Died.

At the family home in the southwest part of the city, Saturday evening, Mrs. Wm. A. Holcomb. The deceased leaves a husband and a large family of children, the youngest being only one year old. The funeral was conducted by Revs. Silvius and Coffey from the home Monday afternoon. The bereaved family have the sympatqy of the entire community.

Child Burned to Death.

Irene May Ryan, little daughter of James and Ollie Ryan, died Nov. 19, 1902, aged three years, two months and twenty-three days. She was severely burned the day before her death, at her home, and was brought to the residence of Mrs. Jane Donaldson, on South 5th St., for medical treatment, but she was beyond the aid of medicine and died as above stated. Thus sorrow fills the hearts of the parents and sympathy the hearts of their friends, for to all coms hours of trial and bereavment.

Teachers.

The twenty-fifth annual session of the Southwest Missouri Teachers' Association will be held in Springfield, Mo., Nov. 27, 28 and 29. A good program has been arranged.

The preliminary gold medal contest will be held Thanksgiving night. The final contest Friday night, and the annual address by Pres. E. B. Craighead, of Warrensburg Normal, Friday night. This will be a meeting of profit to all teachers and a large attendance is expected.

Railroad and hotel rates have been reduced, so that the expense will be small. It is hoped that a good delegation of Bates county teachers will attend.

Two Married Men.

If you want to laugh go to the opera house next Tuesday evening, Dec. 2, when Geo. Edeson's successful comedy will be the attraction. In commenting on their appearance in Des Moines lately, the Iowa Daily Capital says: "Two Married Men were on exhibition at the Grand last evening and the view proved very satisfactory to the large audience present. This bright farce comedy of Geo. R. Edeson's came here last season unheralded and unknown, comparatively, but it took well and its success was duplicated last evening. While the first two acts are not boisterous, the third act makes up for any slow gaiting of its predecessors, and the specialties introduced through the evening add life and gaiety to the play. The dancing of the Myers Sisters is especially creditable. "Two Married Men" is the bill at the Grand again this evening and it will doubtless draw another full house.

J. W. Dixon Second Hand Store.

Two Married Men.

The next attraction at the opera house will be Geo. Edeson's comedy, "Two Married Men," which has been one of the most successful comedies on the road the past three seasons, and is said to be better this year than ever. Among the high class specialties introduced are those of Colton & Darrow, Chas. E. Schilling, Frank & Mable Colton, the Sisters Dewey, Joe Harkins and Kittie Ridgeway. The company carries all special scenery and gives a clean, bright entertainment.

THE TRIBUNE will guarantee you satisfaction on job printing.

Forgotten Books.

The world, we have been assured time and again, knows nothing of its greatest men. Perhaps it is equally ignorant about its greatest books. Are we quite sure that the idols in our literary Pantheon are arrayed in their due order of precedence? The rules of precedence change, and who shall assert that those prevalent at any given time are the final ones? But above all, we are quite certain that there may be not a noticeable work of genius lying unnoticed and unknown amid the wrecks of the river of time—waiting only for some lucky accident that shall reveal it in all its beauty to an astonished world?

Such accidents with such results have been frequent in the history of the past. Indeed, such accidents have preserved or have revealed to the world so insignificant proportion of its now acknowledged masterpieces.

The books of the Bible themselves have experienced the narrowest escapes from what might have resulted in their total loss. The most notable example is that of Deuteronomy, which disappeared from the Jewish world for over a century. The story of its rediscovery by the high priest Hezekiah during the reign of good King Josiah is set forth in the Old Testament.

Shakespeare was practically forgotten in the days when Addison wrote his "Account of the Greatest English Poets," with never a mention of the name of the very greatest. Yet it was very shortly afterward that Shakespeare was resuscitated.

Fitzgerald's "Omar Khayyam" and Blackmore's "Lorna Doone" dropped stillborn from the press and later won a sudden popularity by accident.—Era Magazine.
