Clyde Fitch, in a kindly letter to a young and unknown playwright, said: "I like your play; I thought it promising, but in the first act you imitated Ibsen, in the second you imitated Pinero, and in the third and fourth you imitated Barrie. This will never do."

"Imitation in art is always bad. It suggests the shadow man who, as he sipped a glass of beer looked in the mirror behind the bar and muttered to himself: "Here I am wearing a railroad president's shoes, the trousers of a senator, the hat of a millionaire banker, the waistcoat of a Newport society leader, and an ambassador's coat; and yet in spite of all, I look like a tramp!" - Washington Star.

WESTERN ROADS PLAN TO CUT THE SPEED

OFFICIALS MEET IN CHICAGO

Roads Likely to Contest the Postmaster General's Recent Order in Regard to the Mail Payments.

Chicago, March 15.—Passenger traffic managers of all the western lines met in the committee rooms of the Western Passenger association Thursday to discuss plans to reduce the speed of passenger trains. Their conclusions will be presented to the officers of the operating departments and a definite plan for concentrated action will be taken up at a future meeting. It is probable that some of the accommodation trains, which have been operated at a loss, will be discontinued.

The operating officials are a unit in the contention that the move is not so much an economic one as one of safety. Lengthening of the time of passenger trains, they believe, will decrease the number of accidents and also give the dispatchers increased facility for moving the trains on time.

A fine of 20 per cent of the mail train earnings is imposed by the government for a delay of thirty minutes or more. Under this rule, which went into effect on July 1, 1896, some of the roads operating fast mail trains are short about $3,000 for fines imposed, some of which will be contested. It is believed a lengthening of the schedules will enable the roads to escape fines.

Another reason given for lengthening the time of trains carrying the mails is the new divisor ordered by the postmaster general. The postmaster general has ordered future computation of payment for carrying mails on the basis of seven days instead of six. This, the railroads assert, is a hardship, as the government does not recognize services performed on Sunday, and while the mail weight will be computed on a basis of a total for seven days, the pay will be on a basis of six working days.

It is probable that the railroads will contest this ruling of the postmaster general.

COMMON SENSE PREVAILS IN DOG BREEDING.

More Good Dogs Now Than Ever.

"The history of dog shows has proved that in a big majority of cases, common sense and practical knowledge of what a breed was originally intended for has prevailed in dog breeding," writes R. F. Meyher in "Dogdom's Four Hundred" in the March Everybody's. "Any effort to intensify a particular point to the damage or exclusion of other properties has invariably been nipped in the bud, and fanatics have been compelled to become converts to the common-sense theory, or to confine their doctrines to their own narrow circle. The inestimable good that bench shows have done in the advancement of all the breeds can be realized only when one looks back in blocks of five years over a period of thirty years."

"Chronic growlers there are who deplore the shadowy laws of the past. To comparative newcomers their railings and bemoanings have the sound of a Selen. To the old hand who has followed the traditions of past luminaries and the despairing criticisms of present celebrities are the vapors of the incompetent."

"Never in the history of dogdom have there been so many specimens worthy the title of champion as there are today, and never so many sterling representatives unable to attain the honor."

MORE WISHES.

If pa could only make one wish and that wish would come true, I'd bet I know the one he'd make; I'll tell it to you, too; He wouldn't wish that he was rich; he'd wish that he could be a senator in Washington, because then, don't you see, He'd be as great as Webster was, or even Henry Clay, And if he was elected he'd be wealthy, any way.

If ma could have a wish—just one—and get it, too, you know, She wouldn't wish for wealth, although she does want money so; I'll bet she wouldn't wish that pa could sit upon a throne And she could wear a queenly crown that would be all her own; She wouldn't wish that pa was great so he could strut about, She'd wish that she was twenty-five years old and wan't stout.

If Sister Geraldine could wish one wish that she could get, The first time that I tried I'd guess what it would be; I'll bet; She wouldn't wish that she could have more beauty than she's got, Because she thinks she's pretty now—I don't say that she's not; She wouldn't wish for lots of beaux or any kind of sport, She'd wish she had a title and was introduced at court.

If I could have one wish, gee whiz, it wouldn't take me long To study up the wish I'd wish—I'd make it good and strong, I wouldn't wish to look so fine and grand that everywhere I ever had to go the girls would stop and turn and stare; I'd wish I was the champion and every place I went The people all would know me as "the pugilistic gent."

DIRE DISTRESS

It Is Near at Hand to Hundreds of Barre Readers.

Don't neglect an aching back. Backache is the kidney's cry for help. Neglect hurrying to their aid. Means that urinary troubles follow quickly.

Dire distress, diabetes, Bright's disease.

Mrs. Daniel Ryan of 54 West street, Barre, Vt., says: "On account of kidney complaint I was hardly able to do my housework. The severe pains in my back, with the headaches and spells of dizziness, were almost more than I could bear. There was also a kidney weakness which disturbed my rest at night. I could hardly stoop over on account of the pain in my back and every cold I caught was sure to settle in my back and aggravate the whole trouble. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and sent my little girl to E. A. Drown's drug store for a box. They were just what I needed and acted directly on the kidneys, relieving the aching in my back and correcting the action of the kidney secretions, while the spells of dizziness passed away. My back became stronger, I felt better in every way and could do my work without feeling the weakness in my back. You are at liberty to tell the people of Barre what Doan's Kidney Pills did for me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Vermont's Progress Toward Prohibition

Vermont's local option law is apparently working slowly toward a fair amount of voluntary prohibition, as it was meant to do and should. At the recent elections the number of places voting for license was further reduced from thirty to twenty-five, so that the sentiment of the communities appears to be predominantly for the prohibitive law. Burlington, curiously enough, which is the most populous city and the one which might be most inconvinced, in theory, by prohibition forced upon it by State law, is now dry, by her own neighborhood fiat and will continue so until the next opportunity at least, if not longer. Burlington used to be one of the chief complainants against State prohibition.

That she has swung over to the "no" column, however, should tend to convince the friends of temperance that under the local option law communities can be depended upon to vote this occasionally, even when they are fairly large. And it is vastly better that the matter be left to the individually smaller units of population, since thereby the local expression is apt to have more determination behind it and really result in a greater measure of actual prohibition when prohibition is invoked at all. Each community now works out its problem to suit its own needs, as it ought to do; and it is notable that the number of towns and cities voting more steadily diminished, after a trial of about four years. That the number at first should have been larger was natural enough, as a result of the reaction. It is probable that by this time the State has come pretty near the normal number of "wet" towns.
