TUESDAY, APRIL 25, 1905.

The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

3,400

With the closing of the Lenten season the rush of social festivities begins once more. From now until early summer there will be a round of events.

Admiral Rodjestvensky was reported as being sick when he left Kamranh Bay. It may be Admiral Togo's duty to give him a dose of medicine.

The City Park, which is one of the "beauty spots" in town, might be improved very much with a small amount of labor. It has not yet had its spring cleaning.

Two young men lost their lives near Manchester, N. H., Sunday, because they "couldn't swim." Learn to swim this summer if you can find water enough; it is worth the while.

The tension under which the firemen at the central station labor was shown by the account of the telephone call as published in yesterday's paper. Now, adays when the telephone call for fires is more common than the general alarm the men are on tip-toe at the sound of the telephone. It might be well to caution people against calling the station unnecessarily.

The deputy sheriff of Waterbury who got into court and was fined for intoxication should not be permitted to retain his commission a single day.—Rutland News.

Whoa, up! The commission is already in the hands of the sheriff of Washington county, and the former deputy is no longer arresting intoxicated individual. He didn't keep it a single day.

VIOLATIONS OF LIQUOR LAW BY PHYSICIANS.

The fining of a Waterbury physician for issuing a prescription when he had reason to believe that the liquor was not to be used for medicinal purposes will have a tendency to tighten up the looseness that is too prevalent, in no-license towns particularly. Some physicians are giving out prescriptions altogether out of proportion to the size of the community and the state of health of the inhabitants. And consequently some druggists are selling too large a quantity of liquor. The system when not closely watched makes an easy method of securing liquor. A person, "malarially inclined," or with symptoms, or by almost any dodge, gets a prescription from the physician. The rest is easy. It is apparent that a large part of the responsibility rests upon the physician and that he is the pivotal point about whom the violation of the law centers in this particular kind of breaking of the law. The physician needs to exercise the greatest care and the finest discernment in giving out prescriptions. He knows full well whether a person needs liquor for medicinal purposes, and in a small community he is also aware of the propensities of the people of that community.

The interpretation of that part of the law which relates to this particular offense is quite broad. The section reads: "A physician who gives a prescription for intoxicating liquors, when he knows, or has reason to know, it is not necessary for medicinal use, shall be fined two hundred dollars for the first offense, and five hundred dollars for each subsequent offense." Thus it will be seen that the law places upon the physician the necessity of discrimination. If he has the slightest knowledge that the liquor is not to be used for medicinal purposes he is not justified in issuing such prescription, and if he does issue it, he is liable to prosecution. There are without doubt other physicians in the state who have not exercised the required discrimination; but it is certain now that this section of the law has been put into effective use that there will be prosecutions to follow. The sale of liquor, through physician and druggist, constitutes a nuisance in some instances.

A Michael Angelo Hoax.

Michael Angelo did not disdain to hoax the connoisseurs of his own day by burying a broken statue and allowing the friend who dug it up to suppose that he had found an antique masterpiece until the sculptor produced the missing limb in his own studio.

Australian Opals.

The finest opal known in Australia is obtained at White Cliffs, near Wilcannia, in the colony of New South Wales. The best quality of these stones realized occasionally as much as $350 an ounce.

Easy to pick a winner here. They are all in, ready for you to take out. All quick movers for active men. $10.00 to $25.00. Rain Coats, $10.00 to $30.00.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

No Trouble.
 "Although 'tis true," remarked the clock,
 "That by myself I have to flock,
 Yet 'tis quite easy, day by day,
 For me to pass the time away."
 —Judge.

A Regular Critic.
 "Does her husband know much of music?"
 "Yes. As soon as she is going to play he goes out."
 —Brooklyn Life.

A Question.
 If all the trusts their hands would lay
 In this terrestrial game,
 When things refused to come our way,
 Whom would we have to blame?
 —Washington Star.

A Diplomatic Answer.
 Victim—Getting a little bald, ain't I?
 Barber—Well, sub, ef I wuz yo' Ah'd sit in de gallery w'en Ah went ter chu'ch, sub.—Judge.

Our Sorrows.
 To many of us life is rude
 And joy a fleeting bubble,
 The only time our credit's good
 Is when we borrow trouble.
 —Catholic Standard and Times.

Nothing Like Play.
 She—Do you ever play whist?
 He—No, but I work at it sometimes.
 —Yonkers Statesman.

In the Garden.
 Now is the time the household head
 His duty doesn't shirk,
 But gets the tools from out the shed
 And sets the boys to work.
 —Boston Herald.

Modern Question.
 "Mamma, can I sit up until 1 o'clock in the morning and see papa come home?"
 —Judge.

The Best Horse Sense.
 There's all sorts of "horse sense."
 The best sort, of course, is
 Possessed by the fellows
 Who don't play the horses.
 —Philadelphia Ledger.

Mosquitoes Not Afraid of Alligators.

It has been said that mosquitoes object to the strong smell of the alligator, but if this be so they can overcome their dislike when there is a chance of a draft of human blood, for Humboldt relates that while dissecting a large alligator, eleven feet long, the odor of which infected the surrounding atmosphere, he and his assistants were fearfully stung.

Japanese Pensions.

The family of a dead Japanese soldier gets, roughly speaking, one-third of the pay of his rank. This would give the widow of a private $1.25 a month; of a first lieutenant, $6.25; of a captain, $8.33, and to the widow of a colonel, $20 a month.

A Better Position.

Little Willie—My pa has a position in the Penny Savings bank for ten years.
 Little Maggie—Dat's not in'. My pa is in de pennyventary for life.

Hereditary Trait.

He—Did you ever notice what lovely black eyes Miss Scrapp has?
 She—Yes. They're inherited. She gets them from her father. He's a prize fighter.—New York World.

DAMES AND DAUGHTERS.

There is only one Japanese actress—Mrs. Sada Yacco.

Mary and Rose Hinner, two servant girls of Vienna, have been left house property worth $90,000 by their late mistress.

The degree of doctor of letters has recently been taken for the first time in history by a woman, Mlle. de Merlette. Her thesis was "The Life and Works of Elizabeth Barrett Browning."

Mme. Schumann-Heink, who recently took out naturalization papers at Cincinnati, is likely to make St. Louis her home, as she recently invested nearly half a million dollars in real estate in that city.

Miss Ethel De Koven, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald De Koven, has inherited the musical talents of her father and the literary gifts of her mother. She speaks several languages and has written clever verse, some of which she has set to charming music.

The application of Mrs. Nellie V. Wilson for admission into the Childs-Drexel International Union Printers' home on the strength of her membership in the union has been approved by the board of trustees. She is the first woman to be admitted to the home. She is a member in good standing of Washington local union.

Mrs. McDonald, wife of the new governor of Colorado, is not at all glad because of being pushed into eminence as "the first lady of the state." In fact, she regards it rather as a misfortune, being a thoroughly domesticated woman. "The dearest wish of my heart is that I could leave Denver and return to my home in Leadville," says Mrs. McDonald, "but that is impossible, of course."

LAW POINTS.

Where an order of goods to be subsequently delivered allowed four months' credit the term of credit did not begin to run until the delivery of the goods. (85 N. Y. S. Rep. 633.)

An account stated involves the promise to pay a real indebtedness, and a promise to pay a claim not founded on such an obligation is not conclusive and may be shown to be without consideration. (36 So. Rep. 722.)

A mortgage in a chattel mortgage which stipulates that whenever he may deem himself insecure the debt shall become due and the property taken possession of must act in good faith and not arbitrarily in determining whether he is insecure. (81 S. W. Rep. 64.)

CHURCH AND CLERGY.

Archbishop Mesmer of Milwaukee has had to ask police protection against the importunities of beggars, following an article in a local newspaper telling of his liberality as a giver.

It is not uncommon to hear of pews in fashionable churches in New York selling for $1,500 or more. Indeed, not long ago pew 40 of Grace church sold for $1,550. In St. Thomas' church single sittings sell for $150.

Rev. Stephen Gladstone, recently inducted into the rectory of Barrowby, Lincolnshire, England, inherits his father's command of language. Like "the great commoner," too, he believes in simple, reverent and dignified services.

RECENT INVENTIONS.

A peculiar method of charging cloth, with electricity in order to furnish heat to the wearer has been invented by a French engineer.

A boat with fin shaped propellers on its sides, to make it sink and rise at will, has been invented by an Englishman and successfully experimented with.

Otto Shick, an engineer of Hamburg, Germany, has invented a large balance wheel which can be mounted in such a way on big ships as to counteract the shifting of the center of gravity of the ship and reducing the rolling of vessels at sea to a minimum.

Neutral Liberia.

Liberia gravely issues a proclamation of neutrality whenever war breaks out between other nations, and it has never violated its obligations in that respect.

Vermont Maple in Connecticut.

John A. L. Julian, who today serves his connection as a reporter of the Evening Post and who will on Monday join the repertorial staff of The Standard, entertained many of his newspaper colleagues on the staff of the local papers, with a pancake luncheon at The Why restaurant. The feature of the meal was the delicious maple syrup which was served with the cakes.

The syrup served was from Graniteville, Vt., a village in the town of Barre, where are located the famous granite quarries. It is the best syrup made in Vermont. It was made by Fremont C. Little, who obtained the first award at the Columbian Exposition for the best maple syrup shown there and the syrup was obtained from Mr. Little only by special arrangement with Mr. Julian.

The trees from which the syrup was obtained to make this syrup grow on what is locally termed "The Mountain," situated more than 1,000 feet above the sea level. A few feet below the roots of the trees is a solid mass of the best monumental granite in the world, comprising thousands of tons. Mr. Little's syrup is in such demand that although he makes a ton or two each year he has none left over and it is all sold before it is made.—Bridgeport, Conn., Standard.

BROOKFIELD.

George Sprague lost a cow last week. Elmer Kinny was in Burlington last week for medical treatment.

Chas. Angell is to work for road commissioner W. F. Medcalf the coming season.

Mrs. J. W. Parmenter is visiting relatives in Worcester, Mass., and Concord, N. H.

Mrs. Willard Medcalf and grandson, Ralph Perkins, visited in Chelsea last week.

Anna M. Clark, a teacher in New York City, spent last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Uriah Clark.

Dr. Tenny H. Wheatley and his fiancée are spending a few days with Dr. Wheatley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Wheatley. Dr. Wheatley brought a young Swede boy to remain with his father.
