Published Every Weekday Afternoon.
 Entered at the postoffice at Barre as second class matter.

MONDAY, JUNE 15, 1903.

The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

2,623

It is estimated, and it is said, conservatively, that $25,000,000 will fall to the lot of New England through the incoming of the vacationists. The harvest begins in the early spring when the ponds and brooks begin to give up their wealth of fish. It continues during the midsummer season when the city people seek the quiet and restfulness of the country and is only concluded with the coming of winter. The inquiry arises if Vermont has her apron spread to catch a part of the $25,000,000. The plums will not fall our way unless the people are prepared to catch them.

By reason of a recent change in the board of license commissioners of Boston, the old discussion of what is the legal definition of the crime of drunkenness has been renewed. John E. Macy, a member of the Massachusetts bar and an instructor in the Boston University law school, takes up the question and after arguing the case holds that any person "is guilty of the offence (of drunkenness) who is found in a public place so influenced by liquor as to be an example demoralizing to the public and subversive of good citizenship." Under this interpretation intoxication is a crime when noticeable, no matter how peaceable the drunk may be on the street.

In the observance of "Flag Day," the United States seems to have been outdone by Porto Rico, as the press reports that come from the latter country show that the enthusiasm was almost unbounded. Yesterday was properly "Flag Day," it being the 150th anniversary of the stars and stripes, by Congress, as the national emblem. Since the observance fell on Sunday all patriotic exercises were held on the day preceding. There was not a very general observance of the anniversary in the United States, the country to which the event should have the most significance. Instead, it seems to have been left to the Porto Ricans to fittingly observe the day. At San Juan the display of Americanism was unprecedented. Never before in the history of the little country

ABOUT VESTS.

"Almost every conceivable material suitable to the purpose has been used, and more ideas in shape are being constantly brought out. The demand for the fancy waistcoat is enormous and is likely to increase."—Extract from trade journal.

"We went to the market and bought samples of all these novelties. Our stock is complete. You can find unusual patterns here. Common styles you can get anywhere. $1.25 to $3.50 each."

has there been so much enthusiasm displayed. In a single procession 1,500 dogs were carried by the pupils of the public schools. At the San Juan theatre where patriotic exercises were held the stars and stripes were seen. And it was not only in San Juan that the celebrations were held but reports from other cities of the island show that the observance of "Flag Day" was very general. If Porto Rico keeps up this display of patriotism there will be nothing left for the United States to do except to follow the example and let a little of the same spirit permeate itself.

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

Edward Smith of Burlington, observed his 51st birthday anniversary Friday. Mr. Smith is beginning to feel the burden of years, but his health is fairly good and his families normal. He does not go out very often, but took a carriage drive on the anniversary of his birthday.

The wedding of Elizabeth S. Sheldon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Sheldon of New York, formerly of Rutland, and Anthony Hope Hawkins of London will take place either the last week in June or the first week in July. Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon have sailed on the steamer Minnehaha for London to be present at the ceremony.

Eight thousand trout fingerling from the state hatchery at Roxbury have been placed in Silver lake at Barnard. This lake was once a famous trout ground but was unfortunately stocked with pickerel at one time and these soon devoured the trout. It is supposed that but few pickerel are now left and the present experiment is made on the suggestion of Fish and Game Commissioner Davis for the purpose of seeing if trout cannot be made to thrive again.

Among the best known and highly esteemed older residents of Corinth are Mr. and Mrs. George W. Wilson, who recently observed the 64th anniversary of their marriage. Both were born there, and with the exception of one year during their married life have always made their home there. Mr. Wilson will be 80 years old on his next birthday, December 25. Mrs. Wilson is 81 years old. The third year of their married life they lived in Vermont and married on the Weymouth farm. Country life they have always found preferable to that of a city.

New Department Gets First Report.

Washington, June 15.—During the past week the United States Steel corporation has filed through Secretary Cortelyou with the bureau of corporations of the department of commerce the financial report of its operations for the year 1902, including schedules, showing in detail its business and financial transactions during that year. The report is very voluminous and complete. It is the first report of any large business concern filed with the new department.

Mint Julep Time.

You kin talk about yer fancy drinks,
 Yer posy cafes an' sich,
 Yer champagne wine that's only drunk
 By people wat is rich,
 Yer beer that's fer the Germans that
 I allus passes by,
 But Uncle Ben is happiest when
 The mint is in the rye.

It sorter gits up in yer nose
 An' trickles down yer throat
 An' makes you feel as ef on beds
 Of flowery ease you seat;
 There's nothing like it in the land
 Nor in the heavens high;
 Yer Uncle Ben is happiest when
 The mint is in the rye.

I go to church on Sunday, an'
 I chip into the plate,
 An' we'neday night prayer meetin'
 Seldom
 Finds me very late,
 Except when spring comes on, an' then
 The mint smell makes me dry;
 Yer Uncle Ben is happiest when
 The mint is in the rye.

There's no use talkin'; there's a time,
 Likewise there is a place,
 When every Christian has a chance
 To tumble down from grace,
 An' when mint julep time comes round,
 No matter how I try,
 Yer Uncle Ben indulges when
 The mint is in the rye.

No Say We All of Us.
 When I was just a little boy
 My gran'ther used to say,
 "Just keep on growing, sonny, and You'll be a man some day."
 Ah, would my gran'ther could decree
 Another kind of joy,
 And I could grow the other way
 Until I was a boy!

The Distinction.
 "I don't see what right you have to turn up your antennae at me," said the clam. "I am as good as you are."
 "I deny it," said the lobster. "Anybody can be a clam, but in order to be a lobster one has to be born a lobster."
 —Chicago Tribune.

A Love Limerick.
 A dainty little maid who hailed from Tenn.,
 Whose little Celtic name was Bridget Hen,
 Was pierced through by Cupid's lance
 On a trip to Narragansett
 And exclaimed, "I'd like to have wan iv thim Minn."

Summer's Interpreter.
 Deep in the fragrant woods I heard
 The summer sing to me,
 And all the grove's green heart was stirred
 With haunting melody.
 So near she seemed I almost thought
 To see her face and press
 The lyric lips whose singing brought
 The hour such happiness.
 With joy the branches lightly shook
 Their leaves to hear her voice;
 Her music echoed in the brook
 And made the grass rejoice.
 It thrilled the golden air around;
 Its rapture moved the bees,
 Whose hum is heard turned into sound
 High in their honey trees.
 But not until there fell a hush
 Did I the secret know;
 'Twas her interpreter, the thrush,
 That sang for summer so.
 Across the world a liquid note
 Most exquisite and clear,
 All summer in the thrush's throat,
 The sweetness of the year!
 —Frank Dempster Sherman in Toth's Companion.

The Style of a "Dorothy Dodd"
 Let us assume that your Shoes fit you. Now what next? What is most important? Unquestionably style. Demand that a Shoe shall possess style. If it has style and little else, you want it. If it has not style, but everything else, you don't want it. The Style of a "Dorothy Dodd" is unique. It cannot be duplicated by any other maker, because the "Dorothy Dodd" is a totally different construction from any other ladies' Shoe made. It holds the foot firmly at the waist—that's the instep—and prevents the toes from slipping forward, thus giving a correct poise in walking. Yet it makes the foot look nearly a whole size smaller. That's curious, and you won't believe it till you see it. Just for once try the Style of a "Dorothy Dodd." Sincerely yours,
