The degree team from Barre camp, No. 2686, Modern Woodmen of America, was in Waterbury Wednesday evening and conferred the degree work on 17 members of camp 10,530 of that place to a very creditable manner. The new camp starts out with every prospect of success. It has a charter membership of 20. Following the degree work a banquet was served at the American House in Waterbury.

The Walte Star Liner Majestic, one of the fast ships of the fleet of the International Mercantile Marine Company, returns now to the New York-Liverpool service after a long absence in the hands of her builders, Harland & Wolff of Belfast. The Majestic left Liverpool on May 13 and arrived in New York on her first trip May 20. At Belfast the Majestic has received a thorough renovation, and now comes out a better and more comfortable ship than ever.

In the Times' report of the Washington County W. C. T. U. convention an error was made in that part of it relating to the presentation on Wednesday evening. It should be as follows: "Mrs. R. H. Watkins, president of the Ida Reed union of Barre, presented Mrs. Ida Reed, state president of the W. C. T. U., eighty-six cards tied with white ribbons, expressing their appreciation of her faithful labors in the temperance cause and pledging $223.85 toward the fund for the erection of a rest cottage on her lot at Spring Grove, Vt."

The following Bethel item is from the Randolph Herald & News: George H. Bickford of the Woodbury Granite Co. was in town Tuesday and Wednesday. The company is loading at the station today a ten-ton stone, which is to be fashioned into a base for a monument in New York. It took three pairs of horses about all of one day to get the stone from the quarry to the railroad. It could not be brought up the rising grades except with the aid of blocks and pulleys.

Soon after 7 o'clock Wednesday evening the members of Hedding M. E. church choir, with their husbands and wives, responded to an invitation extended by Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Williams, 5 Church street. Several games were played among which was the competition for the best drawing from a given line. The winner, Mr. Goodfellow, was presented an Art Gallery by Miss Curtis. After refreshments of ice cream and cake were served, several selections of music were enjoyed and a standing vote of thanks was extended to Mr. and Mrs. Williams and the party concluded by singing the old familiar hymn "God be with you till we meet again."

MAN'S STOMACH

Responsible For the Most of His Ills.

Rickert & Wells of the Red Cross Pharmacy, Barre.

Explain the Superiority of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets.

One of the firm of Rickert & Wells, in speaking of the REXALL DYSPEPSIA TABLETS, says: "The fact that we permit our name to be used in strongly endorsing this wonderful remedy, and even go farther by promising to refund to anyone the cost of the medicine who is not satisfied that the Tablets have benefited him, proves our perfect faith in the efficacy of the remedy."

"In all our experience—and it has extended over many years—we have never before found any medicine that would so thoroughly accomplish the purpose for which it is intended. They are simply wonderful—they go right to the spot—the stomach,—and when they get there they do every bit of good that is expected of them."

"When one realizes that over 90 per cent of the ill that flesh is heir to originate or are due to a disordered condition of the stomach, we must stop and think how to treat the stomach."

"In the first place, there is the chronic dyspeptic—yellow, sallow, listless, cranky,—to whom everything looks blue and for whom there is no brightness and happiness in life. The misery such a man suffers is known only to people who have been through this sort of agony."

"From such people is drawn most of the revenue that supports the many patent medicines, so extensively advertised in these days. They become frantic over their conditions and will try anything that promises to give them help."

"Then you meet another class—the people who are subject to headaches, fainting spells. This is all due to the inability of the stomach to properly digest the food taken into it."

"We can guarantee the action of these Rexall Tablets. The prescription from which they are made is the best we have ever seen, and they are made in the most perfect and scientific manner imaginable. Don't suppose for a minute we would be guaranteeing an article and offering to refund the cost if we were not pretty sure it would do all we claimed for it."

Rickert & Wells sell the Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets at the Red Cross Pharmacy for 25 cents a box, and agree to return the money to anyone not satisfied. Surely this is a liberal offer, and proves the up-to-date method of Rickert & Wells in selling this up-to-date medicine.

Extension to Missisquoi Park.

The first basket picnic excursion of the season over the Central Vermont railroad will be run to Missisquoi Park, (Highgate Springs) Thursday, June 2. Rich as Vermont is in lovely localities, there are none more favored by nature than that which has been known for years as "Missisquoi Park" at Highgate Springs. It is a delightful combination of grassy lawn, grand old elms and butternuts, pungent cedars, mossy grown rock and silvery waters. Arrange to take a day off and enjoy yourself. Refreshments of all kinds will be served at the Park. Amusements and sports. The Central Vermont railway will sell round trip tickets from Barre, Montpelier and Middlesex for $1, children 50c. Trains will run as follows: Leave Barre at 8.35 a. m., Montpelier 9 a. m., Returning, leave the Park at 3.30 p. m., and arrive in Barre at 6.40. Tickets will be good going only on June 4.
