"Times, of Course"

That's what all the newsboys say when asked which Barre paper sells the best. There is no doubt about it.

The Northfield burglars who attempted to rob a newspaper office must have been woefully deluded mortals to try such a thing. We understand that they secured six cents.

The local foot ball season may be said to have really begun when Goddard and Montpelier get together on the gridiron. These two teams are the "giants" of preparatory schools teams of Vermont and their annual contests attract unusual attention. As for the prospects of the game the odds seem to favor Goddard.

Vermont needs one or two good old fashioned hangings and this epidemic of murders that is afflicting the state will come to an end. In the opinion of this paper the silly talk about abolishing the death penalty which some papers delight to indulge in has something to do with the alarming increase in the number of these crimes.—Swanton Courier.

That's about right, Mr. Courier.

The recent disastrous fire at Bristol, by which one of the largest industries of the town was burned out, has not discouraged the business men there. Already plans are being made to replace the large building with another equally as good so that the business of the Bristol Novelty Works may continue with but a temporary interruption. It takes considerable confidence to repair so serious a damage as this was to Bristol, but we are pleased to note that the business men of that place are taking hold of the matter.

The following reminds us most disagreeably of the conditions in this city:

"Bennington is sending up a wail about the poor train service given it by the Rutland railroad under its new schedule. Towns on the main line of the railroad are well pleased with the present service and have no complaint to make. Bennington's dissatisfaction is inherent to every town located on a side track and it cannot always be remedied."

There is a wee bit of consolation in the fact that Barre is not the only sufferer from the discomforts and inconveniences of being located about eight miles from a railroad. However, Barre is more to be pitied than Bennington for the volume of freight business here is very much larger; yet we have a kindred feeling for a town that is afflicted like unto our own. But notice how summarily the wail of Bennington is disposed of by the exchange from which the clipping was taken. The assertion is tantamount to saying that as long as you are on the spur track you are entitled to only passing notice, but if you will pick yourself up bodily and place yourself on the main line of the railroad, then you may have the privileges that we enjoy.

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

The dedication of the new Odd Fellows hall in Rutland will take place about December 1.

A. J. Boyce of Randolph has a vegetable freak in the shape of a cabbage stalk with eight heads.

Two bee hunters in Woodford one day last week cut down two trees and took from them about 70 pounds of honey. One of the party was not satisfied with the find. Another man near Manchester Center took off some of the clayboards from the house in which he lived and found three swarms of bees had located there. He took out almost 150 pounds of fine honey.

Louis T. Wilcox died suddenly at the home of Dr. S. R. Wilcox, an uncle, at Bennington, Friday. He came from Hoosick Falls on a trolley car and soon after leaving the car was taken with a hemorrhage, and died soon after. He was an expert machinist for the Walter A. Wood Co., and in that capacity visited many foreign countries. The last three years he had been located in France. A wife and child survive.

The case against Theodore Kupke, of Winoski, the ex-soldier, who was charged with selling liquor without a license, and whose case was postponed from last week, was taken up Friday in justice court. Kupke's place was raided some time ago and a quantity of malt found which upon analysis was found to contain more than four per cent of alcohol. Kupke was arrested and placed under $500 bonds. The trial resulted in finding the respondent guilty and a fine of $300 and costs was imposed, from which he appealed.

The Cheery Halloween.
 There are fun and joy in the thought
 Of the coming Halloween.
 When jack o' lanterns of the night
 Will brighten all the scene.
 Children are planning for the games
 Which on that night they'll play.
 And Babe and Julia and Jim and Jack
 Make merriment today.

And there are older children, too,
 Whose memories are fraught
 With Halloween of other years
 And pictures they have brought.
 Ah, the telling of the futures,
 The tub and bobbing games,
 The apples and lighted candles!
 (Look out for the whirling flames!)

And then the superstitions,
 The prophecies of mates,
 The hero and the fairy bride
 And the destiny and fates!
 'Tis said the friends of other years
 In Halloween's bright light
 Can stop from pictures on the wall
 And talk with us that night.

How beautiful is such a thought,
 And yet, 'tis strange to tell
 From memory's walls our friends look
 Down.

And memory's stories tell!
 —Buffalo News.

Royalty in Paris.
 Paris, Oct. 17.—King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Elena of Italy, escorted by President and Mme. Loubet, visited the mint, where medals in commemoration of their visit were struck off. The president presented their majesties with the first medals, and Finance Minister Rouvier offered the royal visitors two caskets containing unique specimens of counters used by members of the royal houses of France. Subsequently the party proceeded to the Hotel de Ville through dense crowds of people, who loudly acclaimed the Italian king. At the Hotel de Ville a reception was held by the municipality, at which notabilities of commerce, industry and the arts were present.

The New Jersey Legislature.
 Trenton, N. J., Oct. 17.—The senate and house transacted no business during the forenoon. The senate was waiting on the house and the house was waiting for a reprinted copy of the school bill, which had passed second reading. Finally the two houses met and temporarily adjourned. Considerable opposition has developed to sections 153 and 154 of the school bill relating to compulsory education, which provides that a child between the ages of seven and fourteen years must attend a public school every day unless excused by the local board of education. A violation of the provision makes the parent a disorderly person and subject to arrest.

Czar's Cousin Betrothed.
 Vienna, Oct. 17.—A newspaper of Bucharest announced the betrothal of the Grand Duke Cyril, son of the czar's uncle, Vladimir, to the divorced Grand Duchess Victoria of Hesse. The Grand Duchess Victoria Melita, daughter of the late Duke of Edinburgh, separated from the grand duke in 1901, the high court of Hesse granting the grand duke a divorce because of his wife's lively temper. She was accustomed when displeased to throw table things or bric-a-brac at her husband. The grand duchess now lives partly with her mother, the dowager Duchess of Saxe-Coburg and Edinburgh, and partly with her brother.

Zelaya Can't Leave Nicaragua.
 Panama, Colombia, Oct. 17.—Nicaraguan cable advices received here by way of Anjuita, Salvador, say the conference proposed by President Escalon of Salvador, Bonilla of Honduras and Zelaya of Nicaragua will take place Oct. 20 without the latter's presence, because the national assembly of Nicaragua has refused to permit him to leave the country.

Bank Robbers Capture a Town.
 Sioux Falls, S. D., Oct. 17.—The Bank of Viborg was robbed last night of $5,000. The robbers were seen by citizens, who did not dare to venture out, the main street being patrolled by armed robbers. Half of the money stolen was in gold. The robbers escaped on a hand car.

Big Cargo of Animals.
 New York, Oct. 17.—The Hamburg American line steamer Pretoria, from Hamburg, Boulogne and Plymouth, brought a large collection of rare animals for the Bronx zoological gardens.

Seats on Stock Exchange Cheap.
 New York, Oct. 17.—Seats on the Stock Exchange continue to decline. A sale of a membership at $51,000 is reported as against $52,000 last week. A year ago memberships were held at over $80,000.

Legislative Scandal in Hawaii.
 Honolulu, Oct. 17.—The federal grand jury is investigating a legislative scandal in connection with the house vouchers for the expenses of the session. It is reported that they have been destroyed.

May Be Papal Secretary of State.
