Betty & Sam's Little Corner

THEY SAY

—That Matrimony is sometimes the first step to Alimony.

—That children are little fairies, have you any little fairies in your home?

—That good resolutions fade away when temptation is constantly set before you.

—That too many wives are learning how to shoot—and using their husbands as targets—Poor Hubbys.

—That the compliments received by the Sun staff on the last week's issue would turn the head of even an old timer.

—That ladies' stockings on account of the high cost of material are no longer than socks now. Have you noticed it, brother?

—That the girl who can't stay single long enough to complete her education usually can't stay married long enough to acquire a home.—How's that, girls?

—That a minister last Sunday said, "I would rather see the women going about nude than to see them dressed as they do today." We'll say, he would—Amen.

—That those who do not ask for what they want and need seldom get it. Then why not begin agitation now for a new Commodore up-to-date High School for Negro youth, in this city?

—That J. A. Wilson of 1419 W. 9th St., is not only one of the finest lawyers in Greater Kansas City, but one of the ripest scholars and most entertaining and forceful writers of the race today.

WHAT'S THE ANSWER? Dr. A. Wilberforce Williams, of Chicago, just returned from France, remarked in an address at a banquet given in his honor at the Royal Gardens, Chicago: "France has great need for thousands of our young men of training and ability. I do not advise all to go, but many of you should go, and there you will not be hampered in the rise to success." And he continued: "There are also, hundreds of opportunities in South America and Mexico. I expect to shape up my business and go to South America."

A VALIANT KNIGHT. Last Saturday morning promptly at 10 o'clock the remains of another valiant Knight of the Gospel was borne into Albin Chapel followed by his relatives and ministerial brethren of the Missouri and Kansas Conferences and members of the Masonic Fraternity. The large congregation of resident and out-of-town friends was a silent but complimentary expression of their respect for the late Rev. Alexander Albert Gilbert. The opening hymn, the prayer, the Scripture lessons, the obituary by Dr. Wm. H. Thomas, the introductory remarks by Rev. Sage in presenting Rev. Brooks of Hannibal, Mo., with his brief and touching sermon from Hebrews 11:16, "They desire a Better Country." All clearly emphasized the chivalry of the valiant Knight who knew how to strike against all that was low and mean as well as to give tender care to the suffering and oppressed. And the remarks by Reverends Terrell, Osborne Davis and President F. Jesse Peck, and the telegrams and condolences read by Rev. S. L. Brooks from Bishop Parks, ministers and friends—all proved how the love of the deceased for humanity in general was but the outside setting of a deeper love for his chosen friends. After the benediction by Rev. Dawson the funeral procession started for the cemetery where brief services were conducted by Dr. Barisdale and the Masonic brethren. Then bereaved relatives, ministers and friends turned from the grave of a valiant knight with a sense of supreme loss sinking deeper into their hearts. May he rest in peace.

"BUILD YE MORE"— "Build Ye More Stately Mansions, O My Soul." These are days of genuine construction for our group. In the midst of the world's greatest period of unrest, the Negroes of America are "forgetting those things which are behind" and are building everywhere materially with the highest spiritual sense of duty and responsibility. The Pythian Temple in New Orleans, the St. Luke's Building in Richmond, the Poro College in St. Louis, the White Law Apartment Hotel, Washington; the Brown and Stevens Dunbar Theater, Philadelphia; more than one dozen magnificent Y. M. C. A. buildings in various cities; hundreds of fine churches; hundreds of excellent smaller business blocks and thousands of modern beautiful homes, equipped to the last word in luxury, sanitation and comfort, these are the beacon lights of a new day and a new era. St. Louis with a great Department Store; Atlanta with a $500,000 hotel; Chicago with a million dollar Pythian building and wonderful prospective investments and constructive plans reported from every section of the country, involving amounts from $5,000 to more than $1,000,000, give forcible and impressive answer to the question: Are We Downhearted?
