A People's University.

The magnificent building of the Carnegie Institute of Pittsburgh, which has just been dedicated in the presence of representatives of foreign governments and men of learning from all over the world, is a memorial and tribute to human aspiration. It is not accident, but a significant and natural thing that this great people's university should rise in the heart of the roaring, grimy Birmingham of America. Here the great fortune of the donor was in large part made. Here are the men who helped him make it. Here he, too, in his youth, worked with head and hands, and felt that insatiable thirst for knowledge and light which the new institute will help to satisfy. To this day Mr. Carnegie holds in grateful memory the persons who helped him by such small favors as the loan of a single book. The Carnegie Institute embraces five great departments: the library, with a quarter of a million volumes; the museum containing one of the finest natural history collections in the world; the art gallery, with its annual international jury and generous prizes; the music hall, where the best work of great composers has an adequate presentation; and the great group of technical schools, for admission to which 10,000 students have already applied. It would be unjust to overlook the courage and the far-sighted generosity of the city of Pittsburgh in building up the institute, says the Youth's Companion. Every offer which Mr. Carnegie has made has been met halfway by the municipality, and every step his philanthropy has advanced has been promptly paralleled by the city. Skilled workmen and the great industries in which they are engaged have made Pittsburgh one of the great American cities. The Carnegie Institute will help to place it among the great educational and artistic and musical centers. Although its physical atmosphere is dark and smoky, its mental outlook is bound to be clear, wholesome and invigorating.

Great printing works are established at Nartang, in Tibet. A traveler says: "There are thousands and thousands of blocks at Nartang, comprising matter in type equivalent to numerous different volumes. Each wooden block is about 24 inches long by 12 inches wide, one face having carved upon it a complete page of lettering. The method of printing is primitive in the extreme and consists of laying the paper on a flat surface and levering the block upon it with a long handle, much as the village blacksmith works his bellows."

One of the gravest perils which fire fighters are constantly facing is the fierce heat. After successful trials, a newly-invented "heat veil" has been introduced into practice at Cologne, Germany, where 200 men have been supplied with the appliance. The veil is made after the principle of a safety lamp, with double windows. It is composed of fibers of cane, which possess the peculiar property of retaining water for a considerable length of time. The veil is made damp before being fastened to the fireman's ordinary brass helmet.

St. Lazare, a leper's hospital in Paris, built at the close of the eleventh century, is to be razed and its site cleared and purged of foulness by the admission of fresh air and long-excluded sunshine. A plague spot for centuries, the scene of many a nameless, unrecorded tragedy, as well as of many that stain with blood the archives of medieval France, the site of this ancient hospital will be given to open-air spaces and modern buildings.

Immigration Commissioner Sargent has stated that the law under which it is unlawful for a state to pay the passage of intending immigrants or to assist immigration except by advertisement, does not apply to Hawaii. Under the auspices of the Territorial Immigration society immigrants are being brought to the island from Europe and the Azores to take the place of Japanese laborers upon the sugar plantations.

Gen. Batyagoff, a Russian naval officer, is quoted as declaring that the American shipbuilding yards can turn out in two years as many ships as European yards can turn out in five years. He accordingly recommends that the czar let to American builders a contract for construction of a far eastern squadron.

A brand new danger has come to terrify humanity—sparks from the wireless telegraph. The principal cause for alarm is that fire insurance companies may take it as a pretext for further boosting rates.—Kansas City Journal.

A Chelsea girl who bought for her father to hang in his office a framed motto, "Do It Now," was shocked to learn next day that, after long hesitation, he had married for his second wife a girl three years older than herself.

THE THAW JURY DISAGREED

After 47 Hours Deliberation They Stood 7 to 5 for Conviction.

Those Favoring Acquittal Did So On Grounds of Insanity—Back to Tomb.

New York. — Hopelessly divided—seven for a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree and five for acquittal on the ground of insanity—the jury which since January 23 last has been trying Harry K. Thaw, reported Friday after 47 hours and 2 minutes of deliberation that it could not possibly agree on a verdict. The twelve men were promptly discharged by Justice Fitzgerald, who declared that he, too, believed their task was hopeless. Thaw was remanded to the Tombs without bail to await a second trial on the charge of having murdered Stanford White.

When this new trial would take place no one connected with the case could express an opinion. District Attorney Jerome declared there were many other persons accused of homicide awaiting trial and Thaw would have to take his turn with the rest.

Harry Thaw had been waiting for a summons to face the jurors ever since shortly after 10 o'clock Friday morning. He felt that the day would bring a crisis and either a verdict would be reached or Justice Fitzgerald would discharge the jurors from any further consideration of the case. This was the general belief and the only remarkable feature of the case was the dogged manner in which the jurors continued at their task and declined to ask to be excused. Justice Fitzgerald had determined to let them fight it out among themselves until they should call for assistance. This appeal came at 4:15 o'clock and then followed a hunt for counsel both District Attorney Jerome and the attorneys for the defendant having temporarily left the building. When they arrived, Justice Fitzgerald notified them of the jury's communication that a disagreement seemed inevitable. Every one connected with the case seemed willing to accept the situation as offering no hope, and then followed the brief courtroom proceedings at which the disagreement was publicly announced the jury dismissed and the prisoner remanded. Entering the courtroom at 4:25 p. m. the jury was free eight minutes later.

AS TO MEAT INSPECTION

Secretary Wilson Takes Issue With Statements by a Scotchman.

He Resents Insinuation That Each Inspection Must Pass Upon 927 Animals Each Day.

Washington, D. C. — In an authorized statement issued at the department of agriculture Thursday Secretary Wilson takes issue with certain strictures recently made by A. M. Trotter, municipal veterinary inspector of Glasgow, Scotland, upon the system of meat inspection in the United States. In an official report Mr. Trotter is alleged to have said that in 1905 the number of animals slaughtered in the United States was 11,732,165, an average of 37,482 for each working day and that the number of inspectors was but 40, which made it necessary for each inspector to examine the carcasses of not less than 927 animals each day—"an utter impossibility," Secretary Wilson said the inference was that these figures represented the entire federal inspection service of the United States. "As a matter of fact," he added, "the report of the bureau of animal industry for the fiscal year 1905 shows that 40,221,013 animals were inspected at slaughter in that year. The force engaged in meat inspection in July 1, 1905, according to the records of the bureau, numbered 768 exclusive of 243 microscopists. The secretary declares that Mr. Trotter's figures were evidently garbled from the report of the committee of the department on condition in Chicago.

Under the new meat inspection law he says, the force at Chicago has been considerably increased, until it now numbers 276, of which 71 are trained veterinarians. In the country at large, he adds, the meat inspection force numbers 2,000.

TREAT ALL ALIKE.

Railroad Companies May Not Discriminate Between Establishments And Localities.

Washington. — In the opinion by the Interstate Commerce commission Thursday the principle was laid down that a railroad company can not arbitrarily determine that a particular establishment shall compete in a certain market with other localities and that other similar establishments on its lines shall not so compete, particularly where the discrimination is not justified by operating conditions. The decision was applied to the case of the Texas Cement Plaster company against the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad company, involving a complaint of unlawful discrimination in rates on cement plaster in carload lots.

The defendants were ordered to adjust their tariffs accordingly and to pay the complainant reparation in the amount of excess charges with interest.

Chicago Jury Returned a Verdict on 1403 Counts and Penalties May Reach $29,260,000.

M. Landis' branch of the United States district court. The case went to the jury at 6 o'clock but it was an hour before that body began its deliberation and at 9:45 o'clock the verdict against the trust had been returned in open court.

The number of counts on which Judge Landis will be called to pronounce judgement is 1,463. This represents the number of shipments over the Chicago & Alton railroad by the Standard Oil company made from Whiting, Ind., to St. Louis when the legal freight rate was eighteen cents per 100 pounds, but which was shipped for the Standard at six cents.

Even at the minimum fine fixed by law, the amount to be assessed against the Standard will be $1,000 on each of these counts, or $1,463,000, while under the maximum punishment the company can be fined $29,260,000.

A SOCIAL LEADER OF KANSAS CITY

Attributes Her Excellent Health to Peruna.

MRS. W. H. SIMMONS.
Mrs. W. H. Simmons, 1119 E. 5th St., Kansas City, Mo., member of the National Annuity Association, writes:

"My health was excellent until about a year ago, when I had a complete collapse from overdoing socially, not getting the proper rest, and too many late suppers. My stomach was in a dreadful condition, and my nerves all on-strung."

"I was advised by a friend to try Peruna, and eventually I bought a bottle. I took it and then another, and kept using it for three months."

"At the end of that time my health was restored, my nerves no longer troubled me, and I felt myself once more and able to assume my social position. I certainly feel that Peruna is deserving of praise."

There are many reasons why society women break down, why their nervous systems fail, why they have systemic or pelvic catarrh. Indeed, they are especially liable to these ailments. No wonder they require the protection of Peruna. It is their shield and safeguard."

Encourage Saving.

The wise father and mother will never discourage the fancies of their children for accumulating things. It is a natural instinct, inborn in the most of people, and given a little thought and care by the older heads may be turned to good account. If the child begins to collect "pretty" pebbles or shells at the seashore don't throw them out—but let them form the basis of a little geological collection, and with proper guidance the youngster will soon be looking upon "sticks and stones" with an interested and educated eye.
