Even the no-license towns have recently been quite wet.

Figures show that most of the arrested drunks in Boston are outsiders, from prohibition towns. The larger places in Vermont are having about the same experience. Is it because the residents of the licensed towns can "carry" more?

Says the Providence Journal: Senator Hanna was very emphatic three years ago in impressing upon Theodore Roosevelt that he owed it to his party to accept second place on the ticket with William McKinley. But the suggestion that he himself should make the same sacrifice next year the senator hails as a joke. "Force me to do anything I don't want to do?" he is quoted as retorting. "I guess they had better take another subject if they are going to pursue those tactics."

General Joseph Hooker—"Fighting Joe"—had no liking for the character of a fighter and objected to the title bestowed on him by his comrades. He is said to have himself stated the reasons, as follows:

"Fighting Joe Hooker" always sounds to me as if it meant "Fighting Fool." It has really done much injury in making the public believe I am a furious, headstrong fool, bent on making furious dashes at the enemy. I never fought without good purpose and with fair chance of success. When I have decided to fight, I have done so with all the vigor and strength I could command.

BREEDING PELICANS.

Uncle Sam's New Venture Down on Florida's East Coast.

Uncle Sam is now the possessor of a private aviary of his own, where he is breeding brown pelicans by the wholesale, says a Washington special dispatch to the Pittsburg Dispatch. The reservation was acquired by the government several weeks ago, but nothing was said about it, as the birds were breeding and there was danger of swarms of visitors breaking up their domestic habits by constantly calling upon them. Pelican island, situated off the east coast of Florida, has long been a sightseeing point, covered by hundreds of brown pelicans, and it also wooed hunters in large numbers until there was every evidence of these interesting birds becoming extinct.

Pelican island is the only place on the east coast where they breed in colonies. Fearing for the safety of the birds Secretary Wilson secured an order making it a government reservation, appointed a warden and gave him instructions that no one should be allowed to land on the island without the order of the secretary of agriculture. The birds have for years been sought for their beautiful plumage.

Where Mexico Leads.

The Mexican postal department has taken a new and novel means of informing the public of the weather bulletins given out by the weather bureau, says Modern Mexico. Every letter which passes through the office is now stamped with the indications for the next twenty-four hours. This stamping is done at the same time that the postage stamps on the letters are canceled and the receiving stamp affixed.

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

Farmer Dunn, the New York weather man, predicts that thermometers will go above 90 before the end of the week.

William Loeb, Jr., secretary of the president, accompanied by Mrs. Loeb, will be the guests of his old friend, Norman Burdick, at Ferrisburgh and Etwinoma, in Poultney, for a few weeks in July and August.

Albert M. Prouty resigns his commission as postmaster at Marlboro after a continuous service of nearly 30 years. Mr. Prouty will be succeeded by M. E. Baxter, a merchant, who expects to take possession of the office July 1. The average annual salary of the office is about $70.

Vermont's latest annual showing of an output of 25,480,670 pounds of butter and 5,922,854 pounds of cheese may be said to afford substantial evidence of the fact that farming is not quite played out here in New England, and that the old-fashioned dairy still flourishes in the Green Mountain state.—Boston Herald.

One of the pleasant events of commencement time at Lasell Seminary, Boston, was the marriage at Barton Landing, the home of both the parties, of Prof. G. M. Winslow, teacher of natural science, and Miss Clara M. Austin, A. B., teacher of English, both great favorites in the school. The bride and groom sailed for Europe June 11, on the steamer New England.

Frank A. Ward, aged fifty-five years, died at his home in Middlesex on Monday night at 12 o'clock as a result of a shock. He retired apparently in good health, and shortly before midnight his wife noticed his peculiar breathing and spoke to him, but he could not answer and before the assistance of a physician could be secured he was dead. The deceased has two brothers living in Frankfort, Mich., also a sister living in the west. He was the father of three sons, C. C., Harold and Raymond, all living in Middlesex. The funeral was held from the house this afternoon.

Hoosick Falls is preparing to take decided action in rearranging school book history, says a correspondent from Hoosick Falls, N. Y., to the Boston Herald. The people in this section of the state all know from many evidences brought to light that the battle of Bennington, so-called, was, as a matter of fact, fought at Wallonsack, which is a part of the town of Hoosick, Rensselaer county, N. Y. This year New Yorkers have decided that the time has come when the Empire state shall have proper credit and have set aside Saturday, August 15, for a grand celebration.

COLLEGE AND SCHOOL.

Hon. Dupont Guerry has been elected president of Wesleyan Female college.

Dr. B. J. Clgrand of Chicago has just been made the new dean of the dental department of the University of Illinois.

For the first time in the history of Beloit college, Wisconsin, women students this year carried off both first and second honors.

Professor O. A. Ewald of the Berlin university has arrived in this country and will give a series of lectures to several colleges of medicine.

A school of applied science has been created by the board of regents of the University of Iowa, and Professor L. G. Weld has been appointed director.

A new law in New Hampshire requires boards of education to place a flagstaff on every public school house in the district under their control and to procure a flag for display thereon under a penalty of $10 for neglect so to do.

New Shoe Laces.

Re-enforce new shoe laces with silk twist by sewing them lengthwise in running stitches three or four times, stretching the laces to its extreme length with every line of stitching.

Consult the eye sight specialist for glasses at J. W. Holton's.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

A Nursery Rhyme.
 Twinkle, twinkle, little star,
 Though we know just what you are,
 Daughter of a street contractor,
 Taught to read and write and factor,
 Through a war of training forced,
 Married thrice and twice divorced;
 Fitted out with skirts and sandals,
 Diamonds, doilies, aprons and scandals—
 Though we know just what you are,
 Twinkle, twinkle, little star,
 —New York Times.

All That Was Necessary.
 The Cockatoo—But I don't see how you ever manage to swallow all that distance.

The Giraffe—Oh, I don't bother about swallowing. I trust entirely to the law of gravitation.—Puck.

Mary's Hairdresser.
 "Do you like the way Mary does her hair?"

"Oh, well, you must remember that Mary's mother isn't as young and palinstaking as she was."—Denver News.

A Welcome to Shamrock Hill.
 Right hearty we welcome a Shamrock since more,
 Rejoicing that safely she came to our shore.

Extending our hand, with best wishes we greet
 Each true hearted sailor on Tom Lipton's feet.

Like every true sportsman, Sir Thomas has pluck;
 Like every good fellow, he smiles at ill luck.

Indeed he's a brick, and love him we do,
 In all sorts of weather his heart's good and true.

And, though his new boat is his finest and best,
 As she is doomed to defeat, like the rest!

No gambler man ever sailed for the cup;
 No matter how beaten, he still keeps it up.

Come on, then, Sir Thomas, and meet our new boat;
 Meet with our wonder, the fastest afloat.

Exciting and thrilling the races will be,
 Ending, as always, in our victory.
 —Brooklyn Times.

Choice of Evils.

Wife—It's time to clean house once more.

Husband—Can't you let it go?

Wife—I don't see how I can.

Husband—Well, let me suggest a plan. Instead of cleaning house we'll move.

POLITICAL POINTERS.

Young man, don't brace your future against the back of a politician. Be a politician if you please, but never depend on one.—Schoolmaster.

The last days of congress, the last days of a legislature and the last days of a city council are always to be dreaded by the taxpayers as the period when recklessness, extravagance and jobbery have full swing.—Omaha Bee.

Good government is within reach of every American community. In no single city does the corrupt or corruptible element constitute a really formidable force. It is the spirit of indifference alone that furnishes the boodler with a chance of victory.—San Francisco Call.

LAW POINTS.

The right of a riparian owner to use a navigable stream for floating logs is held in Hutton versus Webb (N. C.), 59 L. R. A. 53, not to be derived from the state, and it is held that he cannot be deprived of such right without just compensation.

A street car passenger who is ejected from a car to which he is transferred because of a mistake not noticed by him in the transfer slip given him by the conductor to whom he had paid his fare is held in Lawshe versus Tacoma R. and P. company (Wash.), 59 L. R. A. 350, to be entitled to recover substantial damage from the company.

DAMES AND DAUGHTERS.

Hatty Green is probably the wealthiest woman in the United States. Her wealth is estimated at about $30,000,000.

Miss M. A. Rice, a sweet, petite Texas blond beauty, was the first woman who entered the Thunder mountain mining district during its great boom last spring.

Mrs. Nelssen of Bessemer, Mich., decided to carry on the business left by her husband, who has lately died. She is therefore at the head of the leading blacksmith and wagon shop in the town.

Miss Annie Peck, the mountain climber, has left for Bolivia and says she will not return home until she has climbed Mount Sorrata and planted her alpenstock upon its hitherto unconquered crest.

Louise Michel, now an exile living near London, is the person perhaps most particularly interested in the closing of the century old prison at Clermont in France. She spent many weary days of compulsory silence in the place.

Miss Bessie Shipp, who is the farming partner of her friend, Miss Helms, near Millington, Tenn., has been appointed road overseer for road district No. 19 in her state. She is an attractive and businesslike young woman of twenty-five.

Having won the degree of master of arts at the New York university after a three years' course of study, Mrs. Charles H. Truax, wife of Judge Truax, will begin active work in a philanthropic society that will look after poor inebriates.

Lady Balfour of Bureleigh, the wife of the secretary for Scotland, is a sister of Lord Aberdeen and as such Scotch of the Scotch, her youth having been spent at Haddo House, while much of her married life has also been passed north of the Tweed. She takes a keen interest in everything that concerns the education of women.

TURF TOPICS.

Twenty-eight thousand two hundred and sixty-one trotters and pacers are in the standard list.

The "monkey horse," as the gray trotter Darwin is sometimes called, is now eating his oats in Doc Tanner's stable.

A sister to the Mambrino King pacer King Charles, 2:08½, was sold in Boston recently for $57. She was sold for a saddle mare.

The Bow Bells pacer Beaucaunt, 2:12, will be tried again this year in the hope of getting a record as fast as his trial of 2:18.

It is doubtful if the Toledo horsemen got their much talked of mile track this year. It has been hanging fire quite a long time.

Locanda, 2:07½, that raced so successfully around the Boston tracks last year, is now at Readville in the stable of James Brodline.

L. B. Lindsay has his stable of trotters and pacers at the Spokane track. In the lot is Le Roy, 2:10½, and a full brother to Carlye Carnie.

Morning Star, by Star Pointer, that has been entered in all the stow pacing stakes by Dave McCleary, paced a mile better than 2:10 last year.

Moon and Weather.

When the moon moves south in her orbit abundance of rain will follow, but when she goes north drought is to be expected, says the government astronomer of Australia.

Miners and Quartermen.

There are 4,500,000 miners and quartermen in the world.

Feast of the Arrow.

The feast of the arrow is a Persian festival. It commemorates the feat of Arish, who at evening shot the famous arrow which fell 500 miles away by 12 o'clock the next day.
