 Published Every Weekday Afternoon.
 Entered at the postoffice at Barre as second class matter.
 SATURDAY, AUGUST 29, 1903.

The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

2,795

A GAIN OF 400

In the daily circulation of the Times since Jan. 1st is something no other Washington county daily can show.
 The circulation statements of the Times can always be verified by anyone who so wishes. Press room, circulation books, paper bills and all that pertains to the circulation of the Times are open to the inspection of all. In there any other Washington county daily that will show up in like manner?

Turkey promises well—but she always does that. It requires the presence of a few war ships to remind her that she must keep her promises.

The first test of Colonial Secretary Chamberlain's fiscal proposals for a protective tariff for England came yesterday in the election in Argyleshire, where his party in the previous election had a majority of 600. In yesterday's election, J. S. Ainsworth, the liberal candidate, who represented the opposition to Chamberlain's high tariff policy, was elected by a majority of over 1500.

A correspondent in yesterday's Times thought it impossible for one to sell much liquor under the prohibitory law without detection and punishment. The correspondent was certainly not very familiar with the workings of the old law, if such is really his belief. It is well known that while many a man was ready to take his chances with the local or state government under the old law, very few of them were ready to take chances with Uncle Sam and so took out government licenses. H. C. Gleason of Burlington, deputy collector of internal revenue, is authority for the statement that not one half as many receipts for the payment of the government tax for the sale of liquor will be issued this year as were last, and only three or four are issued to others than regularly licensed dealers. Now if there was not open selling under the old law, why did they take out government licenses?

The editor of the Bellows Falls Times has been requested to keep the name of some drunk out of his paper. He isn't the first or only editor to be asked such a favor, but he nevertheless improves the occasion to point a moral, and it is so worthy of a wider reading, a part of his editorial is reprinted:

It is a peculiar freak of human nature that a man will deliberately set about getting drunk and yet is unwilling to accept the results of his own voluntary action. No matter if he isn't getting but $1.50 per day and the clothes on his back are not paid for, the minute he strikes a bar room he becomes a liberal-hearted philanthropist. He may tell his wife that he cannot afford to buy her a new dress, but when he is in a bar room he can afford to "set 'em up" to all his friends. He may haggle with the clothing man over fifty cents for an hour, but he doesn't even count the change that the bartender shoves back to him. After he gets well lubricated, makes a fool of himself about the streets, spends a night in the cooler and pays $5 and costs, he begins to cry baby. He is no longer the philanthropist willing to pay for all the whiskey Mike, Tom, John and the rest can drink. He begins to be afraid that somebody will hear that he got drunk, and the first thing he thinks of is the newspaper. He asks the justice and the policeman if his line cannot be kept out of the newspaper. Of course they tell him that they are not running the newspaper, and his next move is to visit the office. He has just enough bravado left to say that he personally doesn't care a rap, but he has a wife, or children, or an aged mother and their knowing that he had been drunk would be a sad blow.

Police news is legitimate news and the paper which does not print the record from week to week is not doing the square thing by its readers. The man who keeps sober has nothing to fear, and the time to think of the dear wife, the sweet children and the poor old ma is while he is sober. The man who systematically sets about to get drunk is not deserving of much sympathy or consideration. If he is not willing to accept the results of his own free action he had better be relegated to the nursery.

Amendment to Sec. 9, Chapter 11, of the City Ordinances, presented to the Board of Aldermen August 19th, 1903, and read once, and referred to the Committee on Legislation to report back for a second reading.

Reported back August 25th, 1903, to the Board of Aldermen and amended and, as amended, adopted.

JAMES MACKAY, Clerk.
 Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Barre as follows:
 That Sec. 9 of Chapter 11 of the City Ordinances of the City of Barre is hereby amended to read as follows, viz:

Sec. 9—Before laying paving on any street, the Street Commissioners shall cause the City Engineer to make an accurate survey of said street, lane or alley, and plot the same on a map which shall show the location of all sewer pipes, gas pipes, city water pipes, private water pipes, electrical conduits, culverts and any other things which may be necessary to dig up for repairs in the future, and which is to be buried in said street, lane or alley; said plan shall be kept on file in the City Engineer's office. Said street Commissioners shall cause to be carried to the curb all sewer connections; all service pipes for water and gas mains, and all water shut-offs; and said Street Commissioners shall not have any street, lane or alley unless said street, lane or alley has first been properly laid out, surveyed and placed on record and permanent monuments set on all angle points and intersections, nor until the grade shall have been established and put on record, and all sewer and water pipes have been laid.

But in case either the City Council or the Street Commissioners shall so decide, the Street Commissioners shall give at least ten days notice to any person, company or corporation now having, or that may hereafter lay, pipes in said streets, to carry their service pipes for water, gas or sewage to the outside line of the streets, so as to accommodate the various properties along or upon said streets in the manner that may be designated by said Street Commissioners in said notice, but in case any such person, company or corporation shall fail or neglect to comply with said notice, such person, company or corporation shall be fined not to exceed one hundred dollars for such neglect or refusal.

Barre City Clerk's Office,
 Barre, Vt., August 28th, 1903.
 I hereby certify that the within copy is a true copy as appears by the files and records of this office, this day examined and compared by me, Attest:

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

A puff ball found in the woods near Vergennes, Vt., the other day, had a girth of four feet nine inches and a diameter of eighteen inches; it weighed 164 pounds.

The apple crop in Grand Isle county will be the best for many years. The fruit is large and very smooth. The pear crop will be light and only a small crop of plums. There is a large acreage of beans, and with a warm September a large crop may be looked for.

Cards are out announcing the approaching marriage of Dana Lynn Chadwick, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Chadwick of Bethel and Harriet Adelle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Fisher of Cabot, which will take place at the Congregational church in Cabot, September 3.

A branch of the Granite Cutters' National Union was organized in Bethel, August 14, and the following officers were elected: R. F. Perkins, president; John King, vice president; Hugh McDonald, corresponding and financial secretary; S. Perkins, J. W. Warren and A. H. C. Knowles, grievance committee. Sixteen cutters at present compose the union.

Here is the What Comedy company touring the state with Ned Woodley and Lew Strong taking the leading parts, while Mrs. Strong is in the cast and Mrs. Woodley is the troupe's pianist. It will be remembered that these parties figured in the somewhat sensational marriage at Lyndonville about a month ago, the young ladies being well known residents of West Burke. The course of true love is now running smooth and to borrow from the stage, "All's Well that Ends Well."—St. Johnsbury Caledonian.

A. F. Edwards leaves Waterbury next week for the northern part of New York state, where he will hunt for ginseng plants. Mr. Edwards considers that ginseng root and gold are equivalent, and has commenced raising ginseng. He recently purchased a strip of land near his house, 60 by 10 feet, which he calls his ginseng farm. This land he has spaded and mixed with woods soil and fertilizer in order to have it as near as possible like the soil in which the ginseng plant grows. He has already set out 655 plants and expects by fall to have 1000 plants growing. He has room enough on his farm to grow 1500 plants.
