THE FEDERATION OF THE COLORED CHRISTIAN CHURCHES OF GREATER KANSAS CITY.

To the Colored Brotherhood:
 This is to call your attention to the meeting of the Inter-National Christian Missionary Convention in Kansas City, Mo., October 24-31, 1917. Also call your attention to the great need of a national meeting of Negroes of the church.
 We consider we have in the meeting of the Inter-National Convention of Brotherhood here this fall, a great opportunity for a wise and helpful meeting in all respects for the Negro Christian Brotherhood.
 The three Colored Christian Churches of Greater Kansas City, their friends and sister churches join in cordially inviting the Brotherhood to Kansas City, and will make you welcome.

Kansas City is in the territory of the disciples of Christ and is one of their strongholds, and the central states of the Mississippi Valley hold a big population of the Brotherhood of both races.
 Kansas City can be easily reached by railroads from all sections of the country.
 To the convention there will be special rates on all railroads to Kansas City.
 We can meet on this occasion in Kansas City much cheaper in all respects than any other city.
 We can witness the great Inter-National Convention and be in the atmosphere of one of the greatest religious missionary bodies in the world.
 A part of the sessions will be held in the Second Christian Church, Twenty-fourth and Woodland Ave. The program of these sessions will be National in scope and nature. Some of our greatest preachers, speakers and workers of both races have accepted places on the program.
 The program will consist largely of symposium, conferences and round table talks respecting our local, state and National Missionary Educational work.
 The evening addresses will be made by men and women of the church of National reputation as convention and platform speakers.
 Representatives and Secretaries of the National Missionary Boards, and our National Field Workers have promised to be on hand and take part in the program.
 We claim the race has much in Kansas City, of which to be proud, and that you will enjoy. It will be well worth your time and money to spend a few days in Kansas City, especially on such a mission.
 So, all in all, this will be a great meeting for you to attend, and we urge our ministers and faithful workers throughout the country to come.
 The Federation of Colored Christian Churches of Greater Kansas City,
 G. A. TERRY, President,
 J. D. SMITH, Treasurer,
 WILLIAM ALPHIN,
 Cor. Sec'y,
 2418 Woodland Ave.

Betty & Sam's Little Corner

THEY SAY

—That hog meat ain't hog meat dese days, b'leve me.
 —That its no use lamenting that money you spent for gasoline last summer. Its gone, so get busy.
 —That a number of "big to do's" have united with the Holy Ghost Church, 17th and Highland. Well.
 —That any time you think a woman won't tell somebody all she knows then you have another think coming.
 —That there are a whole lot of pie eaters on the city payroll who will be looking for a job after next April. Selah?
 —That in spite of the high prices of food, fuel, clothing and so forth, the Colored people trust GoD and keep on smiling.
 —That the Negro who does not buy a Liberty Bond ought to be ashamed to look the rest of the race in the face after this campaign.
 —That Kansas City Negroes are beginning to develop a jealous, contrary disposition which doesn't augur well for future success in public undertakings.
 —That four well known young ladies, to beat the high price of coal, have decided to room together. They are all going to sleep in one bed, and they won't have any fear of catching cold.

HE FORGOT ETHICS

But the Doctor Understood Boys, Which Was More Important.
 His Talk of the Old Fishing Hole and the Summer Camping Trip Succeeded Where Medicine Failed.
 The doctor walked slowly upstairs. The little boy's illness was not yielding to treatment as he would have wished. He had been doing all that medicine would do for the boy, but the delay in calling him had given the sickness such a start that he had made little progress in checking it. So he went upstairs with a heavy heart. Jimmie smiled as the young doctor came into his room. Jimmie was the smiling kind, though he had found it hard to be cheerful.
 The doctor had many other calls to make, and he left soon with the promise to call again that night. When he came again the little patient was worse, though he probably did not realize it. The doctor took his pulse and his temperature and asked the usual questions of his mother. Then he did a highly unethical thing. But he understood boys and especially the one before him.
 "Jimmie," he said, "you and I are going to fight hard to get you well, but we are going to get you well." The boy smiled; the doctor had touched the right chord. "Nobody but you and I can do it. Mother can't help you; neither can sister or brother or father. I am going to come to see you twice a day. We have got to get you in good shape so that you will be all ready to go camping this summer with the rest of the boys."
 "You remember that little redeye hole down by those willows where I stopped to watch you fish when I came by in the automobile? Well, I drove past there last week and it looks to me like it is going to be better than ever. A big log has floated down there and you can sit on it in the shade of the willows and never get a bit hot, even in July. But before you go fishing you will have to get well. I think we can have you out of bed in two weeks."
 The little chap in the bed looked hard at the doctor. He was only ten years old, and it is hard for ten-year-old boys to lie in bed. He had seen the doctor swim across a wide, swift river, he knew the doctor could lift him with two fingers; he knew the doctor liked little boys and liked to help them all he could. In his boy mind the doctor was a hero. "Yes, sir (the boy was speaking), if you say we have to fight, I'll do just what you say. It is hard not to get to play after school (a tear rolled down and lost itself in the sheet near the boy's ear), but I can put my clothes on, can't I?" The doctor nodded, and, forgetting about medicine, plunged into another story of next summer. He talked for almost an hour to the boy. Which was also not exactly ethical. But when he rose to go he noticed a new light in the young eyes.
 "I think we will have Jimmie out playing in about two weeks," he said to the anxious mother. And as he threw his hat into "high," a listener might have heard him humming softly as was his habit when his heart was not heavy.—Indianapolis News.
