IN INTERESTS OF CLEAN SPORT.

The action taken by the Northern base ball league at its meeting in Burlington yesterday, regarding that much abused individual, the umpire, will be appreciated by all who are interested in the sport for its own sake. There have been many disagreeable features of some of the Northern league games this season because of the ungentlemanly conduct of the players toward the umpire and because of that individual's powerlessness to stop the practice. By yesterday's action, however, this unpleasant feature may be obviated to a large extent; the umpire has been given power to fine the player who persists in his abuse, to the amount of ten dollars, just as the officials in the large leagues are given power. The possibility of a fine will probably cause the players, who are disposed to object strenuously to the decisions, to be more careful in their talk and manner of action on the ball field; at least so a long-suffering public will hope. There is nothing more disagreeable for a crowd which goes to see a game of base ball than to be compelled to be listeners to a lot of senseless wrangling. There has been too much of it in the Northern league, and the large number of supporters of the game will be pleased to note that the league management has taken steps to do away with it.

THE FIRE STATION LOCATION.

Until the city of Barre expands very largely there will be no need for more than one large fire department station, and that one should be as near to the center of the business section of the city as possible. In view of this fact the selection of the Richardson lot on South Main street, and almost on the City Square, is perhaps the best that could be made. It is by all means the best proposition of those considered by the special committee of the city council which reported its findings last evening, although the Slayton lot across the street is a good location for a fire station. But with the proviso that the buildings on the former shall be purchased for $1,500 and removed, and also that the one selling the property shall pay the pavement assessment in case the courts decide against her, it becomes a better business move for the city to purchase the Richardson property. Per square foot it costs less, and there is a slight advantage also in the fact that the proposed purchase is adjacent to property owned by the city, which cannot now be utilized on account of its location back of the Church street school house. With the outlet on South Main street, the long unused property of the city may possibly be utilized for city purposes.

Says Senator Proctor to President Roosevelt, "We will give you 25,000 or more." For which promise President Roosevelt expressed himself as very grateful. It is now up to Senator Proctor and the Republicans of Vermont to make good the promise.

Out of a total of $88,850 in taxes in the city of Montpelier, something like $82,500 was paid to the city treasurer before the accounts were placed in the hands of the collector. There is a good example for Barre tax payers.

The city health officer's statement that there were only two cases of contagious diseases in the city during the past month ought to be gratifying.

With internal discord, assassinations almost at his doorsteps and reverses in the East, these are cloudy days for the czar.

Marketing of beef is receiving a big impetus in Vermont these days, thanks to the strike in Chicago.

MURDERERS SURROUNDED.

Five Hundred Men Hold Bandits Captive in Swamp. Portage, Pa., Aug. 2.—Fully 500 men surround Cedar swamp, near Dunio, where the highwaymen who killed Driver Charles Hays and dangerously wounded Paymaster Campbell on Saturday are supposed to be in hiding. No effort has been made to penetrate the swamp, but the work of the searchers has been so systematized that if the murderers are still there, it is believed, it will be impossible for them to escape capture.

A trail of blood leading to the swamp, which was supposed to indicate that one of the fugitives was wounded and was expected to bring the posses up to them shortly, has been lost. There are no new developments otherwise in the case. Paymaster Patrick Campbell, who was so badly wounded, is reported to be resting easy.

The executive committee of the Fifth Vermont Reunion Association has made arrangements for holding its annual reunion at Long Point beginning September 8 and holding a week.

Assistant Secretary Charles H. Darling of the navy department, who has been acting secretary for some weeks, left New York Saturday to pass the month of August with his family in Bennington.

Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Burnham have been camping at Hagar's clearing in Woodford for several weeks. Tuesday morning as Mrs. Burnham was coming from the camp she suddenly discovered a bear that had become caught in a trap and was making desperate attempts to escape. She was considerably frightened at first, but soon recovered her presence of mind and started for the first house to notify the men there. The bear was killed and when dressed weighed 300 pounds. The trap was set by A. W. Hagar after the animal had killed one of his sheep.

The controller of the treasury has settled the mutual claims of the United States against Vermont for ordnance furnished the state and sold by it to outside persons, and of Vermont against the United States for clothing and other military supplies furnished by the state to its "extraordinary militia" in 1804 and 1805. The amounts involved in the accounts are found to offset each other, so that there now remains due to the state $155,453, which is the interest paid by the state on its bonds issued to aid the United States in the Civil War. A warrant in favor of the state will be issued for this amount.

PANAMA PROTESTS.

Canal Zone Tariff Regulation a Serious Problem.

Washington, Aug. 2.—Senator Ohndia, the Panama minister, accompanied by his secretary of legation, Mr. Arosamena, called at the state department and made a formal protest against the construction given the canal treaty by the executive officers of the isthmian canal commission. There is trouble growing out of the location of the post-offices in the canal strip, under the commission's orders, but the most serious matter of discord between the people of Panama and the commission is the latter's location of a new customs port near the city of Panama.

The people of Panama contend that the commission's assertion of a claim to customs jurisdiction over outlying islands and harbors will surely result in the total diversion of trade from Panama and will impoverish that government through the loss of customs revenues. The agitation in Panama started with the retail shopkeepers who feared that they would lose the lucrative business of supplying the vast armies of laborers and officers who are to construct the canal.

The controversy has extended rapidly, and the situation in Panama now is stated to be really precarious from a political point of view. Before the canal commission left for Colon early last week, representations were made by the Panama government through Mr. Lee, the American charge at Panama. The commission's law officer, Judge Magoon, rendered an opinion that the Panamanians misunderstood the commission's orders, and that Panama would still retain her trade. The restrictions, he said, were necessary to prevent smuggling into the strip.
