THAYER'S WINTER WOOD.

Massachusetts Congressman Wanted Leave of Absence to Gather H.

Mr. J. R. Thayer of Massachusetts, rising to a question of privilege in the house the other day, asked if a member would be considered derelict in his duty if he should go home to get in his winter's wood, with the understanding that he would return when the six or seven men who, he said, constitute congress should announce that something was to be done, says a Washington dispatch.

The speaker suggested that the question hardly amounted to a faint assault upon the dignity of a parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. Payne observed that he was about to request unanimous consent that the gentleman from Massachusetts be excused for the remainder of the session.
