SMASHED EMPTY COACH.

Two Flat Cars Loaded with Marble Cause Crash at Manchester.

Manchester, July 7.--Ten people had a narrow escape at Manchester Depot yesterday before noon, yesterday when a flat car on the Manchester, Dorset & Franville railroad, loaded with huge blocks of marble, crashed into an empty combination coach and baggage car, which had just been vacated. All the passengers had left the car and no one was injured, but the crash came a moment earlier, several lives would have been lost as the car was entirely demolished. The two flat cars loaded with 15-ton blocks of marble got away from the Norcross-West quarry, two miles north of South Dorset, soon after the passenger train left South Dorset. The train arrived at the station at Manchester Depot at 11:40 and the passengers had just alighted and the train had pulled out on the main track when the two wild cars going at terrific speed dashed into the empty coach and completely destroyed it.

GOOD WORK.

New Sullivan Drills Break All Previous Records.

Yesterday at quarry No. 6 of the Consolidated granite company, a test was made of an improved plug drill, recently gotten out by the Sullivan machinery company of Claremont, N. H., and Chicago. It was a plug drill, and made with drills of this class were broken. George H. Gilman, representing the above company, conducted the test, with the assistance of Robert Arthur, who operated the drill. In the presence of J. W. McDonald, president of the quarry company, J. G. McLeod and several others, plug holes were drilled in granite, 5/8 of an inch in diameter and 2 1/2 inches deep in fifteen seconds, and 4 1/2 inches deep in ten seconds. This record exceeds the best previous record known to have been made in this vicinity, by one inch in 15 seconds. Mr. Gilman is also introducing a new foot-hole drill, which is another of his inventions. This machine possesses the unique distinction of automatically regulating the drill steel during the process of drilling. It is of the pneumatic hammer type and is easily operated by one man. On a trial run with this drill, a hole 1 1/2 inches in diameter and 1 1/2 inches in depth was drilled in granite in two minutes and 30 seconds. Both drills are at present in operation at the above quarry.

MORMONS IN VERMONT.

Intend to Hold a Church Reunion at So. Royalton.

South Royalton, July 7.--The memorial grounds around the monument erected in Royalton by the Mormons to mark the birthplace of Joseph Smith, the founder of the sect, are nearly completed. An artificial lake is being made by landscape gardeners from New York and the place promises to become a popular resort. It is reported that a Mormon church day will be observed at the monument on or about July 31, and delegations from New York, Boston, and perhaps Salt Lake City, Utah, are expected, but the details have not been worked out. There was an interesting flag raising at the monument July 4. A liberty pole painted white, sixty feet high, had been erected in a commanding mound north of the Joseph Smith monument, and a fine new flag 10 by 18 feet in size was purchased. About 2 o'clock the sun came out and the neighbors assembled around the flag staff. Among them was a greatly interested crowd of citizens. They took part in writing the names of the thirteen original states upon cannon firecrackers, which were exploded in their honor, and after these a monster one for Vermont, the one for Utah, and one for the President. The salutes ended with a big one for the flag.

It was known that Watson had been working in Springfield and an officer of that town was notified at once of the theft. He soon found the missing wheel in some bushes beside the road. Watson too was easily located.

I am pleased to inform you that Brattleboro is not to be included in the list of towns in which the New England insurance exchange will increase rates. There may be two or three individual special hazards that will be increased, but there will be no general advance in your mercantile section."

STAMPS PULLED OFF.

Internal Revenue Officer Seized Seven Boxes of Cigars.

While attending the baseball game at the Intercity park yesterday afternoon, Internal Revenue Officer Gleason of Burlington noticed that boys were selling cigars in boxes that did not have the revenue stamp on them. He rounded up the boys and found seven boxes without the stamp and seized them. Thomas Callaghan and Joseph Lavery, who run the cigar and lemonade stand at the grounds, were questioned by the officer and they stated that they had purchased the cigars at P. N. Whelan's cigar store and supposed that the boxes were all right. The boxes showed that Wheeler had put the stamp on, as the red cancelling marks showed on the boxes, but the stamp had probably been pulled off by the boys while selling them.

SCARED THEM AWAY.

Mrs. Alexander Dow Waived Revolvers at Burglars in New York Home.

Mrs. Alexander Dow, better known as Miss Maud Furniss, an actress, who is a niece of Mrs. L. M. Williams of this city and who frequently visits here, recently figured in an exciting escapade in New York, in which she routed two burglars at the point of a revolver. Mrs. Dow is the wife of a millionaire clubman and inventor. When Mrs. Dow discovered the burglars in her house at 36 East 74th street, they had packed a lot of goods in the wardrobe and were saying: "It made me so angry that I forgot to be afraid. I started right down stairs, shouting at the top of my voice and waving the revolver. The burglars just dropped the coats, silver and all and bolted for the front door, which they had left slightly open. Their flight gave me fresh courage and I rushed out after them. When I got to the steps they were running at top speed toward Park avenue. There was a street-sweeper at the time with the revolver to pursue the burglars. He started on an run in the same direction they had taken, but whether he was running away from my weapon or after the burglars I don't know. At any rate he disappeared after them around the corner and did not return until I had re-entered the house." Mrs. Dow visited in Barre two days ago, and the many friends here will be interested in reading of her courage.

LOCAL POLITICS.

Promise of a Hot Contest in Republican Caucus Next Tuesday.

The Republican caucus to elect delegates to the county convention will be held in the opera house next Tuesday evening and there is promise of an interesting time. There will probably be three tickets, one favoring E. G. Howland for state senator, one favoring John W. Dillon for the same position and one favoring M. M. Gordon for state attorney. It is considered that the Barre candidate securing the Barre delegation will be nominated for state senator at the county convention and the friends of both Dillon and Howland are putting in some good work to secure a good attendance at the caucus, and there promises to be something doing next Tuesday evening.

BIG STICKS WITH THEM

Champions Lay Out the New Yorkers Easily

A SHUT OUT, SCORE 6 TO 0

Burns Pitched a Splendid Game and the Fielders Backed Him Well--Sheets Made a Dazzling Catch.

With Eddie Burns pitching masterly ball and backed up in clean shape, the Intercity played Plattsburg to a shut out, 6 to 0, on the home grounds yesterday afternoon. The locals were out with their big sticks and batted the Plattsburg south-paw, Washburne, for 10 safe hits and earned every one of the six scores. In the eighth Sheets made the most sensational one-handed catch ever seen on the grounds, and it was what shut out the New Yorkers. With Lash on second and Collins at first, and two men out, Move sent the ball nearly on a line toward the center field fence. While Lash and Collins were making their best time for the home plate, Sheets darted after the ball, and reaching up his gloved hand received it squarely in his glove and held it, while he tumbled against the fence. The excited crowd roared about loud or long enough to suit them. It was a most opportune, as well as dazzling catch. Burns passed four men to first, but with a man on a base, he pitched all the better, and the five singles made off him were uselessly scattered. Empire Hassetz made his third appearance here and he was way off in his decisions throughout the game, both on balls and strikes and at the bases. Uniac put up so vigorous a kick against some of his decisions in the eighth that the funny man missed his authority again by putting him out of the game. Warner taking his position for the first half of the ninth. It was a pitcher's battle alone up to the fifth inning, when Uniac started things going with a single which struck against the center field fence. Ashmore followed with another safe one, but was put out at second on Sheets' grounder to short. Uniac getting to third, Burns went out on an assist by the pitcher, which advanced Sheets to second. With two strikes and three balls on Daniels, Capt. Lash called to Washburne to let Daniels walk and take his chances on Elliott's left-handed batter. There were two strikes on Elliott, and it looked as if the captain had made the right move, but it takes only one to hit it, and Elliott bopped the next one over the first baseman's head into right field, and Uniac and Sheets scored. Davis closed the inning on a ground hit to the pitcher.

FILLED TANK, LIGHTS ON

Joseph St. Jock of St. Johnsbury Has Experience

AND MAY NOT RECOVER

He Started to Fill His Automobile Tank, and Immediately the Whole Machine Caught Fire.

St. Johnsbury, July 7.--Joseph St. Jock was badly burned early yesterday morning while filling the tank of his automobile with gasoline. He had returned at 1:30 a. m. from Littleton and attempted to fill the tank without putting on the lights. In some way the volatile fluid spilled over the lamps and immediately everything seemed to be on fire. Mr. St. Jock rushed out doors and extinguished the flames by rolling in the damp grass. He was badly burned about the face and arms and suffered intensely until the doctors arrived, and gave him hypodermics. He has been resting through the day under the influence of the opiates, and the doctors hope he will recover. The two companions who were with him extinguished the fire in the garage and one of them had his hands burned when he carried the gasoline can out of doors.

BUTTED INTO BURLINGTON.

"John J. Shea of Barre" Ended in Police Court Yesterday.

Burlington, July 7.--A young man who gave his name as John J. Shea was arraigned in city court yesterday on a charge of intoxication. He pleaded guilty in a very good, matured manner. The court then imposed a fine of $5 and costs of $9.75. Mr. Shea said he could pay. The court said he was sorry to think a young man should voluntarily place himself in such a predicament. Mr. Shea is from Barre where he works as a stone cutter in the quarries. He came to Burlington to spend the Fourth and found the city so alluring he concluded to remain, the result being disastrous to himself. He has been over from the old country only about five years.

FRANK ROBBINS' CIRCUS IS IN BARRE TODAY

Is Apparently Prepared to Give Its Patrons a Clean Show at the Trotting Park.

Today is circus day for the people of Barre and the surrounding towns. Certainly the day could not be better, and the circus promises to give its share in making the public enjoy itself. The Frank A. Robbins' circus train reached Barre at five o'clock this morning, coming from Randolph, where they played yesterday. Work began at once to the trotting park, where the surgeon already had the plan laid out on the ground. This morning there is a small canvas city on the grounds; a large four-post main tent, under which are two rings and a stage, where the main show will take place; the animal tent, which shelters the menagerie and nearly 100 horses used with the show; the eating tent, where all the hands employed by the circus, about 350 in all, are fed. Numerous small tents are springing up around these larger ones, each one of which has some special work to do in making the circus a complete success. The grand appearance of the circus at half past ten and was enthusiastically greeted by the good-sized crowd assembled on the sidewalks. The afternoon show begins promptly at two o'clock. From all outward appearances this is one of the cleanest shows that has struck Barre in some time. Among the best features of this show are the aerial Lloyds, who present a decided novelty in the air. It is different from any we have ever seen, and the wonderful precision in tossing a boy or a girl from one to the other is truly marvelous. The Herbert Brothers are away above the average acrobatic teams and the turning of double somersaults from shoulder to shoulder seems as play to them. The big feature of the show is Prof. Herzog's beautiful trained stallions, imported in this country from the circus at Hamburg, Germany. Prettier horses would be hard to find, and the manoeuvres they perform prove their deserving the title of the most erudite equines on earth.
