The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

3,375

It will be one of the most important victories Russia ever won if the peace party within gains the ascendancy.

The first whisper of discontent over the appointment of license commissioners by the side judges is wafted from the neighboring city because the Democratic party was ignored.

Take the first sentence of Vice-President Fairbanks' speech at the Ohio society banquet in New York last Saturday and consider it: "We are composed of many nationalities, yet we are united and harmonious; conscious of our own strength." This application was to the nation as a whole.

The overseer of the poor department in Montpelier is undergoing fire now. But there is this difference from the shrapnel which was poured into the Barre poor department, that the charge of scolding is brought instead of the charge of too good treatment. The Montpelier official promises to weather the withering fire. Immunity comes from long continued exposure to the shot.

The world's "old men" who were relegated by Dr. Osler, in one sweeping assertion, into innocuous-desuetude and a happy chloroform bliss may hold up their heads again and take notice of things. An eminent man, the chief of the national bureau of chemistry, has declared that the progress of science will soon fix it so that the limit of activity of the human being will be sent up to ninety years. It must be admitted that this is the least incredible of the two noteworthy statements.

We are reminded by the Montpelier Journal that "as usual, the Barre board of alderman and the mayor are having some disagreements about who should hold certain city offices to which the mayor appoints, subject to the approval of the board." That brings to mind also a certain city council which keeps city officials in office so long that the officials think they have a first mortgage and quit claim deed of their positions and how disproportionately loud when they are ousted. That city council transacts business six miles from Barre.

THE HABIT OF EXAGGERATION.
 An item from the correspondence of a neighboring town says that if a certain clergyman accepts a call to another town, a proposition he has under advisement, it will be a "public calamity." With all due respect to and appreciation of the clergyman whoever he is, we must believe that the writer of the item is indulging in hyperbole and that he is conjuring up conditions which in the concrete would be impossible. How the withdrawal of a minister, or in fact, any person, from a community can result in a "public calamity" it is difficult to understand. The impression that the writer of the item intended to convey probably is that the decision of the clergyman to go to another field of labor would be sincerely regretted by the community, where he was esteemed very highly, and where he would be missed very much. There is a yawning difference between a "public calamity" and that. It is simply one instance of an exaggeration unwittingly indulged in to convey the impression of the importance of an occurrence. Those items when they are set in type, with ink rolled over the type, and then impressed on a white sheet of paper, appear ridiculous, even to the writer of them. The same is true of the spoken word, only the ridiculousness is more easily effaced.

EAST MONTEPELLIER.
 Israel Wood of Orange was in town Monday on business.
 The Wheelock auction Monday was well attended and good prices were received.
 N. M. Nelson of Barre city is getting out lumber to build a barn on his farm in town.
 Mrs. Lizzie Wood and son, George, moved this week to the C. C. Willard farm, which Mrs. Wood recently bought.
 The family of Warren Howland left town Wednesday for their new home in Duxbury, just over the line from Waterbury.
 Ernest Clark and bride, nee Miss Jennie Whitehill, are visiting in town this week, after which they are to reside in Groton at the former home of the bride, where they were married Wednesday of last week.
 Mrs. Philena Willard received word Wednesday of the death of her brother, Charles Persons, in Washington, D. C. Another brother, the late Levi Persons, of Montpelier, was buried only last Monday, and her sister, Mrs. Gray, died late in October last.

HARDWICK.
 O. E. Johnson, who has been critically ill of pneumonia, is reported as more comfortable.
 Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Campbell have returned home from a visit in New Hampshire and Massachusetts. Mrs. Campbell visited friends in Concord and Mr. Campbell went to Boston.
 The gentlemen very pleasantly entertained the ladies of the Portnightly Culture club at the Knights of Pythias hall Wednesday evening. Music was furnished by Dunn's orchestra and refreshments were served by the Rathbone sisters.

NOTES AND INCIDENTS OF FOREIGN LIFE.

The British War Department is alarmed at the horse outlook. The development of the auto is diminishing the horse-breeding business, the class of horses demanded for war purposes is deteriorating, and foreign purchasers are draining the available supply.

Recently an experiment was made up on the exterior of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, with "a sort of dry shampoo, with the new American sharp sand blast"; but the stone was found to be too hard, and after a few square yards had been operated upon, the experiment was abandoned.

The London Chronicle recalls that Nicholas I. said during the Crimean War: "There are two generals upon whom Russia can always rely—Generals January and February." But Gen. February failed Russia this time.

"I would like to have a parrot trained for every cottage in the country to say, 'Naval supremacy and command of the seas,'" said the Duke of Northumberland at a meeting of the English ship-owners the other day.

Toward the end of May 1,000 Boers will migrate from the Transvaal to German East Africa.

After an interval of four years the "Passion Play" at Selzach, in Switzerland, will be produced this summer. The first performance took place about twelve years ago, the actors being villagers. Each performance occupies four or five days. About 400 people take part in it.

A Russian Rush Hour.

A correspondent of the London Times thus describes the departure of the Russians from Port Arthur for Dalny after the surrender:

"Then occurred a scene which those who witnessed it will never forget and will ever remember with shame and disgust. Even third-class carriages are scarce on the Dalny-Port Arthur line; one has to be content to make the journey in open trucks; but on this occasion there was a saloon or Stoessel, with a few carriages for the women and children. Directly the general and his wife had entered the train, one expected to see the women and children led forward and assisted into the remaining vacant seats; but no, the crowds of generals and officers pushed forward and entered the carriages, pushing past the women and children without paying the slightest regard to them. Soon every single carriage was packed with these gentlemen, and the women and children were left on the platform sitting on their luggage. The indignation of every foreigner present and every Japanese, was instantly aroused by this last exhibition of callousness and brutality. They treat their women like so many beasts" was the comment of one. Some of the station officials and Japanese officers intervened and assisted the helpless ones into the most empty of the open trucks, which were already nearly full of the officers' servants, who, taking the cue from their masters, were not going to wait for the women and children to be seated first. Some of the women found seats in the trucks intermingled with the dirty, common soldiers and the luggage of the officers in the closed carriages. One beautiful widow, whose husband had been killed in the siege, whose very appearance one would have thought might have aroused a spark of dormant gallantry in the breast of one of the Czar's chosen warriors, was left wandering about and would have missed the train had not Gen. Nog's aide-de-camp, Capt. Matsuda, cleared out some of the soldiers and found room for her in a truck.

WHAT IS CATARRH?

Hyomei Cures This Common and Disagreeable Disease.

Hyomei cures catarrh by the simple method of breathing it into the air passages and lungs. It kills the germs of the catarrhal poison, heals and soothes the irritated mucous membrane, enters the blood with the oxygen and kills the germs present there, effectually driving this disease from the system.

If you have any of the following symptoms, catarrhal germs are at work somewhere in the mucous membranes of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes or tissues of the lungs.

- Offensive breath.
- Dryness of the nose.
- Pain across the eyes.
- Pain in back of head.
- Pain in front of head.
- Tendency to take cold.
- Burning pain in the throat.
- Rawness to clear the throat.
- Pain in the chest.
- A cough.
- Stitch in side.
- Loss of flesh.
- Variable appetite.
- Low spirited at times.
- Raising of frothy mucus.
- Expectorating yellow matter.
- Difficulty in breathing.
- Frequent sneezing.
- Business of voice.

Hyomei will cure the disease, destroy activity of all germ life in the respiratory organs, enrich and purify the blood with additional ozone, and after a few days' use of this treatment the majority of these symptoms will have disappeared. In a few weeks the cure will be complete.

Will Make a Test Case of It.

For a number of years bottling houses doing business in North Walpole, N. H., have run their delivery teams into Bellows Falls, and have claimed that they had a right to do so because their traffic was interstate commerce. Bellows Falls voted no-license again last March, and at the request of numerous citizens State's Attorney H. D. Ryder has decided to contest the legality of this traffic. He has served notice on the Crescent Bottling Co. and the Riverside Bottling Co. that if any more teams loaded with beer and intoxicating liquors are sent into Bellows Falls they will be seized and the courts given an opportunity to decide upon the rights of the parties aggrieved.

No teams are now being sent into Bellows Falls, but a representative of the Crescent Bottling Co., has stated that its teams will be sent over as heretofore, and that, if necessary, they will make a fight in the courts. They contend that they are doing a legitimate interstate business.

The Rev. J. H. MacArthur of South Ryegate has received a call at Thompsonville, Conn., at a salary of $1,200 a year. He has not yet decided to go but is seriously considering the matter.

A local band association has been organized in Bethel. Several members of the association own the necessary musical instruments and have had sufficient experience, it is thought, to make it a success.

TAXES

The Granite Savings Bank and Trust Company pays the taxes on all deposits not exceeding $2,000. We paid the State of Vermont last year a little more than $6,300 on our deposits, and Vermont Savings Institutions paid into the State treasury, as taxes on their deposits, the large sum of $312,503.82. If this money was not paid into the State treasury by the Banks it would have to be paid by individuals. Every tax-payer gets a benefit from this tax on deposits in a reduction of his State tax.

BUT

NATIONAL BANKS pay no tax whatever to the State on their deposits, and every dollar deposited in a National Bank is liable to taxation,—there is no $2,000 exemption.
