The Times' Daily Short Story.

SHE GOT HER TROUSSEAU

[Original.]

Ethan Arbuttle had got wind of a fine strike on the Benton claim, on the side of Jupper hill. He felt sure that no one except the owners of the claim knew of the find, and they were too busy laying plans for its development to concern themselves about any adjoining property. Arbuttle knew that the veins in Jupper hill ran east and west. To the west lay a large farm that had been already bought by capitalists. On the east lay ten acres owned by Amanda Gregory, an orphan of some twenty summers. Arbuttle had met the girl a number of times and once at a ball in a barn had danced with her so often as to excite the ire of Tom Flynn, a redheaded, freckled son of the well, who had been long used to consider Amanda as his particular property. Arbuttle had been rather ruffled than pleased with the episode; Amanda had seemed delighted.

The find on Tupper hill put an entirely new phase on the matter. The vein showed $200 in gold to the ton, gave evidence of widening as developed and must run through the property of Amanda Gregory, all of which meant that her ten acres might be worth anywhere from a few hundred thousand to a million dollars. It was for Arbuttle to decide, and decide at once, whether he would jump in and carry off the girl before it was known that she was rich. He would not have considered such a course for a moment had he not absolute evidence that the property adjoining Amanda's was a bonanza. He decided to strike for Miss Gregory and a fortune.

He invited the girl to drive with him and while bowling along told her that he had been captivated by her rustic beauty; that he had discovered an uncut gem; that he found it necessary to his happiness to forego a match with an heiress in the east provided Amanda would bestow herself upon him in her poverty.

Amanda listened with averted head. She thought of redheaded Tom Flynn, whom she liked, and compared him with the elegant Mr. Arbuttle, whom she did not love, but considered a prize far above an uneducated daughter of pioneers.

"I hadn't got nothin' for a trousseau," she said by way of reply.

"Never mind that," replied the wooer. "We will get one in Paris. After we are married it will be proper for me to pay for what you wear."

A man was coming down the road on foot. When he reached a point where he could be plainly seen he showed the freckled face of Tom Flynn. Amanda colored. Arbuttle looked ill at ease. Flynn scowled and passed on.

It was long after dark when Arbuttle brought Miss Gregory to a decision and turned toward her home.

JAPAN STILL EXCITED.

Anti-Russian Party Calls Upon Premier Katsura.

Tokyo, Nov. 12.—Premier Katsura received a deputation of the Anti-Russian league. He impressed the delegates with the necessity for complete unity and solidarity among the people in the face of the existing situation which, he declared, was most critical.

There is a strong inclination in well informed circles to doubt the pacific forecasts issued in Europe. It is believed here that peace will only be made possible by Russia's complete acceptance of Japan's claims regarding Manchuria. The Japanese government finds it increasingly difficult to restrain popular sentiment.

At an important dinner at the Imperial hotel, at which about 250 persons were present, representing all sections, a resolution was adopted amid the greatest enthusiasm declaring that the continued delay was detrimental to the national interests and to peace in the far east and urging the government to take prompt and decisive action.

Why Mukden Was Recaptured.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 12.—A dispatch from Port Arthur received here says in reference to the statement on the subject published in the foreign press: "It is declared here that the 400 troops ordered to Mukden were sent there solely for the purpose of restoring order. No other measures have been taken."

Millions in Mail Destroyed.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 12.—A fire in the mail car on the St. Petersburg-Moscow mail train is reported to have destroyed valuables estimated at $5,500,000. The post office authorities attribute the outbreak to spontaneous combustion and say 437 foreign parcels and eleven sacks of foreign mails, etc., were destroyed. The contents of thirteen bags of securities and bank notes were mostly saved.

Soldiers Home From Manila.

San Francisco, Nov. 13.—The transport Thomas has arrived from Manila. She has on board companies G and S of the Fifteenth cavalry, besides 114 enlisted men, 129 casuals, 32 sick, 2 insane and 33 general prisoners. The Thomas after leaving Nagasaki ran into a severe typhoon and suffered considerable damage from the storm.

Syracuse Official Under Charges.

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 12.—Dr. Edward L. Mooney, a school commissioner in this city, has given bail in the sum of $2,500 on the charge of bribery, an indictment having been found by the grand jury. The charge is that $300 was paid by a high school teacher for an appointment. The board of education investigated the matter, but was unable to secure legal evidence of wrongdoing and requested the district attorney of Onondaga county to probe the matter. Dr. Mooney is a prominent physician with a large practice.

Ballists Hold Up a Train.

Montreal, Nov. 12.—In order to satisfy a claim against the American Locomotive company ballists intercepted a freight train in the Grand Trunk yards at Point St. Charles and seized two engines in transit from Patterson, N. J., to the Sydney and Louisburg railway. The seizure was made at the instance of Sydney A. Stephens of Montreal, who claims that the company owes him $20,000 in unpaid commissions.

Coal Miners Get More Pay.

Salt Lake City, Nov. 12.—The coal miners of this state have been granted an increase of 10 per cent in their wages. Specimens from the different camps show that the advance has been general, the rate of pay being raised from $2.50 to $2.75 a day.

Morgan Will Not Retire.

New York, Nov. 12.—At the office of J. P. Morgan & Co. it is said that Mr. Morgan has no intention whatever of retiring from active business and that reports that he had such intention were entirely incorrect.

Run on Abbe Leigay's Bank.

Rome, Nov. 12.—The members of the congregations who examined the Abbe Leigay's last book purpose to have it put in the Index expurgatorius, especially on account of his interpretation of the Bible.

MINISTER FROM PANAMA

Character Sketch of Philippe Bunau-Varilla.

PARISIAN TO THE FINGER TIPS.

Diplomatic Representative of New Republic to the United States is Credited With the Boulevardier's Easy Manner Without Frivolity, Full of Energy and Enthusiasm, Always in Earnest—His Unceasing Work in Promoting the Canal.

It has been announced that the revolution in Panama was planned in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York by Philippe Bunau-Varilla, a handsome French engineer and stockholder in the Panama Canal company, who has appeared in Washington as the diplomatic representative of the republic of Panama, says James Creelman in the New York World.

It is a fact that M. Bunau-Varilla has been living at the Waldorf-Astoria this summer and has been in communication with the men who are supposed to have overthrown the authority of Colombia in Panama. He has been the protagonist in the effort to force the Panama canal bargain through. As a heavy stockholder and as the engineer who assisted De Lesseps on the isthmus he has fought desperately in public and in private to secure for his company the $40,000,000 promised by the United States.

I have seen and talked many times with this remarkable man. He is a Parisian to the finger tips, well groomed, witty and agreeable. He has the easy manner of the boulevardier, without frivolity. He is of a good figure, compact, graceful and not too tall. His face is plump and oval, dark eyes, small black mustache, strong chin and good natured mouth. He is full of energy and enthusiasm, quick in his movements, radiantly conciliatory in his manner. He is always in earnest.

The man who now speaks for the provisional government of Panama was at one time employed as an assistant to De Lesseps in the isthmian canal work at Panama. It was he who persuaded that hapless genius to abandon the idea of a sea level canal and substitute the lock system until the enterprise should have an income large enough to justify the completion of the work on a sea level basis. Before the great scandal in France compelled the abandonment of the canal as a French project M. Bunau-Varilla was actually in full charge of the construction forces on the isthmus.

His brother is the political editor of Le Matin, and he himself is a writer of some ability. He was a classmate of Captain Dreyfus and graduated as an engineer with honors. His acquaintance with the prisoner of Devil's Island gave him an opportunity to render an important service to those who brought about the captain's restoration to freedom. It was a note written by Captain Dreyfus to M. Bunau-Varilla which convinced his brother, the editor, that the alleged documentary evidence of treason upon which the officer was condemned was not written by Captain Dreyfus. Then followed the expose in Le Matin, which raised an outcry in France and resulted in the successful public agitation for a new trial.

There is something daring in the whole man. When he went to Washington to work against the Nicaragua canal route—at that time strongly endorsed by the canal commission—he went boldly to the opponents of the Panama route and tried to talk them over to his side. He even visited Senator Morgan, the champion of the Nicaragua idea, and vainly labored to change the veteran's mind. He made a tour of the western cities and lectured before commercial bodies on the superiority of the Panama route. Then he went back to Paris, convinced his fellow stockholders that they must sell at the price named by the United States and overthrow Maurice Hulin, the president of the company, who was holding out for more money.

He moved rapidly, brilliantly, audaciously. Night and day he stuck to his plans. Every instrumentality of intrigue or persuasion was wielded with tireless energy. He had a great fortune at stake, but he assured all who questioned his motives that he was inspired by his pride as an engineer, his desire to see a great work in which he had taken part finished successfully.

CHILDREN AS BAGGAGE.

A Couple's Odd Scheme to Beat a Railroad.

At Davenport, Ia., the other day a conductor on the Rock Island railroad discovered a six-year-old boy in a satchel and unearched a ten-year-old girl that had been placed in a sack, says a Des Moines (Ia.) dispatch.

This condition was the result of a desire on the part of a couple to travel without paying fare for their five offspring. They were below the half fare limit, but the two that were found secreted in such a novel manner were above it. Crises of the youth, whose smothered words, "I wanna get out!" attracted the attention of the conductor and resulted in the exposure of the scheme to beat the railroad.

Rock Salt to Star Fugitive Convicts.

Long barreled shotguns loaded with lead and rock salt will be supplied workhouse guards at Toledo, O., in the future to enable them to intimidate prisoners who desire to escape, says the Chicago Record-Herald.

The guards have instructions to use both barrels and not stop until the fugitive has been well staid.

KAISER CONValescent.

The Wound in His Throat Begins to Heal.

Berlin, Nov. 12.—The following bulletin regarding the condition of Emperor William, from whose throat a polyposus was removed on Saturday, has been issued at the New palace, Potsdam:

"His majesty is better for the week he took Tuesday. The wound made during the operation is in excellent condition and begins to grow smaller." The bulletin is signed by Drs. von Leutbold, Schmidt and Hberg.

The emperor, in a telegram to the municipality of Bremen for its congratulations on his favorable condition, added:

"I hope with a little care to be fully restored in a short time."

As the day is cloudy and damp, with intervals of rain, the emperor kept indoors. He is disposing of business almost as usual.

New Bulgarian Plot Disclosed.

Vienna, Nov. 12.—A dispatch received here from Sofia, Bulgaria, attributes the recent arrests of army officers to the discovery of a plot engineered by Bulgarian and Serbian officers to force a war upon Turkey, which was to be attacked by the combined armies of the two countries. A search of the quarters of officers at Philippopolis, Tirnova and other places in Bulgaria has revealed compromising letters and revolutionary documents directed against Prince Ferdinand as well as pamphlets advocating a union of Serbia and Bulgaria as being essential to the preservation of the southern Slav kingdom.

NEW FOOTBALL ARMOR.

Corsetlike Device Said to Have Been Used by Minnesota University.

F. H. Yost, coach of the University of Michigan football team, is authority for the statement that in the recent Michigan-Minnesota game players of the latter university team wore a new sort of protective armor, says a Detroit dispatch.

"When the men came on the field," said Yost, "I noticed that Schacht looked a good deal bigger even than he did last Thanksgiving day, so I went up and felt him. You can imagine how surprised I was when I found he had a sort of football corset on. Covering his stomach, sides and back, there was some sort of a stiff garment that felt like a jacket of barrel staves. It was probably padded inside, and his suit covered it completely from sight. As soon as they got into the game I saw what the use of that jacket was.

"Schacht was the best ground gainer. He would stand back of the line just behind the quarter back and with the other backs behind him. Harris would snap the ball, Schacht would take two steps and a jump, and then the rest would skate him along on his stomach like a big snow plow. I calculated he traveled about fifty yards through that game on his belly, and it all counted against Michigan. I never saw a big man slide along that way before.

"One of the boys who tackled Indian Rogers tells me that Rogers had the same make of corset on."

EVER SUMMER ON THE SUN

Astronomer Young Says Great Luminary Has Two Seasons.

In a statement made the other day Alexander Young, the Laporte (Ind.) astronomer, who has in the last year made several important discoveries concerning the condition and functions of the sun and has asserted the existence of life on that planet, announced his conclusions concerning the solar seasons.

He has found that the sun is blessed with a climate of perennial summer, divided between seven months of vernal or springlike summer and five of deciduous or autumnal summer marked by changes in the vast masses of forest foliage observed by him by the instrumentality of the solstices which he has invented. At this time the red and reddish brown hues prevail, to be replaced in January by the living green of summer.

Ready For Thanksgiving.

There is a happy editor out in Nebraska, and this is the way in which he announces it, says the Chicago Inter Ocean:

No wife to fear, no money in the bank. No tea to buy, no yelling kid to spank; A free lunch counter always ready at my hand— I ain't dwellin' in the promised land?

Dr. Hunter Probably Elected.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 12.—Incomplete returns from twelve of the nineteen counties composing the Eleventh congressional district, where a special election was held to elect a successor to the late Vincent Boring, show a plurality for Dr. W. Godfrey Hunter of a little over 1,000. This is subject to change, however, as only about one-half of the precincts in the district have been heard from.

Gen. William Hughes Kills Himself.

Glens Falls, N. Y., Nov. 12.—General William H. Hughes, assemblyman from Washington county, has committed suicide by hanging at his home in Granville. General Hughes was re-elected member of the assembly at the recent election. His financial failure and his subsequent course in bankruptcy proceedings were the sensation of the year in northern New York.

Diphtheria in Elmira Reformatory.

Elmira, N. Y., Nov. 12.—Superintendent Robertson of the Elmira reformatory reports a total of forty-five cases in the diphtheria epidemic at that institution. One additional death has occurred, Lewis Jaroslawski of Buffalo, making three, of which one may not have been due to diphtheria.

Fire Costs $300,000.

Albion, Ia., Nov. 13.—Fire that started in Love's dry goods store here destroyed a block of business houses, entailing a loss estimated at $300,000. The fire fighting facilities here consist of only one hose wagon. The flames, fanned by a strong wind, spread rapidly to other buildings and soon wiped out the entire block.

A New Field for Insurance.

More damage is done by water every year in England than by fire, yet we have fire insurance companies and no water insurance companies. Surely this suggests a new departure in insurance business, says the London Truth. The heavy and frequent rains and the floods this year must have injured or destroyed a vast amount of property.
