

DEATH LIST OVER 1,200

In the Great French Mine Disaster of Saturday.

IS THE LATEST REPORT

There Is Little Hope of Getting Any Out Alive or of Even Recovering the Bodies—Monument Will Be Erected.

Paris, March 12.—The latest reports from Courrières as to the approximate number of casualties in the great mine disaster which occurred there Saturday, give the figures at between 1,200 and 1,300. There is little hope of getting out any of the miners who are still alive below or even of recovering their bodies. The funerals of the victims will be held tomorrow. Those who were burned or mutilated beyond recognition will be buried together and a monument to commemorate their death will be erected over the spot by public subscription.

The vast military camp is under military guard, four hundred soldiers having arrived there to assist in holding in check the crowds of distraught mourners.

For a time hope has been held out to the people that tappings on pipes by the imprisoned men had been heard but gradually this hope vanished and the people demanded admission to the mine bodies and even threatened to break through the cord of troops, who had the greatest difficulty in keeping the crowds from the pit.

One man named Sylvestre succeeded in entering the mine, but he never returned. It is believed he groped about inside until he was overcome by the gases and perished. It is reported that a rescue party numbering forty has been cut off by the caving in of one of the galleries.

Minister of Public Works Gauthier, Minister of the Interior Dubief and the secretary of President Fallieres remained on the ground and endeavored to comfort the distressed families of the miners. President Fallieres has given $50,000 to aid in relief measures.

The ministry will add a further sum to this and the chamber of deputies will be asked to vote $100,000 for the purpose of alleviating distress.

For the time being the mine has been transformed into a mortuary chamber and all about it lie the carbonized and almost unrecognizable bodies of miners which were taken there as they were brought up from the mine. Stricken relatives arrive at the mine building from time to time, searching for missing members of their families, and innumerable scenes of grief occur as women recognize loved ones.

Heart-rending scenes, too, are witnessed about the mouth of the pit No. 4, where in the presence of Ministers Dubief and Gauthier the bands of rescuers are continually descending and returning with bodies. The women with children in their arms attempt to break through the cord of troops which form a laze through which the body bearers proceed to the mortuary chamber.

Sometimes the bodies consist of a mere heap of burned flesh and in nearly every case the body is terribly lacerated. Only one half of the bodies recovered have been identified.

Despite the danger incurred, the volunteers, who include a number of those who were successful in escaping at the time of the explosion, do not hesitate to descend the shaft. Some of them have been down more than a dozen times. One of them after having brought up fourteen bodies was suffocated on his fifteenth attempt, and it is feared that other fatalities among the volunteers will follow, as the air in the mine is still impregnated with noxious gases.

A number of the men engaged in rescue work have already been brought to the surface unconscious, and as they were driven to their homes in closed carriages the women followed and broke the windows, suspecting that bodies were being hurried away.

AN INFURIATED MOB. Was Not Admitted, So Stormed the Hospital.

Greensburg, Pa., March 12.—Infuriated upon being refused admittance to the Westmoreland hospital, more than 100 Italians and Austrians stormed the hospital for several hours late Saturday night. The police force and a squad from Troop A of the State constabulary were called out and it was not until seven of the rioters had been arrested and jailed that the disturbance ceased.

The foreigners came to Greensburg from their camp at Radebaugh to visit fellow countrymen who had been injured in a railroad wreck on Thursday. Twenty-one of the injured are still in the hospital and no visitors have been allowed.

When the first of the foreigners had been refused admittance they returned to their camp at Radebaugh and several hours later the mob appeared on the hospital ground. Attempts were made to force the doors and missiles were hurled against the building. The doors were smashed and they were able to guard the doors until a squad from the state constabulary arrived. The leaders of the rioters were taken to jail and are held on the charges of inciting a riot and disorderly conduct.

Was Quite Seriously Hurt. Randolph, March 12.—Mrs. Terrance Calligan, wife of ex-representative Calligan of Brookfield, who met with an accident in this village Friday, breaking her right hip, was found to be more seriously injured than was thought at first.

On reaching home two physicians attended Mrs. Calligan, administering chloroform and working nearly two hours to reduce the fractured hip. Mrs. Calligan is quite a heavy lady and will be confined to the house for several months.

GAVE HIMSELF UP.

Automobilist Is Charged With Homicide in New York.

New York, March 12.—Frederick S. Welch, 26 years old, secretary of an automobile company of Boston and whose home is in Pontiac, Mich., was taken into custody last night on a charge of homicide. Welch is suspected of having been in charge of the automobile which last Friday afternoon collided with another automobile at Jerome avenue and 172nd street, the collision resulting in the death of Mrs. Robert F. Craig, wife of a police sergeant attached to the West Hundredth street station.

Welch's arrest was made at the home of Coroner McDonald, where he had called to voluntarily give himself up. Welch said he understood he was wanted but denied that he had collided with any other machine.

"With four others I was on my way to Boston in my automobile," he added. "We went to Boston and there I first heard that I was being looked for in connection with a collision in which a woman had been killed. I immediately started back for New York."

Welch was paroled in custody of his counsel.

CARS WERE TOSSED OVER THE LOCOMOTIVE

Two Men Killed and Fifteen Hurt Near Boonville, Ohio, on the Baltimore & Ohio Last Night.

Toledo, Ohio, March 12.—Two killed and fifteen injured in the list of fatalities in a wreck of two freight trains and a fast passenger train on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad last night about two miles from Boonville.

The engines were completely wrecked and the mail and express cars, two baggage cars, two passenger coaches and four freight cars were completely demolished and later burned up.

The dead: John Hootman, Chicago Junction, fireman of the passenger train. W. Hoy, Wheeling, W. Va., postal clerk.

Fatally injured: Benjamin C. Snook, Chicago Junction, mail clerk, head cut, scalded and internally injured.

East bound freight No. 98 from Garrettsville, Ind., was running in two sections. At Goodsville, two miles from Boonville, the first section stopped for water. A fierce snow storm was raging and obscured the first section from Engineer Albert Guatsche and Fireman Nicholson of the second section, and their train dashed down upon it, crashing into the rear of the freight ahead.

One car was thrown over on the parallel track, which was open for the fast passenger train No. 7, west bound, and at that very moment the passenger train came along at full speed. The engine hit the derailed car and was almost demolished. The mail and baggage cars were wrecked, over the engine, two passenger coaches, were splintered and a Pullman car was derailed, but none of the occupants were injured.

Manchester, N. H., March 12.—The Canadian express on the southern division of the Boston & Maine railroad, bound from Boston to Montreal, ran on to an open switch and crashed into the rear of a freight train standing on the siding about a mile south of here Saturday. The locomotive and cars on the express remained on the rails, but several of the freight cars were demolished. Engineer Messer and Conductor Brown of the express were slightly injured. The express was well filled with passengers, but beyond slight bruises none of them was injured.

MISS ANTHONY'S END NOT FAR DISTANT

Rehoboth, N. Y., March 12.—Susan B. Anthony is very low. She has not regained consciousness at any time since she suffered a relapse yesterday, and her death may come at any moment. She was taken with a sudden pain in the heart at 9:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and became unconscious. Relatives were summoned to her bedside. Up to the time of her sinking spell she had appeared to be on the gain. She ate dinner about two o'clock and seemed to have a good appetite. The Rev. Anna Shaw, who has been here several days, talked with her and she was in cheerful spirits.

WELL KNOWN ACTOR DEAD.

E. J. Morgan, Who Created Part of John Storm in "The Christian."

New York, March 12.—Edward J. Morgan, the well known actor, was found dead in his bed at New York on Saturday, from an attack of heart disease. Mr. Morgan created the part of John Storm in "The Christian." Also the role of David Rossi in "The Eternal City," both dramas by Hall Caine. He also appeared in "Booth Tarkington," "The Gentleman from Indiana," and his last engagement was begun early this season in another Hall Caine play, "The Frothington." In this cast Mr. Morgan took the part of Magnus.

He recently compelled him to go to a sanitarium in the West, but Friday night Mr. Morgan returned to New York from Chicago, having left the sanitarium. Almost his first remark Friday night when he arrived at the Hotel Bellevue was that he hoped soon to return to active work in his profession. He spent the night at the hotel, and was found in his room late Friday night. Death had apparently taken place some hours previous to the finding of the actor's body. Mr. Morgan was married less than two years ago to Helen Bertram, the comic opera prima donna, who is now appearing in the leading role in "The Gingerbread Man."

MINERS ARE STIRRED UP

Over the Coal Operators' Flat Refusal of Demands'

STRIKE IS PREDICTED

But There Are Some Who Maintain That Miners Will Accept the Three Year Proposition Made by the Coal Operators.

Hazleton, Pa., March 12.—News of the operators' refusal of the miners' demands was received here with deep regret by the miners and business men. While the opinion is expressed that a strike now is certain, some in well informed circles claim that the miners in this district will vote to accept the operators' offer, that present conditions prevail for three years longer.

SURPRISED AND EXCITED.

Miners at Shamokin Hadn't Expected Complete Refusal.

Shamokin, Pa., March 12.—United mine workers are greatly excited over the refusal of the operators to grant their demands, and they threaten a strike on April 1. The miners say that they had no idea that the operators would deny them everything.

MAKE FLAT REFUSAL TO MINERS' DEMANDS

Operators Won't Give 8-Hour Day, Nor Will They Treat With Miners as a Union—Answer Made Public Yesterday.

New York, March 12.—The coal operators yesterday flatly refused the demands of the anthracite mine workers. To the demand for an agreement with the United Mine Workers of America, the operators say:

"We stand unalterably for the open shop, and again decline to make an agreement with the United Mine Workers of America, an organization controlled by a rival industry."

On an eight-hour day the operators reply:

"We know of no change in conditions that can be used to sustain this renewed demand for an eight-hour day. On the other hand, the expectation of the commission that the reduction from ten hours to nine hours should not result in any decrease in the output of the mines, has not been realized."

"Our experience shows that it is impracticable to produce as much coal working but nine hours as may be produced working ten hours. If now we reduce breaker time to eight hours, our cost is necessarily increased, because our expensive machinery is idle an additional hour per day, and not producing a return on the capital invested."

The operators hold that the proposition to change the system of wages would increase the cost of the domestic sizes of coal $1.20 a ton, and say:

"We cannot increase wages without advancing the price of coal; and we are not willing to advance the price of coal."

Operators Make Proposition. "Our proposition is, that the awards made by the anthracite coal strike commission and the principles upon which they were established for carrying out their findings and awards shall be continued for and during a further term of three years from the first day of April, 1906."

"It had been our hope and, we trusted, the public expectation as well, that the effect of the exhaustive investigation and findings of the distinguished citizens who constituted the anthracite strike commission would be to establish a just and permanent adjustment of the relations between the operators and their employees. We therefore regret your suggestion that an entirely new and untried arrangement should be made, which is only to last for one year."

"It is not to the interest of employers or employees, nor of the public, to have the mining business, as well as the general business and comfort of the people, seriously disturbed by these yearly convulsions."

"Neither can stand these progressive and enormous increases in the cost of production of anthracite coal, followed necessarily by corresponding increases in its price."

NO RISE IN HARD COAL.

Significant Absence from the New Publicity Bureau.

New York, March 12.—The price of hard coal will not be raised in New York city at least, even if there is a strike, according to a statement issued Saturday by the newly created publicity bureau of the anthracite operators. This bureau was started Friday by the committee of seven operators which is now considering the miners' demands. The statement is as follows: "The anthracite coal operators now have stored in and about this city 6,000,000 tons of coal ready for consumers. It has been decided that whether there is a strike or not, the price of coal f. o. b. will not be raised."

Concerning the coal dispute, one of the members of the committee of seven, David Wilson, president of the Delaware & Hudson company, said Saturday: "The sub-committee appointed last Tuesday to consider the propositions of the anthracite miners reported to the general committee of seven Saturday, and the full committee decided upon a reply to the miners' just as soon as it can be printed. Both the demands of the miners and the answer to them will be delivered to the miners' committee. Further than this, I can say nothing, for at the meeting of the operators Saturday we decided that in view of the fact that the whole matter under consideration public interest, there should be one spokesman for all the operators. We therefore created a bureau of publicity."

GOT LIQUOR IN THE TOWN

Squad of Sheriffs Made Raids Saturday Night.

SUCCESSFUL TWO TIMES

Robert Johnston and G. Ceresola Were Arrested and Carried to the County Jail Saturday Night to Await Hearing.

A little liquid refreshment was squeezed out of the no-license town of Barre Saturday night when simultaneous raids were made on places in East Barre and West Barre, and as a result two men, Robert Johnston, driver of the Graniteville stage, and Giulio Ceresola were arrested and placed in the county jail to await the opening of their cases in county court.

Sheriff Tracey headed the raiding party, with Deputies Lawson, Hastings, Camp and Slayton, and Constables Culler and McClellan. Starting out from this city the party divided, one section going to East Barre and the other to the quarry region. The East Barre party paid a visit to the hotel kept by one Disson, but found nothing of an incriminating nature. They then went to Ceresola's, where they found a party gathered, and with a barrel of beer as the center of attraction. The officers seized the barrel of beer, also a beer pail and two glasses, bringing them with Ceresola to the local jail.

The West Barre raiders found a party in progress at the Johnston place, but the only liquid stuff they secured was a half-pint of whiskey, although they did get several G. O. Taylor whiskey packages, which looked as if at one time they might have contained bottles of whiskey. The two men were taken to the county jail at midnight, and the liquor was left in the local repository for such things.

UNSUCCESSFUL RAID IN CITY.

The Barre police on yesterday made a raid on a Berlin street house, but did not find what they were looking after.

IT WAS VERY EASY.

Lucius Rapp Says Robbing Students at New Haven Was a Cinch.

Cambridge, Mass., March 12.—Lucius Rapp, who was arrested in Harvard square Saturday, charged with larceny from the rooms of Harvard students, was closely questioned yesterday by Detective Sergeant Henry J. Donnelly of New Haven, Conn., and in the course of the interview Rapp acknowledged committing twenty-four breaks in New Haven. The value of the goods taken aggregates about $3,000 in value.

In telling of his thefts at Yale college, Rapp said that it was his habit to reach New Haven in the afternoon, go through a room by 4 o'clock, and then take the 5 o'clock train for New York. Half an hour after reaching New York, he said, he would have disposed of stolen property.

"It is a wonder that the students of Yale and Harvard do not lose everything they have," said Rapp. "The Hutchinson private dormitory at Yale was always wide open, and the room doors never were locked. The students invariably left their jewelry in cases on top of their bureau or dressing cases, and it was easy to help one's self."

Edward Madden of Florence, Mass., the third member of the party, managed to reach the shore. The three young men had started in the canoe from Wethersfield for Hartford, where they had been rooming together. Near the Wethersfield cove they ran into rough water and the boat was capsized. The bodies of the drowned men have not been recovered.

TOMASI FIGHTS BREACH OF PROMISE

With Previous Verdict of $5,000 Against Him, He Goes into Court and Defends Himself Against Suit of Irene Marie Massucco.

Montpelier, March 12.—Dominico Tomasi was given a chance in county court at the opening of the session this afternoon to fight the breach of promise charge brought by Irene Marie Massucco, and on which she recently secured damages of $5,000 in the same court. When the verdict was given the woman a few months ago, Tomasi was in Italy, and for that reason the Vermont Supreme court ordered a new trial. In his defense Tomasi, who is one of the wealthiest Italians in this neighborhood, declares that at all times he was ready and willing to marry the woman, but that she persistently turned him down.

Prior to their coming to the United States, a church ceremony was performed, but not a civil ceremony. Tomasi claims he brought the woman to care for his children. After a year's residence here he took her back to Italy and he claims that he paid her in full for her services. On that trip to Italy Tomasi was married and came back here, only to be followed by the Massucco woman and her brother, the former of whom now sues for breach of promise. F. P. Carleton appears for the plaintiff, and J. P. Lamson, W. A. Boyce and A. M. Sartorelli, the last named of New York, are counsel for Tomasi.

As soon as the arrest was made Postmaster C. M. Graves suspended Nolan and forwarded the particulars of the case to Washington. Nolan has been on the route about ten years.

The trouble was discovered in time so that Dr. E. H. Martin was summoned and through his efforts the life of the child was saved.

NEITHER HOME NOR PARENTS

This Youth Had Stolen Goods Concealed in His Stockings

WAS ARRESTED TODAY

William Woods Said He Only Watched While the Other Fellow Broke Into the Boston Fruit Store Last Night—He Is Held.

William Woods, an 18-year-old boy, was arrested about eleven o'clock today by Chief of Police Brown on a warrant sworn out by State's Attorney S. H. Jackson, charging him with breaking and entering and with petty larceny. The stolen goods were all found in the boy's possession, they being identified by Michael David, keeper of the store which was entered.

According to the boy's story, he has been sawing wood for L. J. Bolster, and when he got that job finished he did not have any work and his money soon gave out. He claims to have met another boy on the street yesterday afternoon who wanted him (Woods) to break into M. David's Boston Fruit store, on North Main street, opposite Depot square. Woods said he wouldn't break in, but he would watch while the other fellow did the breaking. A basement window on the side of the Boston fruit store next to Jack Conick's lunch room was broken and one of the boys entered the cellar and went up stairs, gaining easy access to the store. Some slot machines were smashed and the pennies and nickels taken out. Several cigars were taken, along with an old watch which only goes when the man that carries it goes, a couple of gaudy brass chains, and a large knife.

This morning Woods complained to the chief of police that his store had been entered and Chief Brown started out. Chief Brown suspected that Joe Guidi had done something about it and searched the boy out. Guidi admitted that he thought he knew who did it, but said he had nothing to do with it himself. He named the man who did it, and a warrant was sworn out for him. He was found loafing about the street. He went to the police station, where he was searched, the stolen goods all being found in his stockings. The lad gave his name as William Woods, but said he had no parents and no home. He was taken before Judge Fay, but he did not plead, the judge having him committed to a cell until counsel could be secured for him.

HE BECAME INSANE IN COUNTY JAIL

Antonio Casabella of Barre, Convicted of Non-support of Family, Keeps Jail Officials Busy With His Vagaries.

Antonio Casabella, who was arrested the middle of last week for non-support of his family, pleaded guilty to the charge in city court Saturday morning, was sentenced in the afternoon to not less than two nor more than two and one-half months in the house of correction. He was taken to the county jail at Montpelier to await commitment. Casabella had no sooner been placed in the county institution than he developed signs of insanity. He turned on the water in his faucet and allowed it to run until he flooded his cell. All the time he kept up a racket, howling at the top of his lungs. He refused food and water on the ground that he didn't have time and all he while he kept up a spirited attack on his wife, whom he thought he saw through the bars of his cell in the east corridor. State's Attorney Jackson said that the man was undoubtedly insane, but that he would have to be taken to the house of correction at Rutland to await the sentence. Some slot machines would be sent from that place to the asylum at Waterbury.

Casabella is a man about 45 years of age and has a wife and four children residing on Center street. The oldest child is a boy eleven years old, while the other three are girls. He is a stone cutter, and his last work was done for John Brown. Complaint of his failure to support was made by Mrs. Casabella.

NO MANAGER YET.

But Intercity Directors Will Meet Soon to Choose One.
