The tobacco is now ready to cut and he has fitted over the piazza of his summer cottage into a sweating shed for the leaf. Outside of the region about the lake it is doubtful if much success would be had with tobacco in Vermont. Mr. Ballard will branch out larger next season if he has good luck this year.

PIGEON PIE.

Pigeons usually pair for life.

Some pigeons nest in trees, others in rocks.

Carrier pigeons are not homers, as is generally believed.

Pigeons invariably lay only two eggs, but breed several times in the year.

Pigeons live about eight years, but they are only prolific for half that period.

Each pair of pigeons must have two nests, as before a young pair can go out of the nest or feed themselves the old ones will be sitting again.
