

CRUISER DENVER CLEARS DECK FOR TROUBLE

A United States Vessel in Havana Harbor Has Taken a Position Commanding Approach to Palma's Palace

INSURGENT ATTACK EXPECTED TODAY

President Palma Declares That at First Indication of Attack He Shall Flee to Protection of the United States.

Havana, Sept. 14.—The U. S. cruiser Denver has moved to the foot of O'Reilly street within a stone's throw of the presidential palace in readiness to receive President Palma. A steam launch is kept constantly waiting and the way from the palace to the water is cleared. Palma says that at the first indication of trouble he will go aboard the Denver. The vessel's quick-firing guns have been cleared for action. There is every expectation of a general attack on the city today.

Last evening 120 sailors from the Denver landed and made camp in front of old La Furza castle, facing the Plaza d'Armas. They were armed with regulation rifles with the exception of a few who carried revolvers or carbines. Two field howitzers and two rapid fire guns were sent shore.

The reason for the sudden landing of the American sailors was a conference between President Palma and Charge d'Affaires Sleeper and Commander Colwell yesterday. On the occasion of the latter's formal call upon President Palma, Mr. Sleeper asked the President whether he considered that the government was able to protect all American interests in Havana unaided. The President replied that he hoped the government would be able to do so, but himself suggested that it might be advisable as a measure of precaution in the interests of Americans as well as for the maintenance of order in general to land marines at some convenient point, suggested the Plaza d'Armas as the place.

Mr. Sleeper and Commander Colwell after a brief conference decided that the landing should be made last evening at 5:30 o'clock the detachment under command of Executive Officer Miller began coming ashore with arms, ammunition and camp paraphernalia and took up a position commanding the approaches to the palace. Two hours later the commissary outfit followed with supper for the officers and men.

ORDERED TO LEAVE HAVANA AT ONCE

All Except Small Body of United States Troops Sent Back to Cruiser Denver Last Night.

Washington, Sept. 14.—It was officially announced here late last night that the sailors who were landed at Havana from the American cruiser Denver have been ordered to immediately return to their vessel, save for a small guard, which will be left at the American legation. This action followed the receipt of an official report by Acting Secretary of State Bacon from Mr. Sleeper, the American charge d'affaires at Havana, regarding the landing of the men. The report was not made public, but it was announced officially shortly afterward that the sailors were landed from the Denver solely for the protection of the lives and property of American citizens; that such action was in pursuance of a discussion between Mr. Sleeper, the charge, and the naval commander, with the belief that it was a wise precaution looking to the protection of the lives and property of Americans.

There was no intention, it is stated, to do otherwise than to safeguard the American interests and the services of the American citizens who were landed from the Denver solely for the protection of the lives and property of Americans. It is stated, to do otherwise than to safeguard the American interests and the services of the American citizens who were landed from the Denver solely for the protection of the lives and property of Americans.

FINE TRIBUTE TO FR. GAFFNEY

Funeral of Beloved Priest in Rutland To Day

WAS LARGELY ATTENDED

Priests from All Parts of the State Gathered to Officiate—St. Peter's Church Could Not Hold the Mourners.

Rutland, Sept. 14.—The most elaborate obsequies witnessed in this city in many years were solemnized today at the funeral of Rev. Thomas J. Gaffney at St. Peter's church, where he had presided as rector for 30 years. Scores of priests from all parts of New England were in this city to pay tribute to the dead clergyman and business was practically suspended in the city during funeral hours. The church was heavily draped with crepe and public buildings were hung with mourning. The big church which seats 3,000 would permit only a small part of the people to attend the services.

Bishop J. S. Michaud of Burlington assisted at the mass from the throne. Rev. Edward S. Reynolds of Bellows Falls was celebrant at the requiem high mass. Rev. D. J. O'Sullivan of St. Albans was deacon. Rev. John Calligan of Burlington acted as sub-deacon and Rev. P. J. Doherty of this city as master of ceremonies. The bearers were some of Rutland's most prominent merchants and professional men: George C. Underhill, Thomas W. Moloney, Michael Clifford, William S. Smith, Dr. John D. Harraban and Anthony Hogan. There were fully 2,000 people in the procession which accompanied the remains from the church to the grave, the burial being in Calvary cemetery, which Father Gaffney founded. In the procession there were, besides the pall bearers and escort of priests, the choir and delegations from all the local Catholic societies.

Fr. Gaffney's Work.

Fr. Thomas J. Gaffney was born in Ireland 63 years ago. His boyhood was spent in that country, his early education being received at Maynooth college and All Hall's college, near Dublin. When about 20 years of age he came to this country and finished his education at Montreal and St. Michael's.

In 1867, at the age of 34, he came to Rutland, after having been ordained at Burlington. After serving about a year as curate under Fr. Boylan he became parish priest at Dorset, also taking charge of missions at Wallingford, Mr. Holly and Manchester. This post he held long trips from one town to another in all kinds of weather. It was probably during this time that he contracted the bronchial affection which has troubled him ever since.

When Father Charles J. Boylan died, Fr. Gaffney returned to Rutland as parish priest, which position he had held up to the present time. Under his guidance the congregation has increased, the church debt has been liquidated and the parochial schools improved and enlarged. He founded Calvary cemetery.

Fr. Gaffney always insisted upon the strict observance of the church law by his parishioners and his crusades against dancing and card playing have made him the object of much comment.

Fr. Gaffney was an extensive traveler, having made trips to Europe and the West Indies.

During the latter trip he visited the Vatican at Rome, where he led a party of 12 priests and 50 laymen in an audience before Pope Pius X, making the presentation address in Latin. Upon his return to Rutland his parishioners presented him with a purse of $500.

BARNEY CANNON DEAD.

Bellows Falls Man Former G. A. R. Department Commander.

Bellows Falls, Sept. 14.—Postmaster Barney Cannon died at 10:20 o'clock yesterday forenoon of valvular heart disease. He had been in ill health for about three months, and a change for the worse appeared one week ago yesterday.

Mr. Cannon was born in Weston, June 25, 1847. He enlisted in the 6th Vermont volunteers, when he was 15 years old. At the close of the civil war he settled in this village, where he followed the trade of carriage painter. He was instrumental in forming a G. A. R. post here in 1880 and became its commander. He was an aide on the staff of the G. A. R. department commander in 1889, department commander in 1893, and department commander in 1903. In 1890 he was appointed postmaster here, holding the office for four years. He was appointed again in 1895 and had held the position since that time.

A LIVELY SESSION TO HEAR APPEALS

Attorney Hoar Cross-examined Assessors as to Grounds for Raising Various Appraisals of Property in the City.

The monumental task of the board of civil authority in hearing the appeals of taxpayers who are aggrieved over their quadrennial appraisal grows with each evening's session. The board held its third meeting last night and still has about thirty appeals to hear, so that adjournment was taken until tonight at 7 o'clock.

Last evening's session was enlivened by Attorney Richard A. Hoar's presentation of the appeal of Charles H. Campbell and the Perry & Scribner water system. On the former Attorney Hoar declared that the assessors had raised the appraisal of Mr. Campbell's house on Elm street from $2,500 to $3,200 without knowing how much ground he owned, how many rooms there were in the building, what the finish was, in fact, he couldn't find out what the assessors did know about the property. He thought the raise excessive and began to cross-examine the assessors, and Assessor Page objected. Chairman Howland ruled that Mr. Hoar could question the assessors, and the latter then declared he objected to having Assessors Page and Scott, both of whom are justices of the peace, sitting in judgment on their own appraisal. Mr. Hoar was told that neither of the two men had taken the oath as justices of the peace and so was not a member of the board of civil authority.

Attorney Hoar thought the appraisal of Mr. Campbell's half of the Granite block was out of proportion with other property.

When the appeal of Perry & Scribner on the raise of their water system from $1,300 to $3,200 came up Attorney Hoar began quizzing the assessors again. He asked them on what grounds they jumped the appraisal $2,000, and the assessors, from some waiting replied that it was what they considered right; they had made it on the pipes in the ground, cost of construction, superintendence, etc., that they had tried to secure accurate information and could not. Then Attorney Hoar declared that the court has held that an arduous consists of the pipes in the ground and that appraisal could not be made on work of construction, etc. He was backed up by William A. Boyce who also took a turn at cross-examining the assessors on the McFarland & Boyce water system.

Other appeals were heard as follows: Mrs. C. D. Carpenter, house 31 Brookly street, raised $700 to $1,100, thought $800 enough.

Frederic Waters had paid taxes for 49 years and had never protested before. It was complained of on raise of South Main street property from $1,800 to $2,900, thought $1,500 right. E. W. Russell thought $2,200 appraisal of his Eastern avenue house was $100 too much in comparison with surrounding property.

C. C. Sturpee wanted his home place 263 North Main street cut from $1,800 to $3,500 because it can't be sold or leased, being tied up by will and going to his grand-children. His house on West street was raised from $3,500 to $4,200 and should be reduced to $3,800. William Brown, a grantee under thought a raise of $1,200 to $1,300 was too much as they didn't have any of the improvements, not even seeing the mayor up their way. Alex U. Stephen reported that the old appraisal $950 was enough on his Beekley street property, whereas the assessors had put it up to $1,200.

Fr. Gaffney showed that the appraisal of R. H. Wells, 100 North Main street, thought not in proportion to surrounding property; $2,000 fair appraisal. John Broderick wanted old assessment on Hale street house, which was $400; had been raised to $600. Frite Jackson thought $1,700 a fair valuation of his Hill street residence; assessors had raised it from $1,500 to $1,900. Robert Knox, home place on Beacon street, raised $600 to $1,600, thought $1,400 sufficient. C. L. Bates, two houses on Third street thought he should have old appraisal as water from sewer got into cellar of one of houses.

H. A. Holt compared his house on Wellington street with Assessor H. W. Scott's, thought Scott's was better but was in the list lower. He was raised from $1,600 to $2,200, would not object to $2,000.

A. H. Buzell presented the following appeals: 45 Merchant street, raised from $2,900 to $3,200 should be $3,000; Nos. 2 and 5 Addison street, should be old appraisal of $1,700 instead of $1,800; off Pearl street, house would sell for $500, had been raised from $500 to $600. H. J. Stanton had one house on Quarry street, three on Hill street, old appraisal of all $2,900, thought should be cut down from new figures, $3,500. Miss Carrie I. Bemis wanted old appraisal of $700 (raised $800) on North Main street house. Mary Jane Duxie asked for reduction on one house, 3 Railroad street, two houses on Durkee place, house
