The Times' Daily Short Story.

A DIPLOMATIC YANKEE TRICK

(Original.) The Russian fleet had been destroyed by Admiral Togo in the sea of Japan.

The Japanese minister at Berlin sat in his cabinet, evidently waiting for some one. Presently the door opened and a man of the Yankee type entered.

"The minister closed the door himself, looked about him as if remembering that walls have ears, then said: 'Have you your trap completed?'

"I have, your excellency." "Very well. It is possible that you may put it to good use. I have secret information that a member of the German diplomatic staff will leave the foreign office tonight bearing an important proposition to the czar.

"He will be dressed in plain costume, such as a humble citizen might wear. He will take a common cab and drive to the station. It is of supreme importance that he be delayed, so that he cannot communicate either with his own or the Russian government. I have sent for you to undertake this task because you have done better work for me than even my own countrymen, who are adepts in such matters. Do you think you can effect what I desire?"

"I can try, your excellency." "Very well. The messenger goes on the 5 o'clock train. He must leave the foreign office about 4.30. It is now 10.15. Looking at his watch. 'Have you time enough?'

"Plenty, your excellency." At 4.35 p. m. a man left the foreign office carrying a gripack. A coachman eyed him sharply as he had been eyeing every one who had come on, and, driving forward, touched his hat, got down from the box and opened his cab door.

The gentleman was passing on when he took out his watch, turned and got into the cab. The coachman mounted the box, drawing a long sigh, as if of infinite relief, and drove as ordered to the station. He had no sooner started, however, before he began to press something under his foot, as though pumping. The man within felt a sudden fullness. He had only time to notice spray coming from a tube beside him when he lost consciousness.

When he came to himself he was lying on a couch in a strange room. He felt ill and dizzy. Calling up all his strength, he arose and went to the door, which he found locked. The only window in the room was far above him, but he pulled a table under it and, mounting, looked out at a wall. He knew that he had been trapped.

In the ceiling he noticed an oval place and was wondering what it was when it opened and a tray was lowered through the aperture on which was a supper, including a bottle of wine. The opening closed immediately, and the prisoner was too absorbed in his

DIED SUDDENLY OF HEART DISEASE.

How frequently does a head line similar to the above greet us in the newspapers. The rush, push and strenuousness of the American people has a strong tendency to lead up to valvular and other affections of the heart attended by irregular action, palpitation, dizziness, smothered sensations and other distressing symptoms.

Three of the prominent ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made are recommended by some of the leading writers on Materia Medica for the cure of just such cases. Golden Seal root, for instance, is said by the UNITED STATES DISPENSARY, a standard authority, to impart tone and increase power to the heart's action.

Numerous other leading authorities recognize Golden Seal as an unsurpassed tonic for the muscular system in general, and as the heart is almost wholly composed of muscular tissue, it naturally follows that it must be greatly strengthened by this superb, general tonic. But probably the most important ingredient of "Golden Medical Discovery," so far as its marvelous cures of valvular and other affections of the heart are concerned, is Stone root, which is named by Prof. Wm. Paine, author of Paine's Epitomy of Medicine, says of it:

"I not long since had a patient who was so much oppressed with valvular disease of the heart that his friends were obliged to carry him up stairs. He was gradually recovered under the influence of colonic medicinal principles extracted from Stone root, strengthening the stomach, invigorating the liver, regulating the bowels and curing catarrhs: affections in all parts of the system."

Stone root is also recommended by Drs. Hale and Ellingwood, of Chicago, for valvular and other diseases of the heart. The latter says: "It is a heart tonic of direct and permanent influence."

"Golden Medical Discovery," not only cures serious heart affections, but is a most efficient general tonic and invigorator, strengthening the stomach, invigorating the liver, regulating the bowels and curing catarrhs: affections in all parts of the system."

GOOD FEED STUFF.

Wheat Bran by the New Milling Process—Rich in Proteins.

Letters received at the Michigan experiment station indicate that in some parts of Michigan a prejudice exists against roller process wheat bran. Some farmers prefer finely ground bran, others are prejudiced in favor of coarser samples. The product of roller mills is not uniform in this respect.

In some samples the germ is ground with the bran; in other mills the germ is found either in the flour or as a separate byproduct. To get some light on the relation of the composition of bran to its physical appearance fourteen samples were analyzed, some of them from roller mills, some from bur stone mills, and others from smaller establishments. The per cent of protein varied from 14.32 per cent in the bran of a roller process mill with an annual output of 1,200 tons to 19 per cent in a first grade roller process bran from one of the immense mills in Minneapolis. Little variation was found in the composition of extremely coarse bran and the finer articles.

Roller Process Product Approved.

The chemist of the station says on this topic: The two extremes, the very coarse and the very fine, are of much the same composition, while neither shows the best sample so far as feeding properties are concerned. The medium grades generally show a better analysis than either of the extremes. Theoretically the bran produced by the roller process should be more valuable than that produced by bur stones, as in one the germ, which is rich in fat, is separated out with the flour and in the other this part goes into the bran. The roller process bran is all finer and is doubtless higher in protein than are those of the bur stone process. It is not so much the amount of starch present in the bran as the amount of protein and fat that is of consideration to the feeder. The end for which the millers are constantly working in the milling process, the most complete separation of the starch possible and the needs of the consumer of bran, a food rich in protein and fat, are identified. The new milling process instead of supplying the feeder with an inferior grade of feeding stuff furnishes him with one much superior to that supplied by the old process.

First Food For Chickens.

Poultrymen differ considerably as to when the chick shall have its first food. Good results have been secured when chicks have been permitted to pick a little sand or fine grit from a clean board when about thirty-six hours old and when about forty-eight hours old to eat breadcrumbs moistened in milk and squeezed dry. After that almost any of the prepared chick foods may be fed about five times a day till the chicks are two or three weeks old, when they will do well on wheat screenings and need not be fed oftener than three times a day. It is advisable to let the chicks have access to green feed at all times. Fine clover hay cut with an ordinary straw cutter is excellent and also makes a good litter to scatter the feed in. It is best, however, to give the last food at night on a clean board, letting the chicks eat all they will and then removing it.

REPORT ON THE SMOOT CASE

Both Sides Presented to the Senate

MINORITY MAKES REPORT

Majority Holds He Represents Mormon Hierarchy and Is as Guilty as If He Had Plural Wives.

Washington, June 12.—The majority and minority reports of the Committee on Privileges and Elections in the case of Senator Reed Smoot of Utah were yesterday presented in the Senate, the former by Senator Burrows, declaring that Mr. Smoot is not entitled to his seat, and the latter by Senator Foraker, taking the opposite view. At the same time Senator Bailey, who is a member of the committee, stated that while he concurred in the view of the majority that Mr. Smoot is not entitled to his seat, he was of the opinion that Mr. Smoot could not be deprived of his seat under "the Constitution, except by a resolution of expulsion." Mr. Burrows also gave notice that he would call up the case "at the earliest possible moment consistent with the public business," and Senator Foraker expressed his approval of this announcement. Senator Smoot was present in the Senate chamber when the report was presented. He smiled broadly when Senator Bailey made his statement. Under the plan suggested by the Texas senator a vote of two-thirds would be necessary to vacate the seat of the Utah senator.

The reasons for the action of the committee in declining, by a majority vote, that Reed Smoot is not entitled to a seat in the Senate as a senator from Utah, are stated to be as follows:

"That Mr. Smoot is one of a self-perpetuating body of men, known as the first presidency and twelve apostles of the Church of Christ of Latter Day Saints, commonly known as the Mormon Church; that these men claim divine authority to control the members of said Church in all things, temporal as well as spiritual; that this authority is, and has been for several years past, exercised by the said first presidency and twelve apostles as to encourage the practice of polygamy and polygamous cohabitation in the State of Utah and elsewhere; contrary to the Constitution and laws of the State of Utah and the law of the land; that the said first presidency and twelve apostles do now control, and for a long time past have controlled, the political affairs of the State of Utah, and have thus brought about in said State a union of Church and State, contrary to the constitution of said State of Utah and contrary to the constitution of the United States, and the said Reed Smoot, comes here, not as the accredited representative of the State of Utah, in the Senate of the United States, but as the choice of the hierarchy which controls the Church and has usurped the functions of the State in said State of Utah."

A sufficient number of specific instances of the taking of plural wives among officials of the Mormon Church since the manifesto of 1890 have been shown by the testimony, says the majority, "to demonstrate that the leaders, the first presidency and the twelve apostles, have been in the practice of taking plural wives, and have done so ever since the manifesto was issued which purported to put an end to the practice." Several instances of plural marriages by Church members are cited. The report adds:

"It is morally impossible that all these violators of the law of the State of Utah by contracting plural marriages could have been committed without the knowledge of the first presidency and the twelve apostles of the Mormon Church."

"The intensely interesting chapter of the report is devoted to the charge that the manifesto was suppressed by Mormon leaders through the practice of taking plural wives and other officials who were charged with taking plural wives since the manifesto. In the judgment of the committee, Mr. Smoot is no more entitled to a seat in the Senate than he would be if he were associating in polygamous cohabitation with a plurality of wives."

Report of the Minority.

That Reed Smoot possesses all the qualifications prescribed by the Constitution to make him eligible to a seat in the Senate is the conclusion reached by the minority of the committee. This report is signed by Senators Foraker, Beveridge, Dillingham, Hopkins and Knox. The minority says:

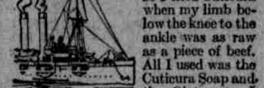

"We are of opinion that no ground has been established on which to predicate a finding or belief that Mr. Smoot ever took an obligation involving hostility to the United States, or requiring him regard his allegiance to the Mormon Church as paramount to his allegiance and duty to the United States.

As to whether Senator Smoot by virtue of his official relation to the Church is one of its apostles, has any responsibility for the continuation of polygamous cohabitation by members of that Church, the minority says:

"It will be found by examination of the testimony that he has never at any time, and particularly he has not since the manifesto of 1890, countenanced or encouraged plural marriages; but that on the contrary, he has uniformly upheld the policy of the Church, as announced by that proclamation, by actively advocating and exerting his influence to effect a complete discontinuation of such marriages and that in the few instances established by the testimony where plural marriages and polygamous cohabitation, as a result of them, have occurred since 1890, they have been without any encouragement, countenance or approval whatever on his part."

The examination was conducted by Postmaster Willard S. Hatch.

Children's day was observed at the Methodist church on the west hill and at the Congregational church here, the exercises being largely attended. The repairs on the auditorium that for several weeks have been in process have been completed and the exercises which were especially interesting and appropriate were held in the newly repaired auditorium, which without question is not excelled for neatness and beauty among the county churches. Commitments were heard on every hand for the children for the very excellent manner in which they carried out their parts of the programme.

"MEAT LAW TO HAVE TEETH"

Mr. Henry Says There Will Be Legislation

LIKE BEVERIDGE BILL

With Perhaps Some Modification—He Says That He Believes That It Will Suit the People and the President.

Washington, June 12.—Consideration of the proposed meat inspection law occupied some time yesterday at the White House, the President consulting with several members of Congress.

Representative Henry of Connecticut, one of the members of the agriculture committee, talked with the President, but at the conclusion of his conference said he could not go into details concerning the situation.

"A satisfactory meat inspection law will be enacted," said Mr. Henry. "It will be a law which will have teeth, too. It will be along the lines of the proposed amendment of Senator Beveridge to the agricultural appropriation bill, but there may be some modification of that proposition."

Mr. Henry would not venture to say precisely what the House provision would contain, but he thought it would meet the approval of the President and the people.

Speaker Cannon and Senator Hopkins of Illinois also discussed the subject of meat inspection with the President. "As to meat inspection," said the speaker, "I haven't talked five minutes with the members of the agricultural committee about the matter. The committee in its wisdom will report to the House such a measure as it shall deem just, and we, as the great body of the House, as a deliberative body against the non-deliberate Senate (with compliments to Senator Hopkins, who was standing near) will pass upon the committee's proposition. The House will pass an inspection measure that will be just and fair alike to the public, the packers, the stock raisers and the shippers."

The House committee on agriculture was in executive session most of yesterday, endeavoring to amend the Beveridge meat inspection measure. It may take the greater part of today to finally shape up the bill.

The chief charge agreed to by the committee yesterday was to meet the wish of the packers by striking out of the Beveridge provision requiring date of inspection to be placed on labels on canned meats.

Venue Stock.

Probably no branch of forest utilization, with the possible exception of the manufacture of pulp wood, shows such rapid development in this country as the veneer industry. Until very recently the opinion has prevailed that the kinds of timber which could be made into veneer were very limited in number, but the reports furnished by the veneer producers to the forest service include twenty-four species. Many of these, to be sure, are now cut in unimportant quantities, but the tendency to experiment with new woods is clearly shown.

How to Kill House Flies.

The department of agriculture states that in France a prize of $2,000 was offered for the best method of killing house flies. It was won for a suggestion to use oil stirred in water in vaults and cesspools. For manure the oil is mixed with sand or phosphate scattered over the piles. This prevents eggs laying or hatching, as most of this is done in manure piles.

Farm Brevities.

Keep the celery plant bed well cultivated and scrupulously clean of weeds. If really first class plants are wanted do not allow them to stand thicker than about twenty-five to the square foot, and less will be better. Apply nitrate of soda in small quantities, say 100 to 200 pounds an acre.

Recent investigations indicate that when liquid manure is applied to the soil the plant food in the manure is absorbed and held in the soil and is not immediately washed out if not made use of by the plants.

In using nitrate of soda as fertilizer for corn it is advised to drop it three to six inches away from the seed corn.

Ivy in England.

In England the ivy is considered an emblem of fidelity. In all parts of Great Britain the ivy grows with a luxuriance unknown in most other quarters of the world, and the tenaciousness with which its tendrils cling to rocks and walls is supposed to have originated the idea of the symbol.

INDEPENDENT CONVENTION

Date Set for Burlington, June 28, in Burlington.

Apportionment of Delegates to Each Town—Caucuses Called for Week of June 16-23—Official Call and Signatures.

At a meeting held at the Barwick, Rutland, Vt., on Wednesday, May 30, 1906, the following call was issued:

The independent voters of the state of Vermont are hereby summoned to meet in convention at Burlington, Vt., on the 28th day of June, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of nominating candidates for the offices of governor, lieutenant-governor, treasurer, secretary of state, auditor and attorney general;

To elect a state committee, formulate a platform and to transact any other business proper when met.

Delegates for this convention shall be elected upon the basis set forth here-with, and while all legal voters of the state who favor an independent movement in the election of our state officers are cordially invited to be present, delegates will be seated in strict accordance with the report of the committee upon credentials, which, for the purposes of this call, will consist of the provisional committee which signs these articles.

The said committee further recommends that caucuses for the election of such delegates shall be held in the various towns of the state between the 16th and the 23rd of June and the credentials returned a once to S. J. Beatty, Burlington, Vt.
