EDITORIALS.

The resignation of Miss Ida Overall as teacher in Lincoln school will take effect next week. The vacancy has not as yet been filled.

People of moderate means should not only shop early but should shop sensibly. Folly, not sentiment, marks the gift that is not well afforded.

Christmas comes but once a year but the excesses practiced by some people in giving, dressing and entertaining often brings effects which last every day of the year. Let us avoid foolish extremes.

Those automobile drivers who continue to "show off" in their employers' cars are not only jeopardizing their own jobs but are making it hard upon Negroes employed in all other remunerative lines.

Young people instead of exchanging extravagant gifts with each other should remember the poor old mother and father who are another Christmas-day may be beyond the pale of earthly consideration.

The civil service examination for the position of assistant superintendent of the old city hospital, to be held the last week in this month, looks like an opportunity for another young Negro physician.

It is reported that some of the women of the "cut glass set" are stiffening up their noses in order to snub as many people as possible during the Christmas formal affairs. Perhaps you've noticed that the snubber is sometimes much worse than the snubbed.

Our local poet, Mr. Chas. A. Starks, has been induced to publish one of his best poems entitled "The First Christmas." The poem is now out on a splendid card 11x14, beautifully illustrated by R. J. Rice, with appropriate Christmas and water colors. This is the first poem that the young author has allowed to be published outside of the Sun. Every one should have one of these cards. They sell for 25 cents a piece. Aside from "The League Enterprise" the cards will be sold through the churches and sent by mail to any place in the United States.

The retirement of Miss Ida Overall from active duties in the school room after a service of nearly thirty-five years marks the close of a public service of unusual fidelity. Miss Overall has always carried the record of a high class teacher, and her long presence at Lincoln school has greatly influenced its substantial tone and policy. She is a woman of supreme dignity and congeniality, possessing naturally cultivated tastes and refined ideals. We hope that her retirement from the school room will only open to her a wider scope of influence among the women of the community and that many years of happiness are yet in store for her.

NOT EXPLAINED.

The Club Bulletin issued in the interest of colored women's clubs contains a notice of several people who are to act as captains in a ticket selling venture for an oratorical contest to take place soon at Allen chapel. Among other names was mentioned "Mrs." C. A. Starks. Since the writer is in possession of official notice that such captaincy has been conferred upon him he judges that he is the person spoken of in the Fair Bulletin as "Mrs." C. A. Starks. Is this a typographical error or a cunning hint that some one should forsake the glorious "bachelor life"? The Federation of Women's Clubs may number many ardent suffragets in their ranks who have peculiar notions about "their rights," but we object to being put in that class, at least without our consent. Until further notice we beg to sign ourselves just plain C. A. STARKS.

A LITTLE BIT HUMOROUS

Diplomatic.
College Professor—You've asked permission to go buggy riding with this young man; you know the rules of the college. Is he a relative?
Giri Student—No, sir.
College Professor—Are you engaged to him?
Giri Student—No, sir; but I expect to be before we get back.

Still When They Lose.
Church—I see crowds in motion on grand stands and similar structures exert a strain equal to about one hundred and seventy-five per cent of their weight.
Gotham—That refers to the times when the home team is winning, I guess.

Delicate Distinction.
Silas—Well, Hez, you laugh at eugenics, but truly would you like to marry a delicate girl?
Hez—I would much prefer her to an indelicate one.

Unhealthy Atmosphere.
Visitor—it appears that you have quite a schlem in your church.
Deacon—Yes, and I can't understand it. The janitor aired the building all day Saturday.

Saucy.
Miss Sally—Do you admire Botticelli, Mr. Hobbs?
Mr. Hobbs—A trifle too strong, Miss Sally; Worcestershire is more to my taste.

Good for Centipedes.
She—I read that a London professor asserts that at an altitude of 6,000 feet corse corse from troubling.
He—Yes, but nobody ever has 6,000 feet.

A PLEASURE.

"Are you fond of travels?"
"Yes, indeed. It is so much more pleasant to select your own postcards than to stay at home and let your friends send you what they like."

Foiled.
He stooped above the maiden.
Her lips all tempting pured;
She screamed: "Your lips are laden
With microbes—Safety First!"

None Whatever.
"Pa, doesn't precipitation mean the same as settling?"
"It does in chemistry, my son; but in business you'll find that many persons in settling don't show any precipitation at all."—Boston Evening Transcript.

Catty.
Nell—Miss Prim was in a very scornful mood. When she spoke, she curled her lips.
Belle—Well, that is more than she can do with her hair.

Placing the Blame.
Seriocomic Singing—Yew made meh wut I am tew day.
Voice From the Audience—I don't know who you're referring to, but whoever it was has got a lot to answer for.

Fooling the Cook.
"Why do you quarrel with your husband so these days? Have you ceased to love him?"
"No; but the cook enjoys it. She lingers with us hoping to see a fight."

Didn't Like That Kind.
Elsie—We had shortcake for supper at our home last night.
Bobby—We had short cake too—it was too short to go round, so I didn't get any.—Boston Transcript.

A Congenial One.
"Does Miss Mazie ever make a move at the club meetings?"
"Oh, yes; she's always the first one to make a move toward the refreshment room."

An Investigator.
The young man in the bureau of information laid the railroad guide down and looked reproachfully at the woman who had turned in a volley of questions.
"Madam," he said, "you can't possibly take all those trains you are asking about."
"I know it," she replied, serenely; "but as long as I didn't have anything else to do I thought I'd just see for myself how much you railroad men really know about your business."
