

DE MAY HAD LITTLE FAITH

Was Quickly Converted - Rexall Worth Its Weight in Gold.

"Thousands of men and women are dragging their way through a life of misery merely because they are too skeptical to benefit by the truth," says Mr. Wells of the Red Cross Pharmacy.

"We don't ask you to take our word as to the rare perfection of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. We ask you to take the word of your neighbors. Read what Mr. De May says of them:

"I find Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets O. K. In fact I consider them worth their weight in gold. I suffered with indigestion for many years and thought I had exhausted every means of a cure. The best physicians failed to give me relief and the many advertised remedies were either disappointing. When I commenced using Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets I had little faith in them. But I was agreeably disappointed. They immediately benefited me and in a short time I was cured. I can state in the most emphatic manner that Rexall is all right." - B. E. De May.

"What these tablets did for Mr. De May they will do for you. Try them and see.

"Our proposition is not to merely sell you dyspepsia tablets, but to sell you a cure for your dyspepsia and indigestion.

"If Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets do not effect this cure, we give you back your money. That shows how much confidence we have in this new remedy." The Red Cross Pharmacy apply this guarantee to the twenty-five cent package of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, which certainly shows their confidence in its bringing immediate results.

STOREY COTTON PROSECUTIONS.

Printer Charged with Misuse of Mails Still in Prison.

Philadelphia, March 27.—Attorneys representing Stanley Francis, who was arrested at Philadelphia Friday night, charged with using the mails to defraud in connection with the refund Storey Cotton company, Saturday obtained a reduction of his bail from $100,000 to $50,000. The bail was reduced by Judge McPherson in the United States district court. A bondsman has not yet been secured and Francis is still in the county prison. The prisoner is head of the Francis Printing company, and is accused of furnishing the literature used by the Storey Cotton company, and the Providence investment bureau, two alleged get-rich-quick concerns. The mailing of this literature is said to have been a violation of the postal laws.

Photographs of Henry Latimer, the alleged backer of the Providence investment bureau, which failed recently, were Saturday furnished to the police. A description of the man has been sent broadcast, and secret service operatives and postal inspectors are searching for him. Suits were entered that day to recover for investors in the Storey cotton company, the real estate owned by Frank C. Marrin, alias "Judge" Franklin Stone, who since the exposure of the Storey cotton company, has been missing from his home at Philadelphia.

STEEL TRUST TO RAISE WAGES.

Plans for Sweeping Increase Said to Have Been Completed.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 27.—Officials of the United States Steel Corporation are reported to have completed all plans preparatory to making the announcement of a sweeping wage increase, to go into effect Saturday, April 1. It is said that the heads of all subsidiary companies of the corporation, a few weeks ago, were requested to furnish estimates of the total amounts necessary to accomplish the desired increase and bring the standard of wages paid steel workers and other employees to near the same level in force prior to the deep cut made a year ago. These estimates were placed in the hands of the executive officials of the corporation and the part of last week and were approved. The amount of the increase is not known at present, but it is stated that with the exception of the tonnage men in the steel mills, all other employees will receive the full amount of the former reduction. The total increase for the year will, it is said, approximate $9,000,000. The advance will affect 30,000 workmen in the Pittsburg district.

LOCK OUT IN ST. PETERSBURG

Workmen in an Ugly Frame of Mind.

30,000 MEN SHUT OUT.

Social Revolutionists Said to Have Passed Sentence of Death on Thirty High Personages.

St. Petersburg, March 27.—The industrial problem in St. Petersburg has again entered on a difficult stage, the owners of many factories having, in consequence, it is said, of continued backing and filling by their employes, decided to close down their works entirely, locking out 30,000 men. The idle workmen are in an ugly frame of mind. The machinery in one of the big cotton mills was wrecked Friday and the spirit of disorder is in the air. Trouble is expected and it is believed the wilder spirits are now not without bombs and other weapons of defense and reprisal. Guard officers continue to receive warnings that they will sign their death warrants if they order the troops to fire and a social democratic propaganda of demonstration and disturbance is evident. The proprietors of the cotton mills and woolen mills which have been operating on the smallest possible margin of profit are generally planning to pay off and discharge their employes, trying with the aid of the authorities to send them back to the villages.

It is openly stated among the workmen that the fighting wing of the social revolutionists has passed sentences of death on 30 high personages, the list being headed with the name of Grand Duke Alexis and ending with that of the emperor and bearing also the name of the dowager empress.

The trial will begin on May 2 in the court of justices at St. Petersburg before a jury and with closed doors.

Preliminary Press Censorship Removed.

St. Petersburg, March 27.—The preliminary press censorship on books in Russian as well as foreign languages has been removed. The books now printed go to the censor, by whom their sale must be authorized within seven days, or if it is alleged that they violate the criminal law, the question of confiscation must be immediately submitted to and decided by the courts. Heretofore manuscripts were sent to the censor and sometimes were held for months and years. He had the arbitrary right to prohibit their publication, without any confirmation on his decision by the courts.

A CHARGE OF PERJURY.

Andrew Ashford of Groton Bound Over to Caledonia County Court.

St. Johnsbury, March 27.—Andrew Ashford of Groton was arrested for alleged perjury in the case of state vs. Mrs. Lucy Rappazi, tried at Groton March 6, and a hearing was held before State's Attorney F. D. Thompson Saturday afternoon. Ashford waived examination and was bound over to the June term of Caledonia county court in the sum of $600.

It will be remembered that Mrs. Rappazi was alleged to have sold liquor but the evidence submitted was insufficient to bind her over to Caledonia county court and she was freed. Ashford was one of the witnesses.

JOHN S. LONG.

Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, the Great Neurologist, Warns Americans Who Neglect Their Nerves.

"In busy centers the number of deaths due to nervous causes has increased twenty per cent in forty years. One-fourth of the deaths in cities to-day are from nervous diseases." - Dr. S. Weir Mitchell.

The clean, rich nerve-force that was behind the health and happiness of thousands upon thousands is literally burning itself up like the dry wick of an empty lamp. It is the "Strenuous Life," with a vengeance.

Can men who go to their work in the morning tired and with lax spirits give to their own affairs the electric touch of confidence and power upon which success depends?

Can mothers worn out and nervous, plodding dully or ill-tempered through the routine of homekeeping, bring into the family life that precious spirit of helpfulness and happiness without which the word "home" seems a mockery?

When you feel exhausted—when you grow tired sooner than you should—when you lose patience with the irritating cares of daily life—when you feel discouraged—when you feel that your hopes and ambitions are not as high as they used to be—when you spend a sleepless night—when you get up almost as weary as when you went to bed—when you are worried.

These are all signs that your nerve forces are burning low.

Neglect the nerves and they will make you feel this neglect in many ways, they control all of the organs of the body and must be kept healthy and strong to do their work properly,—tired nerves cannot keep the organs of the body working in that harmony which is essential to real health.

This is why Paine's Celery Compound is able to bring health in so many different forms. Paine's Celery Compound feeds and nourishes the nerves. It makes new Nerve Force. It makes pure, rich blood, a clean active liver, a stomach that acts quietly and strongly upon all the food that is given to it, bowels that throw away promptly and surely all the ashes from life's engine room.

It makes the heart beat true and evenly, it makes the brain clear and vigorous.

The Nerve Force does this all, and Paine's Celery Compound makes the Nerve Force.

Best of all it makes that buoyant life-spirit, the thrill of health, that is the secret of happiness and the keynote of individual success.

Without Nerve Force there can be no health at all—no success—no joy in living.

John S. Long's case is simply one of thousands upon thousands. An average case and an object lesson to the average person.

"For nervousness and stomach troubles Paine's Celery Compound is the medicine. I was almost a physical wreck when I commenced to use Paine's Celery Compound, and now I am as healthy as any man in the world, and I owe it all to Paine's Celery Compound. The first bottle took helped me wonderfully, and by the time the second was used I was a well man, and I can cheerfully recommend it to any one as being the best medicine I have ever used." - John S. Long, Ballard, Wash.

Try Paine's Celery Compound to-day. It braces you up at once.

Take two days' treatment. See how much better you feel. See how much more easily the trials roll away.

For over 18 years Paine's Celery Compound has been the most universally used nerve vitalizer and tonic in the world.

Remember this—Paine's Celery Compound is the prescription of one of the most famous physicians this country has ever known, Prof. E. E. Phelps, of Dartmouth University. All reputable druggists recommend and sell Paine's Celery Compound.

"SPOTTED FEVER" IN NEW YORK.

Three Deaths Within 24 Hours—Sudden Development.

New York, March 27.—Cases of cerebro-spinal meningitis continue to be reported in New York city, three deaths having occurred in the past 24 hours. All the victims were adults. In two of the cases there were no symptoms of the malady until within a few hours of death. An experiment of trepanning the skull has been tried on a boy nine years old at Flower hospital, and has apparently been successful. It is said the boy has shown signs of relief, and hopes are entertained for his ultimate and complete recovery. A medical journal issued yesterday says there is a singular resemblance between the symptoms of cerebro-spinal meningitis and typhus fever, which frequently leads to confusion before an exact clinical diagnosis can be had, and indicates the points of similarity. It also calls attention to the efficacy of simple measures as preventatives, and refers to the neglect of the mouth and the nose, which permits many pathogenic microorganisms to reach the more vital parts.

Many Deaths in Boston.

The Boston board of health announces that 25 persons have died in Boston thus far this year from cerebro-spinal meningitis. The disease is rapidly increasing in New England. Last year the total number of deaths from the disease in Boston was 27 and the outlook is that this year's figures will greatly exceed those of last. Two persons died of the fever at Boston last week.

IN COLLISION AT HALIFAX

Two Ocean Liners Crash Together 15 Miles From Dock.

PARISIAN AND ALBANO.

Get Their Passengers Ashore With Great Difficulty—Exciting Scenes on Board—Admirable Discipline on Both Ships.

Halifax, N. S., March 27.—Two great transatlantic liners, the Parisian of the Allen Line and the Albano, a Hamburg-American boat, both bound in and heavily loaded with passengers, collided off the harbor's entrance Saturday night. Both received fearful wounds, but managed to reach their docks and land their panic-stricken passengers in safety. The Parisian's stern touched bottom as she ranged alongside her wharf, while hard pumping kept the Albano free. Both steamers were from European ports, the Parisian from Liverpool and Moville, and the Albano from Hamburg. The Parisian had on board a thousand passengers, many of whom were bound for her port, St. John, N. B. The Albano carried about 800 passengers, nearly all for Philadelphia, to which port she was to have proceeded after calling at Halifax.

The Parisian arrived off the entrance to the harbor at dusk and was taking a pilot on board when the Albano was seen coming in from the sea. As the German boat approached the officers of the Parisian realized that there was danger of a collision, and the engine-rooms were signaled for full speed ahead. Before the Parisian could get under way, however, the Albano struck her on the starboard side, a short distance astern of the engine-room, crushing in the great steel plates and opening up a hole through which the water poured in tons. The bow plates of the Albano were bent and the stem was twisted, but the water-tight compartments were promptly closed and her pumps were set vigorously at work. Immediately following the collision the steamers headed into the harbor at full speed, the Parisian with a heavy list to the starboard and the Albano somewhat down at the head. The Parisian had considerable water in her stern, which was also sinking deeper as she steamed along. Every tug in the harbor responded, and as the Parisian appeared in greater danger, several ranged themselves alongside that vessel and assisted in the pumping.

The passengers on board both vessels were fairly panic-stricken and begged loudly of the tug boats to take them off, but the little steamers clung tenaciously to the side of the great line and never left her until she was safe at her dock. Many of the passengers rushed excitedly about the decks, while others knelt in prayer. The officers were unable to thoroughly reassure them, but within a few minutes after the collision all had been supplied with life-preservers while the life boats were hoisted out ready for instant launching in case the vessels showed signs of foundering. The suspense of those on board the Parisian was intense. Great volumes of water were pouring from the vessel and the engines quivered not only with the exertion of running the numerous pumps, but in keeping the vessel plowing along at full speed. Half-way up the harbor her stern had settled many feet and the list to the starboard had become more pronounced, but the steamer kept on with her faithful fleet of tugs alongside working energetically to keep her aloft.

At last the bright light on the dock was seen and those on board realized that the danger was all but passed. The great vessel ranged alongside her wharf, lines were thrown out, gang planks lowered, and 1000 passengers rushed to land as the stern of the vessel touched the bottom. The Albano, which was behind the Parisian, had a somewhat similar experience, although her pumps were able to keep her bow compartments fairly free so that the alarm on board was not so great. The Albano reached her dock a short time after the Parisian, and all passengers, only a few of whom were booked for Halifax, hurried ashore. The discipline exhibited on both steamers following the accident was admirable. The 15 miles from the scene of the accident to the dock was covered in 40 minutes.

The weather at the time was quite clear. According to Capt. Johnson of the Parisian, the Albano, on approaching from sea, signaled that she would pass astern of the Allan liner, but a moment later headed straight for the Parisian. Capt. Johnson said that he rang quick orders to the engine-room to go ahead full speed and that his vessel had just attained headway when the Albano struck her dock just aft No. 5 hatch. The bow of the Albano smashed a hole 12 feet wide and extending from the rail to below the waterline. After the collision the Albano drew off, and having secured a pilot, followed the Parisian into port. Meantime the passengers of the Parisian became panic-stricken. The deck was well filled with passengers, many of whom were immigrants bound to the Canadian Northwest. These rushed about the deck, women fainted and there was a mad scramble for life preservers.

The Parisian is one of the finest steamers in the Allan fleet, and carried on this trip 400 sacks of mail and 1,100 tons of general cargo. An examination of her last night showed the entire after hold to be flooded as far forward as the engine-room compartment. She rests on mid bottom. On the opposite side of the same pier is berthed the Albano with her twisted stem and damaged bow plates. It is believed that she can be temporarily repaired so as to proceed on her voyage to Philadelphia. On her passage over, a big wave boarded the Parisian and killed a steerman passenger named Simmons and injured two others.

STOMACH TROUBLE

Cured Without Drugs—Letter Published By Request of Our Well Known Druggists, Rickert & Wells.

To the Editor of the Barre Times: Believing that the people of Barre will be interested in cures by such a simple remedy, and as so many letters of this kind are constantly coming to our attention, I ask you to publish the following for the good it may do others.

Mr. Thomas G. Wallace, of Detroit, Mich., writes: "After being troubled with loss of appetite and stomach trouble, and trying many medicines without any benefit whatever, I commenced to take Vinol, and I am very much pleased to state that it has cured my stomach trouble, given me a hearty appetite, and I am stronger and in better health than I have been for years."

Mr. Wells of Rickert & Wells, said: "You see, Vinol is guaranteed to contain no drugs and is such a simple, wholesome preparation with remarkable curative powers. It contains all of the healing and strength-giving elements contained in cod liver oil, but without a drop of oil or grease to upset the stomach and retard its work."

"Very few people who suffer with stomach troubles can take other forms of cod liver oil and emulsions or sickening drugs, but Vinol strengthens and tones up the weakened nerves of the digestive organs and enables the sufferer to digest with ease the very foods that once caused distress. Vinol helps to change this nourishment into pure, rich, red blood and invigorates and strengthens the entire body."

"We ask every person in Barre suffering from stomach trouble to try Vinol on our guarantee to give them back their money if it does them no good. This is an honest offer." Rickert & Wells, Druggists.
