FISHERMAN TELLS THIS ONE

Giant Sturgeon Tows Austrian to Camp and is Later Served to Crew of Hungry Men.

Lashing a 100-pound sturgeon to a raft, when he found the fish too heavy to carry, forcing the big member of the finny tribe to haul him into camp where later the sturgeon was served up to a crew of hungry men, is the latest fish story that has reached Boise. It was brought to Boise, Idaho, by Frank Maxwell, an engineer of the forest service with headquarters in Boise.

A large crew of men is stationed at the Ox Bow tunnel, on the Snake river, between Idaho and Oregon. A rancher named McPherson notified the foreman in charge of the camp that if he would send some of his men up he would give them a fish. Thinking that one man could manage a single fish without trouble, the foreman sent one of his Austrian laborers after it.
When he arrived at the McPherson ranch, however, the Austrian found the sturgeon.

As the fish was still alive the Austrian built a raft from logs, leaving an opening in the middle for the fish to swim, and then lashed the sturgeon securely to the raft. Pushing the craft from the shore he allowed the fish to propel him into camp, several miles below. A fish menu was served at the camp that night.

Quinine in India.
"It is estimated that one-sixth of the world's supply of quinine is used in India," said a well known Chicago doctor at the Hotel Safford.

"Java now gives the world more quinine than any other country. At one time India tried to lead the world in the supply of quinine, and if that country should at present take steps to extend the culture of cinchona it may not only protect its own interest, but perform a world-wide service."

ADVERTISE YOUR SOCIETY.
We would like to see every lodge and society in Kansas City put their cards in The Sun. It is the most popular way to let the world know who you are, when and where you meet and your object and purpose. For the next month we will make special announcements to have you put in your lodge or society list of officers in this paper.

WORTH WHILE.
Don't ask, "Has the world been true to me?"
But have I to the world been true?
'Tis not what you get, but what you give.
That makes life worth while to you.
'Tis the kind word said to the little child,
As you wiped its tears away;
The smile you brought to a care-worn face
That really lights up your day.
'Tis the hand you clasp with honest grasp
That gives a hearty thrill;
'Tis the good you pour into other lives That comes back your own to fill.
'Tis the dress you drain from another's cup
That makes your own seem sweet,
And the hours you give your fellow-men
That makes your own life complete.
'Tis the burdens you help another bear
That makes your own seem light;
'Tis the dangers seen for another's feet
That shows your path to right;
'Tis the good you do each passing day With a heart sincere and true-- By giving the world your very best,
Its best will return to you.
