The maximum sentence on the returned verdict is 10 years. It is probable that District Attorney Carson will ask the court to give Rogers the full time when he comes up for sentence April 13 before Judge Kelly, because of the peculiar circumstances surrounding the case.

Oklahoma Oil Man Says Killing of Army Officer Was Justified by Terms of Unwritten Law

Oklahoma City, Okla., April 8.—Pleading the stern code of Oklahoma, the "unwritten law," Jean P. Day prepared to go before a coroner's jury here today and seek to be judicially absolved of the killing of Lieutenant Paul Ward Beck on the ground that he slew in self defense while attempting to keep inviolate the sanctity of his home.

JUSTIFICATION IS DAY'S PLEA BEFORE JURY

Six men, sitting as the jury, will hear this afternoon from the lips of Day, wealthy attorney and oil man, and from his wife their sworn stories of the slaying. And on their testimony and other evidence brought out will be assigned the responsibility in the tragedy.

JUSTIFICATION IS DAY'S PLEA BEFORE JURY

Day declared he will tell the only story he knows—the true facts—that he struck Beck down in his home early last Tuesday morning when he returned and found the noted army man attacking his wife. In his heart there was no murder, he will plead. The revolver he used as a club in the belief that he was defending his life, when he warned Beck to quit his home, fired accidentally as he struck the blow, ending Beck's life, is the testimony he will give the jurors. The immediate provocation will be his allegation that Beck drew back one hand that he feared the army flyer might be armed.

JUSTIFICATION IS DAY'S PLEA BEFORE JURY

Supporting her husband's account of the slaying, Mrs. Day will go to his defense charging that Beck, the trusted friend of the

TESTIMONY OF WITNESSES IS TO BE PROBED

They were asked about circumstances surrounding the deposition of Mrs. Whitehurst taken before Albert Sabath in Chicago. In the deposition she was credited with saying that Miss Rappe became ill a number of times at her home, but in the trial she declared Miss Rappe was ill only twice at her house, and asserted the deposition must have been changed after she gave it.

Beardstown, Ill., April 8.—(By Associated Press.)—Laboring at a nervous pitch throughout the night, workers on Lost creek levee which was still intact at daybreak, had the satisfaction this morning of knowing they had minimized the damage of Beardstown's worst flood, and that when the momentarily expected break does come, it will find only empty houses in its path.
