Among the Churches

ALLEN CHAPEL. Services at Allen were largely attended last Sunday, many visitors being present. Dr. Thomas delivered a most impressive sermon in the morning, eleven persons joining the church. The music was of a high order. At night Rev. J. P. Howard, the evangelist, conducted the services, preached a soul-stirring sermon, and received seven into the church. Remember February 7 is Go-to-church Sunday. We had 2,000 present last year. We want to surpass that this year.

VINE STREET BAPTIST CHURCH. Brother and Sister Thos. Pollard have been on the sick list but are improving. Sister Samuel Graham and Mrs. John Reed entertained the Holiday Club during the holidays. Covers were laid for fourteen and a good time was had by all. Sunday was a big day in our Sunday school. Many of the classes contended for the banner, but were unsuccessful. Class No. 5 was king, collecting $2.00. Brother E. J. Hines is the teacher. The total collection was $9.35. The attendance last Sunday was good. Two additions were made to the church.

ST. LUKE'S A. M. E. CHURCH. A reception, complimentary to the elder members of St. Luke A. M. E. Church at Forty-third and West. E. Church was given January 1. Rev. E. E. Treadville, pastor, conducted the affair with due credit to himself and members. Rev. E. R. Vaughan, the dean of theology at Western University, was speaker for the evening. His address was logical, inspiring and well prepared. It was delivered to a large and appreciative audience. A two-course luncheon was served. The A. M. E. Church is making rapid progress under the leadership of Rev. E. E. Treadville. He has a splendid corps of officers. Mr. Lloyd Wise is superintendent of the Sunday school.

SECOND BAPTIST CHURCH. The New Year's services were very impressive. In response to the pastor, Dr. Bacote's, touching appeal, eleven souls were added to the church. The sermon delivered by Dr. Jacobs Sunday morning on "Power With God and Man," was timely, owing to the race's political situation. Mrs. Myrtle Todd deserves much credit for having organized the Leisure Hour Club which meets every Tuesday night. The Woman's Mission Circle will resume its regular meetings every Friday night. Mrs. Ida M. Beck, the reader, will give a recital Thursday, January 7. A large attendance is anticipated.

CENTENNIAL M. E. CHURCH. The ladies realized over $90.00 from the annual bazaar. The first prize, a handsome cut glass vase was won by Mrs. Emma W. Ray, whose votes netted $40.65, thus winning the honor of Queen by a big majority. The second prize, a silver salad tray was won by Miss Ethel Crawford, whose votes amounted to $17.90.

The Epworth League entertained for Brother and Sister Wilson of 1914 Woodland, New Year's day. The occasion being the fifty-first anniversary of this aged couple, and many substantial gifts were made by friends. Brother Wilson is a paralytic and has been confined to his home for some time. The services at Centennial Christmas week were unusually large and ended with watch meeting night, when sixteen additions were made to the church, of which seven were conversions.

Mrs. Mayberry of the spiritual department of the League is planning another week of visitation and prayer.
