A Mile Ride on a Wild Moose.

J. D. Campbell, a wealthy citizen of Duluth, Minn., recently had an exciting ride on the back of a huge bull moose forty miles north of Duluth. Campbell and a party of three others were hunting in the big swamp when suddenly they came upon the moose. Campbell mounted its back with a single leap, and away went the terrified animal through the thicket and brush. Campbell, who had expected no serious danger from his performance, clung desperately to his position on the animal, which after a wild run of a mile or more plunged into a slough, where the moose sank to its stomach, and its rider dismounted in safety, finally killing the moose with one shot.
