CRITICISM.

(The Monitor, Omaha, Neb.)
Criticism is of two kinds, destructive and constructive. Destructive criticism is malicious and has as its sole object the tearing down of individuals, institutions, enterprises, business or other. It proceeds from the ignorant however, learned they may think themselves to be; the superficial, the shallow-pated or the envious and jealous. Constructive criticism is friendly and has as its object the improvement of the individual, institution or enterprise which it criticizes. Its aim is to build up, not to tear down or destroy. It proceeds from the intelligent, who may not be learned in the lore of books, but in the hard and instructive school of experience; the thoughtful, the broadminded, the sympathetic and progressive. Constructive criticism is honest. Destructive criticism is easily detected because it is unjust and untrue.

Norfolk, Va.—The revival conducted takes, necessarily so, and will make by Rev. S. Douglass McInulty at our church during three weeks of February was blessed by the conversion of more than ninety souls and seventy accessions to the church.

He came without any extensive advertising, but after a few nights there were great crowds attending and later on standing room was at a premium.

During the last nights of his stay there was from 1,800 to 2,000 people in our church and many turned away. He is a wonderful magnetic personality and fearless preacher of the truth. His plain statement of facts and illustrations by human figures fixed the truth upon the minds of all his hearers from the youngest to the oldest and from the most unlearned to the most scholarly.

He is enthusiastic but devoid of the vulgar and foolish and exacts from his hearers the utmost respect and reverence for the house of God.

He is all action from start to finish and is certainly a hard worker. He is a singer of signal ability and uses the oldest as well as the newest hymns. His song service is great and much use is made of prayer in his meetings.

He plays the piano with telling effect and does not allow his singing or meeting to drag. There is not a dull moment during the whole service. Every eye must be kept on him as there is no telling what he will do next; and so one is held spell-bound from start to finish.

Our church and our city has been greatly benefitted by his coming to us and but for his engagements in New Haven, Conn., would have held him longer.

The revival is the talk of the town and all Norfolk, will be glad to welcome him.

come his return.

Supt. St. John's A. M. E. Sunday School.
