CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS AS WARRIORS

Disciples of Mrs. Eddy Have Efficient War Organization and Work For Victory with All Their Might

(By James Arthur Seavey, in the New York Times.)

"Onward, Christian Soldiers!" Why, bless your heart, they've been "onward" for months, and, in the last few weeks, they've been going onward "over there" by squads, and companies and regiments. They are the vanguard of the army of Christian Scientists who are going to help Pershing make the world safe for democracy. And, as every good American soldier is without reproach, so these Christian Science soldiers are without fear. For every one of them knows and proclaims as truth—practical, undodgeable, hard-crabbable truth—the words of the 91st Psalm:

Thou shalt not be afraid for the terror by night; for the arrow that flieth by day; Nor for the pestilence that walketh in darkness; nor for the destruction that wasteth at noon-day.

A thousand shall fall at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hand; but it shall not come nigh thee.

When the national bonnet was tossed into the ring, the Christian Scientists went in after it. They hustled into their fighting clothes, and they're never going to shed them until the Scienceless and Godless and Gott-invoking German emperor sees his hosts of darkness broken and vanquished by the battalions of light. Not even Henry Ford is more determined to "carry on" until the Allies have won this war than are the Christian Scientists. Their great organization is on a war basis and their war work is going on in every training camp in this country and in the camps, the trenching, and the hospitals of Flanders and of France.

The World Knows Not.

But the world knows practically nothing about Christian Science warriors and the war work of the organization. Everybody knows what the Red Cross and the Y. M. C. A. and the Knights of Columbus and other organizations are doing, but the Scientists have been working as the coral insects work, and the reef of their labor has received little notice. One reason for this probably may be found in the fact that they ask no financial assistance outside of their own membership. While there may be individuals in other religious denominations much wealthier than any individual member of the Christian Science denomination, there probably is no denomination, in proportion to its size, which has the aggregate wealth of this one. And this is as it should be, if there is merit in their metaphysics, for do they not declare that they were made in the image and likeness of God, that He is all in all, that He is Truth and Love, an Infinite Supply Station from which pour out all good things to those who keep His laws? In other words:

"Seek ye first the Kingdom of God, and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you."

And this is the principle they apply in raising funds for war work. After the United States declared war on Germany the Mother Church in Boston, on Nov. 17, sent notices to the three largest churches in each state that, if a conference of churches and societies in that state were called, a representative of the Board of Directors of the Boston organization would submit a plan for carrying on camp welfare work among the Christian Scientists in the army and navy camps in this country and in Europe. Less than a month later the first war welfare work of American Christian Scientists started at Camp Devens, at Ayer, Mass.

Are in the Camps.

Today, in the 30 or 40 camps and cantonments in the United States, there are 63 Christian Science camp workers, 15 welfare room attendants, with 45 automobiles, and hundreds of others, as members of local and state camp welfare committees, are working to give all the aid and comfort possible to the men who have been called to the colors. There are plenty of persons who take no stock in the theory and practice of Christian Science, and it is not the purpose of this article to enter into any discussion of Christian Science as a religious dogma. But when one examines the machinery of their organization, observes the smoothness and celerity with which it works, and sees the capacity for infinite detail, it must be admitted that, when the Christian Science organization has anything to do, it makes a good job of it, without any fuss, feathers, or horn tooting.

The Board of Directors realized that, to do the war work needed to be done, a very stable special fund
