VOLUME 14

RICH HILL, MISSOURI, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1903.

No. 17

Attention Farmers.

Why remain in the North and stay in doors six months in the year consuming what you raise during the other six months?

Go South where you can work out doors every month in the year, and where you are producing something the year round. If you are a stock raiser you know your stock are now "eating their heads off" and, besides, have to be protected from the rigors of winter by expensive shelter.

Economical stock feeding requires the combination of both flesh-forming and fattening foods in certain proportions. Alabama and Florida produce in abundance the velvet bean and casava, the first a flesh producer, and the latter a fat producer, and they are the cheapest and best fattening materials known to the world. More money can be made and with less labor, in general farming, fruit and berry growing and truck gardening along our road in the South than in any other section of the Union.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.

LESSON I—Jan. 3, 1904.—A. D. S.
THE BOYHOOD OF JESUS.
Lesson Text—Luke 2, 40-52.
(American Revised Version.)

40 And the child grew, and waxed strong, filled with wisdom; and the grace of God was upon him. 41 and his parents went every year to Jerusalem at the feast of the passover. 42 And when he was twelve years old, they went up after the custom of the feast; 43 and when they had fulfilled the days, as they were returning, the boy Jesus tarried behind in Jerusalem; and his parents knew it not. 44 but supposing him to be in the company, they went a day's journey; and they sought for him among their kinsfolk and acquaintance; 45 and when they found him not, they returned to Jerusalem, seeking for him. 46 And it came to pass, after three days they found him in the temple, sitting in the midst of the teachers, both hearing them and asking them questions; 47 and all that heard him were amazed at his understanding and his answers. 48 And when they saw him, they were astonished, and the mother said unto him, Son, why hast thou thus dealt with us? behold thy father and I sought thee sorrowing. 49 And he said unto them, How is it that ye sought me? Knew ye not that I must be in my Father's house? 50 And they understood not the saying which he spake unto them. 51 And he went down with them, and came to Nazareth; and he was subject unto them; and his mother kept all these sayings in her heart. 52 And Jesus advanced in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and man.

We now enter for six months a study of the gospels of Matthew, Mark and Luke. They might be studied under the caption of "The Ministry of Jesus in Galilee." For nearly thirty years he lived there. He was a dutiful son. The first three lessons are introductory and treat of events which took place outside of Galilee. We shall endeavor each week to study the geography as well as the spiritual truths.

GOLDEN TEXT—"And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and man."—Luke 5, 2.

NAZARETH—A town in Galilee, the residence of Joseph and Mary. The scene of the domestic life of Jesus Christ, when Jesus entered on his public ministry he came from Nazareth. This place was brought into special prominence by Jesus Christ, for it is not mentioned in the Old Testament. The place still exists under the name of En-Nasrah. It is "beautiful for situation," surrounded by a circle of hills. Fifteen naked hill tops surround it. It has now a population of about four thousand souls, three-fourths of whom are christians. In the southeastern portion of the town is the traditional grotto where Mary stood when she received the salutation of the angels. They also claim the rescue of the "Workshop of Joseph" over which is built a chapel. The Greeks have identified the "Fountain of the Virgin," and here erected the "Church of the Annunciation." Nazareth is celebrated for its pretty girls. The synagogue of Nazareth was where he was led out of the city and led to the brow of a hill.

JERUSALEM—The center of Judaism both politically and religiously. The town was an immense panoramic view of walls, roofs, windows and streets, and capped by the roof of the temple. The colonades where benches were placed for the use of worshippers. You could enter the "court of the Gentiles" where the money changers were, and those that sold sacrificial animals or birds. In some part of this great temple was Jesus found with the doctors. Of course Christ felt at home in his Father's house.

The Child Life of Jesus.
Jesus Christ, the divine, began his life as a human child, subject to all the requirements of the Jewish home. Education began in the home. Influence and example play an important part. The Old Testament describes a relationship almost semi-divine. Punishment followed surely the violation of the fifth commandment. See Deut. 21, 18-21 And Solomon wrote, "The eye that mocketh at his father and despiseth to obey his mother, the ravens of the valley shall pick it out, and young eagles shall eat it." A religious atmosphere surrounded the child from birth. They were taught to live "godly, soberly and righteously in this present world." I sometimes believe the Jewish mothers were better than some modern mothers who feel that "children are a nuisance and always in the way." The teaching of the Sabbath, the setting apart of a piece of dough from the bread to be made; then relating to him the history of his people, the putting on of the phylacteries, the festive seasons, all replete with holy memories; the feasts of Purim, feast of weeks, feast of the New Year, the Fast day of Atonement, and the Feast of Tabernacles. The father as well as the mother was bound to teach the son. No more so however, than the parents of to-day. And were the parents of to-day more true to their obligations there would be less heartaches. They were to teach how repulsive sins. The Bible being the chief text until they were ten years old. Under such training was Christ brought up.

Mothers and fathers, I plead with you to exercise your privileges more thoroughly. It is not what the child wants to do, but what is best for the child. There are obligations in life that bear a sweeter and more lasting fruit than a child properly and carefully trained. God help you to realize it and train yours for God and man. Set them a good example. Do not send them to the house of God, but take them. If you are devout and true, your children will be also. God bless you and help you to be true.

ALPHA ALPHA PAUC.

Butler's Dilemma.

The city administration of Butler seems to be "up against it" with their electric light plant. According to the Record, "the expenses are either too high or the rates too low to harmonize. The plant is overloaded, and although there are calls for more lamps, they cannot be supplied because the engine and boiler are now doing all they should and even more. What to do in the emergency is a question not easily solved. To double the capacity, which is what should be done, will cost the city several thousand dollars which the city has not. To advance the rates to consumers or to charge the churches a reasonable sum, or both, is the question now confronting the city council.

It seems that the plant is running behind about $3,000 a year—that is the receipts fall about this amount short of the expenses.

This of course includes public lighting. Those best informed on the subject think the plant is too small for the work required, although the superintendent, Mr. Ford, under whose supervision the plant was constructed, assured the city council that it was equal to the needs of the city for at least a dozen years."

We have this story from Gelett Burgess, co-author with Will Irwin of "The Reign of Queen Isyl," about George Ade, whose last book of character sketches in pure English, "In Badel," seems to be making him a new reputation: "A short time ago Mr. Ade received a most flat ring epistle from a young gentleman of the drug persuasion in a little West Virginia town. This gentleman declared that he thought Mr. Ade a "splendid writer," and that he thought Mr. Ade's stories "just fine," and "awfully amusing" and was "quite sure Mr. Ade himself was just as nice as he could be."

The letter was signed something like "Yours in devoted friendship, John Smith." In course of time Mr. Ade wrote back conventionally, saying that he appreciated the writer's kind words, etc. A week or so elapsed and Mr. Ade received a telegram as follows, from West Virginia: "Grandmother died tod ay, John Smith."—McCleure's.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

Misses Donna and Essie Geiger are visiting St. Louis friends during the holidays.

Dr. J. R. White came up from Cornell last week for a Christmas visit to his family.

Mr. Brillhart, of Mapleton, Kas., was in the city last week looking after some matters of business.

Miss Sue Marsh, of Buckner, Mo., is visiting Mrs. W. T. Marsh and family during the holidays.

Miss Abbie Barnett took a Christmas trip to Kansas City Friday last. She will be absent about two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Tygard and family, including Flave and wife, ate Christmas dinner with Capt. F. J. Tygard, at Butler.

Capt. Jas. VanBeethoven was in the city last week making a holiday visit to his son, Prof. C. T. VanBeethoven, and other friends.

Hon. D. A. DeArmond has returned from Washington and will spend the holidays at home, returning when Congress opens Jan'y 4, 1904.

C. L. Phifer and son Lyndon, were called to California, Mo., their former home, last week, by the serious illness of Mr. Phifer's mother.

Jas. A. Brown, of Danforth, Mo., superintendent of Haven & Co's., coal mine, and his wife, are in the city visiting and looking after some business matters.

Col. F. J. Wiseman, of the Enterprise, and his family, took Christmas dinner with Mrs. Wiseman's parents up near Louisburg, Kansas. They had a day of splendid enjoyment.

The Christmas trade of our merchants was very good judging by the press Christmas eve. Christmas day was quiet after the early morning trade was over, everybody evidently taking their Christmas dinner with relish and enjoyment.

Young Clarence Jackson was accidentally killed, just east of Spruce. Wednesday of last week, by the unexpected discharge of a gun he was trying to get out of a wagon loaded with household goods. The young man was instantly killed by being shot in the head.

Rev. E. H. Williamson, of the Christian church at Butler, has resigned his pastorate to take effect January 31st next. He has been with the church about a year and his resignation was rather unexpected but without friction and with good feeling existing all round.

A shooting scrape occurred down near the Pacific house Christmas day, late in the afternoon, that involves a young man that ought to have known better, and the porter about the house, in which the porter came out second best. Fortunately the man was not as seriously hurt as was at first supposed. The bullet simply cut a rim around his bread basket, which will lay him up for awhile, but will not ruin the basket.

We visited the Fenton & Co's. mine east of town the first of the week and found they were getting about ready to put more men to work. They have graded a good road from the mine to the corporation line which insures them a good road to haul coal on in most any kind of weather. They are putting things about the mine in the best shape of any of the small mines that we have visited in these parts and it surely looks like they would soon be able to employ a number of men in bringing the dusky diamond to the surface.—Foster Times.

Why He Did Not Get On.

He had low ideals. He did not dare to take chances. He had too many irons in the fire. He tried to give his relatives a chance.

He was never a whole man at anything. He thought a good business should run itself.

He was afraid to burn the bridges behind him. He did not appreciate the value of appearances.

His rude manners drove customers from his store. He loved his pipe and a story better than his work.

He could not concentrate all his powers on his task. He did not know how to duplicate himself in others.

He let gruff, indifferent clerks drive away his business. He trusted incompetent friends with responsible positions.

He would not change fairly good methods for better ones. He did things over and over again because he lacked system.

He thought he knew all there was to know about his business. He tried to economize by cutting down his advertising appropriation.

He was a good, honest man but he did not do business in a business way. — [Orison Sweet Marden, in "Success."]]

Mrs. Sarah A. Hayes, widow of Dr. E. O. Hayes and mother of John C. Hayes, died at her son's residence in Butler on the 21st of December. She, with her family, settled in Butler soon after the war and was known and appreciated for her kindly and christian disposition. A good woman, wife and mother has gone to her long home and her works live after her.
