markable. Rev. Holmes, the pastor, was at Des Moines, Ia., Sunday and preached.

Clay Jackson was born in Parsons, Kans., June 12, 1896, and met his death July 9 while swimming at 11th and Washington boulevard, at 12:30, age 21 years, 27 days. He united with the A. M. E. Church at the age of 17 and lived a consistent Christian to the end. It seems as though his mother had a premonition of his death. She told her neighbor, Mrs. Jackson, that she felt that something was going to happen to her son. He leaves to mourn his loss a mother, stepfather, three aunts, lots of relatives and a host of friends to mourn his loss. But their loss is Heaven's gain, as the wise Grecians have said, "No man or woman is happy until they are dead." So after life's journey he sleeps well. To the bereaved parents I will say you have lost a kind, loving and faithful son. To the friends a great young man from you is gone. He was full of sympathy. His heart and hands always went out to do good; his parents stood firmly together all through life. He is highly respected by all who knew him. So let his sleep, our sorrow, clustering around his head. Be comforted, ye loved ones who weep. He lives with God; he is not dead.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION.
Those who attend the Fourteenth Annual Session of the National Association of Teachers in Colored Schools at New Orleans, La., July 25-29, will have an opportunity to come into direct contact with valuable historic data as well as an opportunity to see three of the leading educational institutions for Negroes in the South. It was here at New Orleans that the transfer of the Louisiana Province was made to the United States in 1803. The room is still preserved and the spot on which and the table around which the agreement was made can be seen by visitors. The spot on which the Battle of New Orleans was fought by Jackson, in which the Negroes took such an important part, is of interest to visitors from all sections of the country. The old French Market still has its attractions.

The three institutions for the education of the Negroes of the South are Straight University, which is fostered by the American Missionary Association; the New Orleans University, under the direction of the Freedman's Aid Society, and Xavier College, under the auspices of the Catholic Church, which occupies the position and in other respects the place of the former Southern University which has been removed to Baton Rouge. Leland University, which for many years was under the direction of the American Baptist Home Missionary Society and the site of which will be of interest, has been recently removed to Alexandria. This school has also figured greatly in the educational history of Louisiana.

As to the attendance at the session to be held here, reports come to us that the Mississippi State Teachers' Association which held its meeting last week, voted to come in two special car parties. Texas will also have its special car from Houston, while Alabama will bring its delegation forming special car parties at Birmingham and Montgomery.

The graduating exercises of the Corinthian Class of the Second Christian Church Bible School will be held at the Church Thursday night, August 2. An excellent program will be rendered, under the direction of Mr. D. N. West, Superintendent.

THE BIG OUTING given by the Metropolitan Street Railroad to its Colored employees all day and until 12:00 o'clock Wednesday night at beautiful Lincoln Electric Park was one of the most enjoyable affairs ever given at this distinctively race resort.

The splendid conduct of those in attendance, the hilarity, mirth and good time indulged in by all made it a unique occasion and many were the encomiums showered upon the management of the Metropolitan Street Railway Co. for its thoughtfulness and generosity in entertaining its employees. The Company not only furnished free transportation for its employees and their families during the day but paid all the admission to the Park, furnished each individual with a silk badge, distributed three barrels of lemonade, a thousand packages of pop corn and more than a hundred gallons of ice cream as well as staged a number of races, swimming contests and other forms of amusement that created much merriment.

One of the representatives of the Company who has attended all the outings given to the white employees said this was the best conducted, most orderly and most enjoyable affair the Company had ever given. The Colored people are loud in their praises of the Metropolitan.
