

ARRESTED FOR PAGE MURDER

Sensational Chapter In The C. L. Tucker Case

JERRY HAYES IS CHARGED

Was Arrested Near Bingham, Maine, Yesterday Afternoon--Boston Police Do Not Take Much Stock In It.

Bingham, Me., May 17.--Jerry Hayes, said to be otherwise known as J. Moulton, a laborer, was arrested near this town yesterday afternoon on a warrant charging him with the murder of Mabel Page at Weston, Mass., March 31, 1904, and with being a fugitive from justice.

Charles L. Tucker is awaiting execution next month for the Page murder. Mrs. Brown, who remarked one day that Tucker had "got the chair, and that it was a good thing for me that he has," Mrs. Brown said that when she asked the man what he meant he replied that he was at the Page house on the day of the murder, just before the crime was discovered, that he was recovering from the stroke and was on the way across the country to obtain work when he stopped at the Page house for a glass of water.

The story came to the ears of Daniel Stuart, a lawyer of this town, and others, two months ago. Stuart says that he gave it but little attention at first, but later he decided to inform Tucker's lawyers, Vahey, Innes & Mansfield of Boston, of the matter. Not knowing the address of the attorneys, Stuart wrote to a Boston newspaper and afterwards was in communication with Vahey, Innes & Mansfield.

Mrs. Brown, it develops, communicated with Mrs. Albert L. Tucker, the mother of the condemned man. Last Friday night a Boston reporter arrived here. Saturday he went to Skowhegan. On Monday Lawyer Stuart received a letter from the Boston attorney, saying that they had begun an investigation.

The Boston reporter interviewed two Skowhegan lawyers on Sunday, and a warrant was drawn up, based on the alleged remarks made by Hayes to Mrs. Brown. On Monday the lawyers and the reporter laid the evidence before Judge Bacheller, and he signed the warrant.

Sheriff Smith, one of the Skowhegan lawyers, and the reporter came to Bingham and went to Moxie pond, twenty-five miles northwest of the village, where Hayes has been employed as a laborer on the extension of the Somerset railway.

In the meantime Deputy Sheriff Pierce of this place saw Hayes at Austin Junction, about half a mile from Bingham. The deputy obtained assistance and arrested the man. Sheriff Smith had the prisoner guarded by three men all night. The authorities refused to allow Hayes to make a statement.

In Bingham Hayes has been known as Jerry Hale, and is also said to have been called J. H. Morton. The names Hayes and Moulton, however, appear in the warrant. Later it was learned that Hayes has been working in the vicinity of Bingham since 1904.

LOSS IS OVER $50,000

Summer Colony Receives Serious Loss and the New York, New Haven & Hartford R. R. Loses Its Station There.

Monument Beach, Mass., May 17.--A fire which started in Marston cottage last night was not gotten under control until this morning after 25 cottages and the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad station had been destroyed, entailing a loss of between $50,000 and $75,000. The burned district extends from the street leading to the Norfolk house on the north to the cottage of Dr. Bryant on the south and from the railroad to the water front.

The fire started at 11:30 o'clock last night from an unknown cause in the cottage of Arthur B. Marston, a summer resident, spread quickly on account of the lack of water supply and the inability of the volunteer bucket brigade to cope with it, and an hour later fourteen summer cottages and the passenger station of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad had been burned. At that time there was a prospect that the whole line of cottages along the water front would also be destroyed.

Among the cottages destroyed were those of Arthur B. Marston, A. A. DeLano, E. A. Sargent, C. H. Goldswater, B. E. Jones, and two belonging to L. S. Gurney, all of Brookton, the Norcross cottage owned by the Crocker estate, two cottages belonging to W. S. Ingalls, Worcester, and cottages owned by Byron F. Thomas and E. B.
