copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

Hoot man! Do you know that the Clan is 19 years old today? Here's many another birthday to it!

This drouth isn't what Vermont voted for.—Hampshire Herald and News.

Nor did we vote to have it continue all summer.

Please do not lay up the present lack of rain against the license law. If there were a contest of liquor vs. water it would readily be seen that "licker" won out.

Sir Thomas Lipton's courage is good despite the discouraging rumors that come to him of the speed of the Bellanca. The race will be a good one and a fight to a finish as long as Sir Thomas is one of the contestants.

The first flurry over the opening of the licensed saloons seems to be subsiding in this city, as it is doing in all the cities of the state. When the uniqueness of the innovation shall have passed away it will be time for its opponents and its supporters to pass judgment on the new law.

The Ludlow Tribune says, "Ludlow, when the licenses are granted, will have an opportunity to make a record by insisting that the no-treating clause of the new law is enforced from the start." It's an opportunity which all license towns have and one which each ought not to overlook. There is a chance for a record for many.

It is hoped that by next week the Supreme court of the state will have decided whether Supt. Morgan of the house of correction may lock the doors of that state institution against those who are convicted of a second offense of intoxication in the city and justice courts throughout the state and sentenced for a period of days longer than ten days.

With a deficiency of $227,900 in the post office department there appears to be cause for the righteous indignation of Postmaster General Payne. It is a slipshod manner of doing business and the peculiar part about it is that the deficiency was not reported to Mr. Payne and that the head of the post office department knew nothing about what was going on underneath him.

When a maiden weds,
 All her friends look pleasant,
 Wink and nod their heads,
 When a maiden weds,
 Everybody sheds
 Cash to make a present,
 When a maiden weds,
 All her friends look pleasant,

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

A chicken with two perfect heads and necks was recently hatched on the farm of J. C. Tracy of Shelburne.

A cow owned by Wallace Crook of Salisbury recently gave birth to twin calves, with four days between the births.

Hon. Frank Plumley will receive about $5,000 and expenses for two months' services as arbitrator in the Venezuela affair.

Dr. Charles Newcomb of Montpelier has a valuable collection of old papers, many of them of interest and historic value. They date back as far as 1774, and among them are writs, officers' commissions, and revolutionary pay rolls.

The Vermont State Letter Carriers' Association will hold its annual meeting with the Brattleboro branch on the afternoon and evening of Memorial day, May 30. Nearly every branch organization in the state will be represented.

The list of Tuck School lecturers at Dartmouth college, Hanover, N. H., includes Joseph A. DeBooy of Montpelier, president of the National Life Insurance Co., who will speak on "Theory and Practice of Life Insurance."

The annual meeting of the general synod of the Reformed Presbyterian church was opened in South Byegate Wednesday evening under the direction of the Rev. J. B. Crawford of Madrid, N. Y., the retiring moderator. The sessions will last throughout the week.

The condition of Judge John W. Rowell of Randolph, who is suffering with rheumatism, is much better. He is able to be out of doors a little each day, but does not walk about much. He has a tent erected on his lawn so he can remain out doors and get the air on pleasant days.

W. E. Pollard of the Pollard Manufacturing Co. of Chester and Charles A. Parker, a business man there, narrowly escaped a serious accident near Rockingham last night. Accompanied by their wives they were returning to Chester in automobiles and half way up a steep hill met a team. In attempting to avoid a collision Mr. Parker's team was forced out of the road down a steep embankment. Mrs. Parker becoming frightened jumped, falling on her shoulder and hip sustaining severe bruises. The front end of the auto was badly wrecked.
