

THE BARRE DAILY TIMES

Subscriptions: One year, $3; one month, 25 cts; single copy, 1 cent.
Members of the Publishers' Press.—The latest telegraphic news from all parts of the world are received by the Daily Times up to the hour of going to press.
Frank E. Langley, Publisher.

Published Every Weekday Afternoon.
Entered at the postoffice at Barre as second class matter.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1903.

The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

2,730

A GAIN OF 400

In the daily circulation of the Times since Jan. 1st is something no other Washington county daily can show.

The circulation statements of the Times can always be verified by anyone who so wishes. Press room, circulation books, paper bills and all that pertains to the circulation of the Times are open to the inspection of all. Is there any other Washington county daily that will show up in like manner?

One man remarked rather facetiously this morning while starting out for work that this was the real labor day and that yesterday was a mere make-believe.

Even Washington county court became inoculated with the Labor Day spirit yesterday, and the wheels of justice were temporarily checked in honor of the day.

A man amenable to the anti-treating clause of the license law, who treats his friend from a long-necker, while both are outside the four walls of a saloon? It is a question recently raised in Montpelier. The man who received the drink undoubtedly thought he was being "treated" well, but whether the law covers such an action is another question.

The Barre Boys' club, designed for the purpose of keeping young boys off the streets and affording them opportunities to indulge in healthy games and reading, is doing a good work in this city. The report of the superintendent shows that the club has a very large membership, and what is more the boys are taking advantage of the excellent chances presented for amusement and study. Such a commendable work should have the hearty support of all the citizens of Barre.

The thousands of people who participated in the celebration of labor's holiday yesterday in this city will declare that never was Labor Day more fittingly and successfully observed in Barre. It is safe to assert also that never was there a more complete observance of a holiday, national, state or purely local. It was labor's holiday. The wheels of industry were stopped, the phases of business were closed and everywhere were to be noted the signs that the toilers of the city, in whatever branch, were engaged in celebrating a day which has come to have a peculiar significance. It was a fitting recognition of labor, that mighty factor in the industrial world.

JOURNALISM.

Accuracy should be the watchword of the school of journalism which is to be established at Columbia university.—Western Electrician.

Speaking of schools of journalism, Horace Greeley said the real student lived on ink and slept on a pile of newspapers.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A school of journalism cannot produce a good newspaper man any more than a school of law can produce a good lawyer.—Philadelphia North American.

If Mr. Pulitzer's school of journalism does nothing more than to teach the New York reporters not to "fake," the $2,000,000 will be well invested.—Boston Globe.

There was a time when the superlatives flourished that only practical printers could become accomplished editors. There is now a belief that only a newspaper office can train newspaper men. Mr. Pulitzer may be able to show that this theory is no less erroneous than its predecessor.—Detroit Free Press.

CHURCH AND CLERGY.

Pope Pius X. is the same age as was Leo XIII. when the latter was elected—sixty-eight.

Rev. Frank Russell, the new chaplain of Sing Sing prison, New York, has for many years been a hard worker for prison reform.

Of the fifty-nine Presbyterian congregations in London, England, three-fourths are carrying on mission work in the churches themselves and the forty-two halls and rooms, employing thirty-one salaried and nearly a thousand voluntary workers.

The Right Rev. Mgr. O'Reilly, prothonotary apostolic, an intimate of Popes Pius IX. and the late Leo XIII. is a recluse at Mount St. Vincent. He lives in the "cucule" built by Edwin Forrest, the tragedian. On Sept. 29 he will reach his ninetieth year.

We're Prepared to Collar the World

This season in the latest shapes, from the highest Standing Collar to the lowest Turn-down, in all grades and qualities that are good. To introduce our "Union Made" and "Armor Brand" Collars, we are going to sell them for one week, beginning today, for 10 cents each. We guarantee them the equal of, if not better than, any regular 15-cent Collar sold in Barre.

We have Cravats appropriate for every style.

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

H. A. Allen's creamery at his residence in Milton was burned Saturday night, together with the corn barn adjoining. There was no insurance.

Mrs. S. Marnes and twelve-year-old daughter, Maggie, of West Haven while berrying one day recently, killed a rattlesnake which had six rattles.

The Boston Sunday Herald devotes a page to views of St. Johnsbury with a brief sketch of the Fairbanks Industries and of the founding of the town.

The short peach crop in southern Vermont is well illustrated in the experience of S. E. Miller of Danvers, who has gathered but six peaches from about 1800 trees, which last year yielded several hundred bushels.

Rev. W. W. Hooper, pastor of the Universalist church at Belows Falls, is gaining something of a reputation as an author. He has already published one or two books for boys and a new book will be published before the holidays.

The September number of the New England Magazine contains an article, "The Carrara of America," by Orin Edson Crocker, in which is told the story of the Vermont Marble Co., and its extensive quarrying operations in Rutland county. The article is illustrated.

Owen F. Aldis, son of the late Judge Asa O. Aldis of St. Albans, a native of St. Albans but now a wealthy resident of Chicago, proposes to convert the eminence northeast of that city known as Aldis hill, and owned by him, into a public park and a playground for the children of St. Albans.

Four more fully developed cases of small pox were discovered in Bennington Saturday afternoon. Some of them had been down with it for several days with no medical attendance. The house was immediately put in charge of the police and tonight the four were taken to the pest house and the house thoroughly fumigated. There is no panic. All of the cases are in the same family and same building.

GOWN GOSSIP.

Colored lace waists will be worn a great deal.

Many of the early fall street suits are developed in printed velveteens.

Flared hems and flounces are scarcely seen at all and will shortly be relegated to complete oblivion.

Flowers cut from velvet and applied on thin materials such as chiffon and silk muslin will be seen on wearers of the frocks.

White lace embroidered or applied with satin roses is one of the new trimmings. Apparently, artificial flowers are to be worn a great deal with evening gowns.

With the new tight fitting waist an entirely new skirt becomes a necessity. Generally speaking, skirts are narrower, straighter and stiffer than they have been.—New York Post.

THE ROYAL BOX.

Emperor William of Germany now smokes a short pipe when yachting.

Queen Wilhelmina's consort, Prince Henry, enjoys the interest of the sum of £1,000,000, settled on him by his wife. He can do as he likes with the interest, but he must not touch the capital.

Emperor Francis Joseph always chooses his own menu, making a selection of the dishes he prefers from a list sent to him every evening. Wine he cares little for, preferring the home-brewed glass of beer. He is a great smoker.

King Peter has conferred the Order of the White Eagle (fifth class), the highest in Serbia, upon his son, the Crown Prince George and Prince Alexander, his brother, Prince Arsen Karageorgevitch, and upon his nephew, Prince Paul.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

Artifice.
A lover's maid once feigned
Her ankle to have sprained,
To make her suitor Unlace her boot or Massage the muscle strained.
Sixty-nymph! Instead
He turned and fled,
While she, quite unasked,
Got up and washed.
—Town Topics.

Then She Wept.
Mrs. Newlived—I made a big batch
Of these biscuits today.
Mr. Newlived—You did, indeed, dear.
Mrs. Newlived—How do you know how big a batch I made?
Mr. Newlived—Oh, I thought you said "botch."—Philadelphia Ledger.

It Does.
Do Style—The future looks black for him.
Gunbusta—What makes you think so?
Do Style—He's going to join a ministril troupe.—New York Times.

Luck.
"They say a horseshoe over the door brings luck."
"I would rather have an automobile before the door."—Town Topics.

No Hope For Them.
All weaking poets should be told,
Who strive to woo the muse,
That, though the muse is rather old,
She's likely to refuse.
—Philadelphia Press.

Ah, There!
Mr. Bragg—She's just crazy to marry me.
Miss Sweetly—Naturally; any girl would be.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Words and Deeds.
Great schemes by conversation,
Plans are often hatched;
We stop to talk things over Until they're overtalked.
—Washington Star.

The Obstacle.

Farmer—No need to warn him. He is studying his map, and he will surely see that there is an obstacle in the road.

WOMAN WINS ODE CONTEST

Mrs. Gilbert McClurg of Colorado Honored by Irrigation Congress.

An ode by Mrs. Gilbert McClurg of Colorado Springs has been unanimously chosen over fifty competing odes submitted to the national irrigation congress to be set to music and sung by 200 voices at the opening of the congress in Ogden, Utah, says the Chicago Evening Post. The first of the odes follows:

THE DESERT.
(Recitative)—Oh, desert land!
(The land of the smiling sun glare, deep blue of the star pierced night,
Of rock piled heights and chasms, awe fright to the dizzying sight,
Where the shadow ever chases the light of the blinding day
With purple and pink and crimson, opes-cense and far away!
The candlesticks of the cactus flame trobles here upon Sunflower stalks and feathery mustard spread fields of the cloth of gold,
The polished cups of amole are circled with spears of thorn,
When the desert wind arises, and they fade as they were born!
The rainbow colored spaces, wan and withered in a breath, Bones of man and beast lie together under mirage mock of death!
(Chorus.)
Life of sky and sand awaking to prophecy when all is done;
Land of the desolate people, born of stre-go and sun!
(Recitative)—Oh, desert land!
Mrs. McClurg expects to be present at the convention.

HORSES IN PALACE CARS

Milwaukee Millionaire Takes His Pets to New German Home.

In palace cars the most elaborate money could buy, fitted out with every comfort and safety appliances, eighteen driving horses, the pets of Jacob Heyl, a young millionaire, who left Milwaukee the other day, began part of their long trip to the great Heyl Schaudin estates in Germany, says the Philadelphia Press.

When Mr. Heyl decided to quit America he was worried as to what he should do with his horses. Offers as high as $20,000 were made for the string, but his heart failed him with the mere thought of parting with the beauties, so it was decided to take them along and in first class style.

The Cup Winner.

Cheers for Reliance, three times three!
White winged wonder, our hopes are borne.
Winning from Shamrock Number Three,
Swift as the gulls that haunt our shore!
Grandly she sailed to victory,
With spray dashed prow, her wake pale brine,
Instinct with life she seemed to be,
Rushing on toward the finish line.

Oh, like a frightened thing, she flew;
The salt sea hissed, set taut each sail,
By windward gunwale crouched the crew,
Her living ballast, "neath the rail,
Her helmsman's wish she seemed to feel,
Leaping through foam on homeward run,
Trembling from truck to leaden keel, While thousands cheered, the cup she won!

A New Motor.

Mechanical, electrical and steam engineers are interested in a steam carbon motor invented by William Dieter, who says it will revolutionize the automobile industry. The invention is called a steam hydro carbon motor, and one of twenty-nine horse power is on exhibition in Brooklyn. Mr. Dieter said recently to a reporter of the New York Herald: "My invention eliminates defects in the steam and gasoline motors and combines the good qualities of each. It has double the power of the other motors of the same size and weight. It has no stuffing boxes, which in ordinary motors require a great deal of care and unless handled by experienced engineers are apt to consume a large percentage of the power developed by the engine. One of the features of this motor is that it has gasoline cylinders attached. Its construction permits traveling over rough roads or carrying heavy loads."

Now's the Time

To Visit the Busy Store!

Come and see the beautiful new Fall goods that are being unpacked daily. Case after case, to say nothing of express packages, have been received at our store the past week. There's case after case to follow. Many of our new Fall Novelties in Ladies' Waistings (no two patterns alike) were taken up the past week with a rush by ladies of good taste, who pronounced them far ahead of those displayed elsewhere, and our prices are most reasonable—that's what has made our great business. It is easy to distinguish between our values and those offered you elsewhere. We opened our store to the public, last December, without a single customer. Now ours is the busiest Dry Goods store in the city. There must be a good reason for the steady increase in our business. Think it over.

AMERICAN LEAGUE NOTES.

Billy Lush is playing wonderful ball for Detroit.

The extent of Ralph Orthwein's holdings in the St. Louis club is $5,000.

First Baseman Carey of the Washingtons has joined the Nashville team.

Manager McAleer claims that the St. Louis club will break even on the season.

Outfielder O'Neill of Duffy's Milwaukee club has been secured by the Boston club.

Catcher McFarland has been suspended by Chicago for the remainder of the season.

Long Tom Hughes is one of the few great pitchers who recovered the use of a broken arm.

St. Louis is negotiating with the Milwaukee Western league club for Third Baseman Cockman.

Robinson is now playing right field for Washington. He has done a lot of shifting round this season.

Catcher Kittredge has made his first error in thirty games with Washington. He accepted 148 chances.

PEN, CHISEL AND BRUSH.

The Kaiser has granted out of his privy purse an annual life pension to the unfortunate poet Detlev von Lili-ermeron, the Lovelace of modern Germany.

Mrs. Elizabeth Pennell will write the authorized life of the late James Mac-Neill Whistler. All of the great artist's papers and letters have been given into her hands.

Dr. Max Nordau, the brilliant Jew who "did his best to stammer humanity" with his "Degeneration" a few years ago, has reached his fifty-fourth year. He is at work on a new book, it is said, which will "again shake up the literary public."

Adrian Jones, the English sculptor, has been commissioned to execute a bronze equestrian statue of General Dulier, to be erected in Devonshire.
The funds for the statue, amounting to £1,500, were raised by public subscription.

Headache.

For headache make the following solution: Mix a handful of salt in a quart of water, adding one ounce of spirits of harshorn and one-half ounce of emphorated spirits of wine. Soak a cloth with this and apply to the forehead, wetting it as it becomes dry.

Milk in England.

The people of England drink some 800,000,000 gallons of milk in a year.
