"Hobson City, Alabama, is the only town in the state that is out of debt and has money in the treasury."—American Missionary. In 1900 a board of Negroes obtained a charter and incorporated this town, which now, 20 years later, has four churches of 700 members, a good public school of 250 pupils, 12 progressive stores, a well built jail, waterworks, electric lights, police and health departments, and a governing board elected every two years, consisting of a mayor, seven councilmen and four other municipal officers, including a chief of police. Not a white man lives there.

In the current Southern Workman Prof. Monroe N. Work has this to say under the caption: "Inter-Racial Co-Operation." "There are four important lines along which there should be inter-racial co-operation. These are the improvement of educational facilities, the betterment of health conditions, the improvement of farming and the establishment of more just relation between whites and Blacks." He states that Julius Rosenwald, who, by the way, along with our own William Volker, was one of the largest contributors to the Paseo Y. M. C. A., has contributed for the promotion of Negro rural schools $311,955.37, and the Negroes in the districts where the schools were erected have paid $443,381.35 and the various states $254,032, and the white people $88,552.27. He shows how by more sanitary health conditions, the average Negro's life could be lengthened from the present 35 years to 50, thus doubling their working capacity and materially diminishing their $100,000,000 annual medical bill and making the beautiful South blossom more beautifully. The treatment of the Negroes in the South has compelled many to leave reluctantly with these words on their lips, "If I could get just treatment in the South I would be willing to receive there for lower wages than I receive in the North." He concludes that despite the increased and more violent lynchings, the general tendency of the times, however, and of the growing spirit of democracy is not reactionary, but progressive, toward a better understanding, a larger and more effective co-operation between the races; this, however, will take time.

"The soul's armor is never well set to the heart unless a woman's heart has braced it, and it is only when she braces it loosely, that the honor of manhood falls."—Ruskings. We may add there is no power under heaven more effective for human weal than the Negro woman. One of the late illustrations of this is the achievement of Miss Julie E. Hunter, so nicely portrayed in the Southern Workman of the March number. She arrived in Cleveland six years ago with a capital of $1.75 to begin life among strangers. Today she is the founder and general manager of the Phillis Wheatly Home for Respectable and Self-Supporting Negro Girls. The plant is valued at $85,000 and houses 91 girls with only $14,000 debt. Miss Hunter is planning a hospital in connection with the home for the training of nurses.

"Tuberculosis may be said to be one of the penalties paid by the human race for violating the laws of nature for the civilization of man, and the greatest toll is exacted of the newest convert."—H. G. Carter, M. D., superintendent of the Piedmont Sanatorium, Burkeville, Va. This sanatorium, for incipient or moderately advanced Negro tubercular patients, was opened April 22, 1918, on a point projecting into Norfolk harbor. It now has 80 beds, a medical superintendent and examiner, resident physician, head nurse and dietitian, all specially trained in tuberculosis. A training school is conducted for Negro nurses, specializing in tuberculosis, on the same footing as those trained at the white sanatorium at Catawba and to whom the certificate is given by the state board of health. The capacity of this school is ten students. Next to the work at Charlottesville, where an opportunity is offered to drill the students in diagnosis of tuberculosis, "I," says Dr. Thiaferro of Catawba, "consider that at Piedmont there is the greatest opportunity to fight tuberculosis that is offered in the state." "Sanitarium treatment consists of rest, fresh air and food, the greatest of those being rest." Dr. Carter quotes from the Directory of Tuberculosis Sanatoria as follows: "The number of sanatoria and day camps of this country 529, beds 56,192, sanatoria, admitting Indians only 6, beds 415, sanatoria admitting Negroes only 4, beds 154 distributed as follows: N. Carolina 1, 30 beds private; W. Virginia 1, 24 beds; Delaware 1, 20 beds; Virginia 8, 80 beds; these beds are for treatment. We have 79 beds in Virginia for segregation, 10 in Alabama, 50 in Georgia, 7 in Kentucky, 3 in Louisiana, 45 in Maryland, and 20 in North Carolina. Our work under the superintendence of Dr. Wm. J. Thompson must be included with the New City Hospital, as no mention is made of it.

THEY SAY

—That desire is all right, but work is an eye-opener. —That the years pass but tomorrow is ever tomorrow. —That a "swelled" head is a liability and not an asset. Amen! —That not knowing is not ignorance, but unwillingness to learn is ignorance. —That dying should not worry us, but living now should cause us to think. —That a little authority is oftentimes like a little learning, a dangerous thing in the hands of a little mind. —That the half has not been told about the Southern Car party. And never will. —That if the men keep striking and wages keep being raised, after awhile they will only have to work a day or two during the week in order to have all the money they need. —That if some person's brains were as big as their voices, what a surplus of intellect there would be in this grand old world of ours. —That the man whose duty it is to bring in the comforts for the household could feel a lot more comfortable if it didn't take so much. —That a certain woman who was desirous of being a member of the "400" was heard to say: "I may not be a figure in the 400, but I can at least be a cipher. Well, that's better than nothing." —Call Fairfax 380 or Fairfax 4422.
