DAMES AND DAUGHTERS.

The first woman to be admitted to the practice of law by the Dutch bar is Adolphine Kok, who recently appeared before the law tribunal and passed the necessary examinations.

Miss Hannah Clark, dean of women at Knox college, Illinois, has tendered her resignation, to take effect at the close of the college year, and will spend next year in European travel and study.

Mrs. Helen Ames of Boston, Mass., who owns one of the finest private collections of antiques in that city, has just added two old violins, one an Amati of 1641 and the other a Stradivarius of 1700.

Miss Mary A. Prettyman, a typewriter engaged in copying records in the patent office at Washington, wrote 17,500 words in six and a half hours the other day. It is believed she is the world's champion.

Miss Irene Henly of St. Louis is believed to be the youngest notary public in the United States. She has just passed her eighteenth birthday. Governor Dockery sent her a letter of congratulation with her appointment.

Mrs. John A. Logan and the residents of Iowa circle, Washington, where the statue of General Logan is located, are at odds because Mrs. Logan wishes more trees cut down in the circle, so that the view of the statue will not be obstructed.

Mrs. Anna A. Williston, M. D., was appointed town physician at the recent reorganization of the Phillipsburg (N. J.) council by a vote of 12 to 3 over Dr. F. S. Drakes. Mrs. Williston was recommended by nearly all the physicians and by many citizens.

Mrs. Ella Benschaw, eighty-two, widow of Captain F. T. Benschaw of the old navy, was buried the other day, by special permit from the government, by her husband's side in the naval cemetery at Portsmouth, Va. She was the first woman in fifty years to be buried there with a naval parade and salute.

The Baroness Burdett-Coutts has just celebrated her eighty-ninth birthday. Lady Burdett-Coutts is one of the most interesting figures of modern times. Her schemes of philanthropy, in which she has been ably seconded by her American born husband, have been many and various, and she has given immense sums to charity.

PEN, CHISEL AND BRUSH.

Justin Huntly McCarthy is frequently confused with his father, Justin McCarthy. This is not surprising, since, besides being of the same name, they are both historians, both novelists and both have been members of parliament.

Sculptor Trentanoves' bronze bust of the late Senator Cushman K. Davis has arrived in Washington from Italy. The sculptor is on his way to this country to be present at the unveiling of the work over the grave of Senator Davis in Arlington.

John La Farge, the artist, is a tall man, slightly bald, with a narrow chest and bent shoulders. His face is one that grows pleasantly upon one. It is a very quiet face, yet one feels an intensity of life under the still surface. His eyes are small, black, piercing.

The honorary degree of LL. D. recently conferred on James McNeill Whistler, the painter, by the University of Glasgow is the second honor which this distinguished and resolute artist has received from Scotland, as the Royal Scottish academy elected him an honorary member a few months ago. These are his only official British honors.

Hair Superstition.

There is a superstition among southern children to the effect that hair combs should never be thrown out of doors for the reason that the birds will use them in building their nests and thus produce constant headache to the person to whom they belong.
