

A SUSPECT ARRESTED

Malden Police Think They Have Murderer.

ANSWERS TO DESCRIPTION

Slayer of Banker Sturtevant's Daughter Believed By Father to Have Been an Italian.

Malden, Mass., May 8.—Tommaso Lombred, who was arrested in Boston on suspicion of having killed Miss Nellie Sturtevant, daughter of James S. Sturtevant, in Medford, while attempting to rob her father, has been held without bail on a charge of murder for a further hearing next Tuesday.

The cases came up before Judge Charles M. Bruce in the Malden district court. Lombred, who is an Italian and who claims to be unable to speak English, was represented by Lawyer J. J. Walsh of Malden. When the case was called, Lawyer Walsh waived the reading of the complaint and asked for a continuance in order that time might be afforded to prepare for a hearing. The judge granted the request, and Lombred was remanded to the East Cambridge jail. No evidence was introduced. No member of the Sturtevant family was in court. Sergeant Ewell of the Medford police was in charge of the case for the prosecution.

Suspect Caught in Boston. Lombred was arrested in Boston about an hour and a half after the Sturtevant murder. The police had been notified by the Medford authorities that Miss Sturtevant's murderer had escaped from Medford on a bicycle. Lombred was riding a bicycle, and he answered the description given by Mr. and Mrs. Sturtevant.

In order that Lombred might make a statement through an interpreter the case was reopened during the forenoon. The accused man stated that he was thirty-five years of age, that he lived at 31 Whittier alley, in the north end of Boston, and that he worked for Alphonse Moore, 243 North street. He said that he was riding a bicycle last night with his employer's son, John Moore, and that he did not go outside of the city of Boston.

After hearing this statement Judge Bruce reaffirmed his previous decision, and the case went over until next Tuesday. Mr. Sturtevant, the father of the murdered woman, has been prominent in local affairs for a number of years. He has held several city offices and at present is a candidate for the board of assessors. He is a Mason of high degree. Until recently he was treasurer of the Medford club. He has been treasurer of the Medford Co-operative bank since its institution in 1886, and his daughter has been assistant cashier for a number of years.

Medical Examiner Durrel performed an autopsy upon the body of Miss Sturtevant. He found that a .38 caliber revolver bullet entered about two inches above the right eye. It fractured the skull, traversing the length of the brain in a straight line, imbedding itself in the back of the brain close to the skull. The revolver was fired within three feet, the woman's face being badly powder stained.

GIVES LIE TO RUSSIA

The Occupation of New Chwang.

SAYS CHINA'S MINISTER

And Comes Nearest to Foreshadowing War—China is Prostrated.

London, May 8.—Tehang Ya Ten, the Chinese ambassador, said today, "If the advice that Russia has occupied New Chwang are true they come nearest to a foreshadowing of war of any news yet received from the far East. It is evident a coup d'etat has been accomplished, which has for its ultimate object the complete russification of Manchuria and gives the lie to Russia's assurances that she has no designs on Manchuria.

China is now so prostrated she will not offer any resistance to the Czar, but there is no doubt the Pekin government will appeal to America, England and Japan. In my opinion these powers have so much at stake they must compel the evacuation of New Chwang even at the cost of hostilities.

OLNEY HIS CANDIDATE

John H. Senter Nominates for President.

DOESN'T WANT CLEVELAND

Cleveland's Nomination Would Cut Democratic Party in Two Says Democratic "War Horse."

Montpelier, May 7.—John H. Senter, the Democratic "war horse," has come out in an interview saying he favors the nomination of Richard Olney for Democratic candidate for president. Mr. Senter, who is a member of the Democratic national committee from Vermont, says, "The man was never born who can be elected president of the United States for a third term. It is part of the unwritten constitution of the United States that such a thing cannot be done. Grover Cleveland is a very popular private citizen but his nomination for president next year would tear the Democratic party right in two. When you get around to it no one wants him for a candidate and I do not believe he wants to try it again. He is too bright a man to be chasing rainbows in that way.

"Mr. Olney would make a splendid candidate. His location is bad, but I am not one who takes much stock in location. I would like to see Mr. Olney nominated."

INN WITHOUT LANDLORD.

Harry Harnden Suddenly Leaves Randolph's Hotel.

Randolph, May 7.—The Red Lion Inn is again without a landlord, Harry Harnden, who has been conducting it for a year past, left town yesterday by team, which he hired, giving South Lyndon as his destination. Before his departure he mailed letters to Mrs. Harnden and his clerk, notifying them that he had left for good and instructing them what to do to wind up his connection with the hotel. It is understood that Mr. Harnden's finances are all right, that he is owing little if anything in town and that his sudden departure is chiefly due to domestic infidelities. He came here from Windsor, where he had been in the hotel business, rented the Red Lion Inn and purchased the furniture of J. W. Brown, being backed by J. C. Enright of Windsor to whom he gave a mortgage of the goods. Mrs. Harnden's own furniture is being stored at M. L. Chute's on Randolph Avenue and she will shortly leave town.

The unhappy experiences of Randolph's chief hotel the past few years has been a source of chagrin to every citizen, and it is sincerely hoped that the next management, whatever it is, will prove more successful than recent ones have been. A well conducted hotel has become a real necessity to every live, progressive town.

WORLD TO BE GOVERNED BY THE GOLDEN RULE

So Says Mrs. Mary A. Livermore Who Spoke at the Universalist Church Last Evening.

Mrs. Mary A. Livermore of Melrose, Mass., a speaker of national reputation and one of the best known of women lecturers in the country, spoke at the Universalist church last evening under the auspices of the Y. P. C. U. of the church. Mrs. Livermore took as her subject "A Look Ahead" and so interestingly did she talk that the fairsided audience that heard her considered the lecture one of the finest ever given in Barre. Previous to the lecture Mrs. T. L. Snow gave a half hour organ recital.

Mrs. Livermore was introduced by Rev. Effie K. M. Jones. Although quite advanced in years Mrs. Livermore is a wonderful speaker. She spoke for an hour and a half and held the close attention of the audience. Her prophecy of the future was most optimistic and her opinion, quite in contrast to the calamity howler, was that the world is constantly growing better, and that sooner or later the Golden Rule will be the controlling force in the world in every branch.

To substantiate her assertion she outlined the wonderful advance the world has been making and she declared that all these things pointed inevitably to a better time.

Mrs. Livermore said in brief: "Man looks upward, he is not content with today, is not satisfied with present progress and has an ideal of what is beyond. When God said to man 'Have dominion over the world' man not only took possession of the world, but he took possession to improve it. And he has been about that improvement since the beginning. Whole past generations go to make up the man of today. He begins where the others left off.

He has begun the movement to bring about the Golden Rule which has been slow to impress itself on business, on commercial greed, the monopolies and the trusts. But the Golden Rule will be as fundamental and as essential as the law of gravitation. It will settle affairs and it will settle them right. Plato uttered the Golden Rule in a negative way, and it has come down through the world and the ages."

Mrs. Livermore then spoke of the wonderful advance that has been made in knowledge. But, said she, were not that advance accompanied by a moral advance it would be of no account. She traced the moral advance from the time of the old gladiatorial contests to the present time when such things would not be tolerated by the most brutal of nations. The various philanthropic enterprises received their attention from the speaker, the difference in the status of the laboring class, the lessening of the hours of labor and the increase in wages.

Summing them all up she said they were precursors of better days coming, when we are going to take cognizance of men's rights as well as their wrongs. When she had finished Mrs. Livermore was applauded heartily and Rev. Mrs. Jones thanked her in behalf of the audience for the most interesting address.

After the lecture an opportunity was presented to meet the speaker and many took advantage of the opportunity.
