VERSAILLES.

WE are pushing Versailles to the front. We have one of the largest Clay Plants in the State, and with the best fire clay in the United States, ought to have a dozen more.

We have an unlimited amount of clay suitable for potteries. We have fire-plastic clays suitable for insulators, clays for sewer pipe and for building purposes.

We can supply you with tracts of from 30 acres up to 440 on the rail-road. We will allow the closest investigation of these tracts.

Several large brick blocks are going up. A laundry and a broom factory are being installed, while we have a handle factory which is now in successful operation and which has recently doubled its capacity, having added machinery for manufacture of insulator pins and brackets.

By an almost unanimous vote a franchise was granted to the Hydro-Electric Power Company of St. Louis, which means cheap power generated by immense dams across the Gravois ten miles south. This cheap power is bound to attract manufacturers. The promoters state that they will be able to develop 30,000 horse power. They MUST have a market for their current, and will gladly assist any of the following enterprises: Several more clay plants, potteries, insulator factories, woven wire factory, furniture factory, ice plant, woolen mills, and any other legitimate enterprise.

The Missouri Cannel Coal Company are building a railroad to their mines six miles northwest of this city, where they are developing a fine body of coal. It is expected that this line will become an electric line to Sedalia.

We especially desire clay men from any part of the U. S. to investigate the Clays of this section.

We have ample railway facilities, and an abundance of raw material. (The above is a reproduction of a large consignment of literature now being sent out from this city to all parts of the country.)

THE GREAT STATE FAIR.

Panorama of Missouri's Agricultural Industrial and Commercial Supremacy.

The Missouri State Fair will hold its Sixth Annual Exhibition September 29 to October 5. This institution, yet in its infancy when compared with the great fairs of other states has made rapid strides, not only in the character and extent of its exhibits and its attendance, but also in the way of equipment.

It now has the finest Live Stock pavilion in the world, six mammoth stock barns, a poultry palace, dairy building and agricultural hall, a horticultural hall and a steel Grand Stand, all practically fire proof, stone foundations, metal and tile roof with steel truss supports, beautiful in architectural design, well adapted for the purposes intended, and supplied with water, sewerage and all modern conveniences. In addition to these there are 12 frame speed horse barns, a large and splendidly arranged implement building, administration building, sheep and swine barns with capacity for 1,200 animals, custodian's cottage, fire department building, and best mile track west of the Mississippi river.

The grounds are supplied with water from the city waterworks have complete telegraphic and telephone communication with all points, and will have electrical power for lighting purposes and for operating machinery before the fair opens. Two steam railways have passenger stations on the grounds and each operates a train every fifteen minutes. The street railway with a large number of open summer cars will deliver passengers on the grounds every ten minutes. A postoffice will be established on the grounds in the administration building. Express companies will have agents and deliver consignments to several departments. Exhibition stock will be delivered to and unloaded from cars into the grounds.

The Missouri State Fair Offers the most liberal mule and draft horse premiums ever offered by a State Fair in America. It offers a $100.00 silver cup for the best saddle horse youngster. It makes special classes for Missouri poultry. It offers liberal premiums on live stock, agriculture and horticulture. It offers special prizes for corn grown by boys. It offers in the aggregate $100.00 on agricultural exhibits made by counties. It offers a purse of $2500.00 to any horse that will lower the world's pacing or trotting record, and $1,500.00 for the best record made on the track within two minutes. It has provided for a four-mile relay race each day to be ridden by cow girls, the equestrienne queens of the Western plains.

Tuesday, Oct. 2 will be Governor's Day. Gov. Folk, his staff and military escort, will be present to assist in dedicating the live stock pavilion. Every day will be a big day. The exhibits from opening morning till closing evening will present a magnificent panorama of Missouri's agricultural, industrial and commercial supremacy; a dazzling picture of her grandeur, her resources and her possibilities.
