He will probably take the alternate sentence of 105 days at Rutland. He had just finished a ten days sentence in county jail last Saturday.

At the meeting of the Montpelier city council Wednesday evening it was voted to macadamize East State street as far as Hubbard streets and Superintendent of Streets Roberts estimated the cost at $1,200. Mr. Roberts, with City Engineer Smith, were busy yesterday estimating the cost of building concrete walks on sections of Barre, Elm and Loomis streets and First avenue, reports to be submitted at the special council meeting.

The marriages in Barre from 1709 to 1850, compiled by William T. Dewey and James F. Dewey of Montpelier, will soon be issued in the Antiquarian. Like the Montpelier list and those of other towns they will probably be issued in pamphlet form. In the event of anything happening to the town records it insures their preservation. Many people who have been unable to get track of the marriages of their ancestors commend the scheme, and wonder how the search was performed.

George Allan Mosher of Boston, who is quite well known in this city as the representative of the cordage firm of Winslow & Co. of Boston, was married to Gertie Elvira Whitcomb of Montpelier at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard P. Whitcomb of Barre street in the latter city Wednesday evening. Rev. L. K. Williams performed the ceremony. The bride was for many years employed as a stenographer in the office of James M. Bontwell, and is a popular and highly esteemed young lady.

TIMELY TOPICS.

The vice presidential bee is naturally disconsolate at so seldom finding a bonnet that he may call his own.—Judge.

Teach your boys breadwinning and your girls bread making, and the divorce mills will soon run out of grit.—Dallas News.

If Wall street was as conservative in financial operations as it is in politics the stock market would be in better condition than it is.—Detroit Free Press.

The agricultural department of the country is lucky. It is the only one which can use grafting methods with out subjecting itself to sapoleon.—Baltimore American.

A country which is free from lying intrigues hasn't much need of diplomacy. She can be open and fair in a proclamation of her rights and properly resentful if she is imposed on.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Professor Wiley of the agricultural department had no trouble finding forty volunteers on which to experiment with supposed poisonous foods. And the army and navy are advertising for men!—Omaha World-Herald.

Strange Currency.

In Dahomey, according to a French official report recently issued, the currency is cowrie shells, of which a sack of 20,000 is considered the equivalent of $1.50. Seven hundred cowries are worth about 5 cents.
