PROCLAIM BAN ON CIGARETTE
Coterie of Indianapolis Women Think They Have Good Reason for Joining Crusade Against It.

That the cigarette must be eliminated is the firm conviction of a large number of women in the northern part of the city, not only because they believe it is injurious in itself, but also in view of the fact that it is interfering with certain phases of war work and is proving a disturbing factor in social affairs. It is recognized that the problem is a big one, and it may be that the first activity may be anatomical and directed at "places" over which parents have undisputed jurisdiction.

This movement was determined on the other afternoon when a North side matron invited in a few friends and neighbors to knit, sew or darn as they wished, to hear some music and drink a cup of tea. Some of the guests permitted their little boys to go over to Mrs. McPherson's to play while the mammas were gone. When the Hooverized function was well under way there was a knock at the door and Master McPherson inquired whether "Miss" Gregg was there.

"Better come over to our house and get Jack, for he's awful sick," was his announcement. Mrs. Gregg seized her wraps and made a bee line to rescue Jack. A little later she returned to the party and responded to anxious inquiries with a smile, saying: "He's better now, and I don't think it's serious."

There was another violin number, and Mrs. Redough had just poured a few cups of tea, when the telephone rang. The hostess answered the call and then paged Mrs. Wrong.

It was Mrs. McPherson herself. "Your little boy's here, and he's quite ill. He's perfectly rigid, and I'm frightened," she said.

Mrs. Wrong also dashed forth to give succor to her offspring. She, too, returned after a while, and seemed rather put out. She forestalled the impending questions by announcing: "Cigarettes! I'll finish the treatment later."

Mrs. Wagoner had just finished re-heating a sock and the function was about to close when the telephone rang again, and Mrs. Redough was summoned. It was her husband. "Now don't you tell me that you have been smoking cigarettes and are sick," she almost shouted.

"No, no, dearie. Don't get excited. I am all right," he assured her. "I don't want to break up the party, but if you wish to go to the show, you'd better be getting down here."—Indianapolis News.

Gloomy Russian Writers.
According to Charles Gray Shaw in the North American Review, Russian fiction is not gloomy so much because it represents actual Russian conditions, but because Russian writers are by nature gloomy. At least that he believes to be true of Dostoevsky, the subject of his article, for he says: "It is a terrible thing to fall into the hands of the living God, but that is what happened to Fyodor Dostoevsky. It was not Russia, vast, fantastic, terrible, but real existence as such which wrung from his soul his tales of self-inquisition. 'Reality has caught me upon a book,' this chance expression in one of his romances of reality is the confessed secret of the anguished author. Dostoevsky is Russia, and 'the Russian soul is a dark place.' Having said this of his own land, Dostoevsky, without playing upon Amiel's pretty epigram, 'the landscape is a state of the soul,' proceeds to show us how the outer darkness pervades his own soul. He knows not why, but at dusk there comes over him an oppressive and agonizing state of mind difficult to define, but recognizable in the form of 'mystical terror.'"

These Ships Laid Up.
"A Dutch East Indian cannot help smiling when he finds her expressed that the German and Austrian ships in East Indian harbors might run out to sea as raiders," said a Hollander who is in New York on business. "Forty steamships fled into our harbors. In the Emma harbor and the Queen's Bay at Panang are lying the Van Kliest and Rhineland of the North German Lloyd, the Nivine of the Hamburg-American line and the Orsowa, an Austrian boat from Fiume. "These ships will require no more watching because of the luxuriant growth of shell and coral. The steamships must now be covered with a layer of coral and shell from thirty to forty inches thick. About two years ago attempts were made to move the Von Kliest, but no greater speed than five knots could be got out of her, although the ship originally had a speed of twenty knots."—New York Sun.

Donate Sponges to Red Cross.
The Greek-American sponge fishermen at Tarpon Springs, Fla., have made one of the most unique gifts that the American Red Cross has yet received. Each fishing captain, as his boat unloaded, contributed a bunch of sponges to the lot being gathered for the Red Cross. The sponges were sold for $598 at public auction on the Sponges exchange, the only public square sponge market in the United States. The money was sent to the Red Cross.

City and Village Delinquents.
Recently the Journal of Delinquency declared that in one state the villages rather than the cities furnished a larger proportionate share of delinquents.

RED CROSS CHAPTER.
Many persons not residing near, do not know and many passing have wondered what kind of a school, home or institution has been occupying the beautiful corner of Masonic Temple at 18th and Woodland, therefore the ladies have chosen this way of introduction to those persons.

Our ladies, under the leadership of Mrs. T. G. McCampbell, realizing that in this great war of Democracy that the Colored race has the greatest part to play as they expect to reap great things when peace shall have been declared. Therefore relatives, friends, and race lovers saw fit to form a Red Cross Auxiliary, for which we have since received a Charter and are now numbered among the many Red Cross Chapters of the United States.

The way has always been clear in this organization as we all know that the price of coal and other things were at the top most prices, but through the kind assistance of our good friends and race lovers so many that space would not permit us to name, we have existed through the winter months, but we would not feel appreciative if we did not especially mention our kind Masonic Fraternity, who has given us the use of the store room free of charge, also Prof. Lee, who allowed the Finance Committee to take collection at the Community Meeting. We hope to prove to those kind gentlemen and others that their kindness, although thrown to the winds, may cause some lonely boy in

JUDGE MILES BULGER,
Presiding Judge of the Jackson County Court.

It is announced that Judge Miles Bulger, the popular and aggressive Presiding Judge of the County Court, will be a candidate for re-election to his present position. And The Sun, though a Republican paper in politics, has no hesitancy nor makes no apologies in announcing that it stands unequivocally for the popular Judge for this position and sincerely believes that in a spirit of gratitude for the many splendid things Judge Bulger has done for the race in this county during his term of office, that a large majority of the Negro voters will enthusiastically assist in returning him to this position. Never in the history of Jackson County has such just and fair consideration been given Negro unfortunates as has been given under the administration of the present admirable Co. Court. And regardless of political affiliations The Sun fully believes that if Judge Bulger is renominated by his party he will poll the greatest vote ever given by a race of people (nine-tenths of whom are Republicans in politics) but who believe in demonstrating in a substantial way when the opportunity presents itself their loyalty to those in authority who treat our race justly and fairly. The Sun is unreservedly for Judge Miles Bulger, and his associates on the County Court Bench.

The Trenches or Hospital to be happy. These Headquarters depend wholly upon the Finance Committee for their financial support, therefore, this committee, composed of twenty-five Kansas City ambitious ladies have to keep busy to keep the Chapter from dying. The general Chairman would be pleased to have anyone visit our headquarters and inspect the work and see just what our ladies are doing to help win this war of Democracy.

There are more than 50 ladies who are giving their time to sew for the war suffering babes and invalids. The Chairman would also be pleased to have any lady young or old to help knit or sew. We need all of those who are able to assist us. We would also appreciate donations from anyone to do so. The Finance Committee will have a Military Benefit Tuesday night, May 21, 1918 at Lyric Hall. Admission 25c. We will be very pleased to see all the good people of Kansas City. We heartily beg your support. Again thanking you that have helped us and you and expecting to see you at the Military Benefit.

Mrs. T. G. McCampbell, Gen. Chair.
Mrs. Louise Winn, Chairman Finance Committee.
Mrs. Lillian Moore, Secy.

CARD OF THANKS.
We wish to thank our friends, neighbors and lodges for their beautiful offerings and kindness and sympathy shown us during the illness and death of our beloved wife, sister and daughter, Ellora Brown.

Agents Wanted To Sell - Memorial Edition
BOOKER T. WASHINGTON
THE MASTER MIND OF A CHILD OF SLAVERY

An appealing, picturesque romance of real life. A story of achievement almost rivaling in interest the tales of those famed heroes of ancient Rome and Greece who were supposed to be imbued with powers beyond those of mortal men.

A book full of human interest, recounting the life history of the man who rose from plantation babe to leading educator, author and industrial advocate. An inspiration in every line, and the story of a life-work which offers an example for every boy and youth in the land.

The life story of a man who was a most remarkable product of modern civilization in all its phases. The twentieth century Moses of the colored race who led his people out of the wilderness of ignorance, superstition and intolerance and pointed the way to knowledge, industry and prosperity for all who would follow him.

Our Memorial Edition of the Life of Booker T. Washington includes a full description of the Tuskegee Institute, the great educational institution that stands as a monument to the energy, earnestness, intelligence and honesty of this great man and won for him the respect of all men in all walks of life and from every station.

Every man, woman and child will read it, irrespective of race or creed. The book is a large octavo volume of 250 pages, including superb, strikingly impressive engravings. Size 8 1/2 x 6 1/4 inches.
