembered her with nice presents were: Mr. W. W. Spicer, Mesdames Wyck Greene, Earl Stephenson, Henry Hershner; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. King, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Reeves; Misses Mary and Emma Berres. Mr. Fred Hurst.

After light refreshments were served, and extending their congratulations to the February bride, all departed for their respective homes. X.

Presbyterian Church Notes.

Good crowds were in attendance at all the services last Sunday, notwithstanding the zero weather.

There were 60 at the Christian Endeavor meeting, and nearly all the members responded to the roll call. Miss Emma Scott gave a violin solo, "The Palms," accompanied by Miss Eleanor Kunkel on the piano, which was well rendered and much enjoyed. Miss Mary Shaw made a most acceptable leader.

Many visitors were present at the evening service. Miss West sang a solo, "Flee As a Bird," by Dana, Miss Williams playing her accompaniment. Miss West has a voice that is very clear and sweet and sang most beautifully, holding the most intense interest of her audience. Her tone and phrasing were perfect, and her song gave the greatest pleasure to all the audience.

Preaching next Sunday morning. There will be no night service, nor prayer meeting, on account of the meetings at the Evangelical church.

Mr. Frank Allen and family have moved to the Woodville neighborhood and will be missed very much in all the church interests. Mrs. Allen has been organist for the past nine years, and served in the same capacity four years, during previous residence here. She has been very faithful, never complaining and always efficient, and the sincere appreciation and thanks of the congregation are hereby expressed for her faithful service.

The Manse enjoyed a most delightful visit from Rev. and Mrs. T. D. Roberts, of New Point, who came in Tuesday and spent the day.

Evangelical Church Announcements.

There will be no preaching at Nickell's Grove, next Sunday.

The revival meetings in town are still growing in interest. Two young men came to the altar Sunday night, and God's convicting power is increasing.

Brother Johnson, who is preaching for us, will preach Saturday night and Sunday morning and night. There will be services Sunday at 3 o'clock p. m. The services delivered each evening seem to become more and more interesting and inspiring.

Mrs. Dwight Meyer will sing Sunday morning and the male quartette will sing at night.

Come and attend these services with us.

G. W. WEIDEMIER, PASTOR.

Forest City M. E. Church Notes.

The chilly day kept some away from Sunday school, Sunday, but there was a fair number present, nevertheless.

The regular preaching services were held Sunday at 11:00 a. m., and at 7:30 p. m.

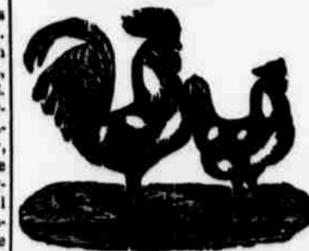

There will be no preaching service at the church Sunday, as it is the regular day to go to the Kimsey appointment.

The Woman's Missionary Society will meet at the home of Mrs. T. E. Teare next Friday afternoon; they invite all members and others who are interested to meet with them.
