Five iron bridges and two railroad bridges have been swept away and miles of the Colorado Southern railroad tracks washed out. Thousands of acres of ranch and farm lands are inundated and many cattle are drowned.

DANCERS MADE MERRY.

Concert and Ball by Modern Woodmen Last Night.

The annual concert and ball of Camp 8980, Modern Woodmen of America, at Hale's pavilion last night, attracted a large number of people besides the members of the organization. All had a most enjoyable time, from the opening number of the concert programme at 8.30 o'clock to the final waltz of the dance order at 9 o'clock this morning. The programme contained selections by well known musicians and musical organizations with reading in French dialect by Dr. F. M. Lynde.

The programme was concluded with a drill by the Woodmen's team of sixteen men, under Arthur Gravelin, with two little girls, Gladys Gravelin and Frances Burke, accompanying the team in a part of its movements. The drill was given without a slip and showed most careful training. Many of the movements were most intricate, and the whole called forth hearty applause.

The grand march was led by Mr. Gravelin, with Miss Gomo, and the other members of the drill team in uniform formed next in line. There were about 60 couples of dancers on the floor. Mr. Gravelin, John Mercer and Thomas Doble acted as floor managers. Gilbertson's orchestra furnished excellent music for dancing. Shortly after midnight luncheon was served just across the street, at the Oils cafe. Punch was served at one end of the dance hall, and the booth was liberally patronized.

Altogether the Woodmen may feel well pleased with the outcome of the concert and ball.

A FALLING OFF IN POLLS

An Actual Reduction of About 30 Over Last Year--Grand List a Trifle Larger.

The board of assessors has completed its preliminary work, and the abstract book giving the grand lists of those liable for taxes in Barre has been filed with the city clerk. As there will doubtless be corrections and additions made before May 28, when the assessors give a hearing to aggrieved parties, they do not give out any totals at this time, but it is believed the grand list will be a little larger than last year. There are nearly 3400 lists in all. There is a falling off of over a hundred in the list of polls this year over last. In 1903 there were 2895 polls assessed, with an additional 90 exempt. This year there are 2738 polls and an additional 80 exempt. It might be said in explanation that the assessors duplicated names last year in nearly a hundred cases, which it is claimed is not the case this. The grand list last year was approximately $42,000. LUCKY WIN FOR GODDARD

Outbatted and Outfielded Still Defeated Rockland.

In Last of Ninth Cannell Got Base on Balls, Stole Second, Went Home on Berry's Hit--Score 8 to 7.

In the most exciting base ball game of the season Goddard seminary defeated Rockland Military academy of Lebanon, N. H., yesterday afternoon on the local campus by a score of 8 to 7. The winning run was made in the last half of the ninth inning after one man was out. The Rockland team was the hardest proposition that Goddard has been up against this season and the game was only won by the hardest ball playing, with a little luck, making the fifth consecutive victory for Goddard this season.

Getman, the pitcher for the visitors was a left handed twirler with good speed and curves and held the Goddard batters down to only two hits, but he couldn't control it and went to pieces at critical times in the game. He gave six bases on balls, struck out but five men, made one wild throw and hit two men. Fraser was practically the whole team for Goddard, striking out eleven men, giving but two bases on balls and besides fielding his position well, having eight assists with only two errors. Seven hits were made off his delivery but they were well scattered.

It started off like an easy thing for Rockland when they batted in three scores, aided by poor fielding by Goddard, who scored once in her half. In the second inning Goddard steadied down and shut the visitors out. Neither side scored again until the fourth inning when Goddard crossed the home plate three times, making the score 4 to 3 in her favor and the game began to be interesting for the spectators.

Seaver got to first for the home team on a fumble by the pitcher. Turner was hit by the ball. The catcher let a ball get by him and Seaver took third and followed by Turner to second. Butler went out on a grounder to the pitcher and Blake got a base on balls making the bases full. Five fanned but Clark got to first on balls forcing Seaver home. Turner soon added another score on a passed ball by the catcher. Cannell walked filling the bases again. Blake came home on a wild pitch and Berry ended the inning by hitting a pop fly which the catcher got.

In the fifth inning each side went out in one, two, three order, but in the sixth Rockland turned the tables on Goddard by white-washing her after having scored twice in the first half of the inning, making the total score 5 to 4 in the visitors favor.

The first of the next inning brought in two more runs for Rockland and things looked pretty dark to Goddard. But Clark started things around for Goddard by reaching first on an error by third followed by Cannell who made a pretty single through short. A passed ball by the catcher soon let them move around one base each. Berry flied out to the left fielder. Fraser hit a grounder to third baseman who threw too low to first and the ball went by Cannell and Seaver scoring. Seaver hit a grounder to the second baseman, who held to first putting out Seaver, but Fraser got second. Turner hit a fly into the left fielder's hands, but he dropped it and Fraser went home tying the score 7 to 7.

Each side was whitewashed in the eighth and the first three men who came up for Rockland in the ninth went out easily. Philo fanned. Poole fanned and Kellon went out on a grounder to Fraser. Clark was up first for Goddard and smashed the atmosphere and took his seat. Cannell waited and got a base on balls and stole second. Then Berry made the second safe hit of the game, rapping a fly to short right bringing in Cannell with the winning run.

SECOND DEBATE IS MONTEPIER'S

Goddard Team Defeated Last Evening On Side Favoring Immigration Restriction.

The Montpelier seminary debating team was given the unanimous decision over the Goddard team, in their second annual debate at Montpelier last evening, the winners supporting the negative side of the question, "Resolved, That immigration should be further restricted." The judges were A. A. Sargent and Richard A. Hoar of this city and W. A. Lord of Montpelier. The first debate in this city last year, was won by Goddard.

For Montpelier the speakers were Wallace A. Gilpin, Westley Atkins and George L. Wells while Arthur E. Pike, Carl W. Hefflin and Mark Perry upheld the contention that immigration should be further restricted. Each was given twelve minutes, and those in rebuttal unlimited time. Pike and Gilpin spoke in rebuttal.

The chief points advanced by the affirmative were that further unrestricted immigration was dangerous to the citizenry, wages were lowered through the increased number of unskilled workmen, the contract labor law is of little practical use, morals are affected through the congregation of the immigrants in the large cities, politics and the home are corrupted. From an economic standpoint, they argued that it should be restricted as the public lands are nearly taken up, immigrants oftentimes bring disease, moral depravity and resistance to authority.

The negative maintained that enforcement of present laws is what is needed, not more laws. An extract was read from the law excluding certain classes. The speakers stated that benefits were derived, politically, socially and industriously. They declared that further restriction would be un-American. The solution of the immigration problem was in distribution. They said that the percentage of foreigners had not materially increased since 1870.
