Doing Business Again. "When my friends thought I was about to take my leave of this world, on account of indigestion, nervousness and general debility," writes A. A. Chisholm, Treadwell, N. Y., "and when it looked as if there was no hope left, I was persuaded to try Electric Bitters, and I rejoice to say that they are curing me. I am now doing business again as of old, and am still gaining daily. Best tonic medicine on earth. Guaranteed by the Red Cross pharmacy, 59c."

"Piff, Paff, Poff." Some musical comedies are often forgotten in a season and some go on making stage history until they are accepted as standard amusements. Such an attraction is B. C. Whitney's musical cocktail, "Piff, Paff, Poff" now in its third year. It is certainly one of the most useful works of its kind that has ever been produced, and the look is as clever and amusing as anything which the stage has seen in years. Since "Piff, Paff, Poff" was first produced at the Casino theatre, New York, three years ago, it has played nearly all the important cities in the country and some of the best of the best of the country. The story is the same—success. "Piff, Paff, Poff" is headed by Denman Haley as "Peter Puffin" the "Sandman" of Swamp Root fame, assisted by fifty-five very able persons which will be seen at the opera house on next Friday evening, April 5th.

No doubt the invention of wireless telegraphy was foreshadowed by a book of philosophy which appeared in 1617. This work mentions communication between two persons at different points by means of a loadstone and a needle placed upon a metal dial.

INDUSTRIAL ITEMS. Spain's salt works extract 350,000 tons of salt yearly from the sea. The world uses 62,000 tons of rubber yearly, and the demand exceeds the supply.

Neuchatel, in Switzerland, manufactures a million watches a year, of an average value of $10 apiece.

France has a nine-hour day for miners, but will have an eight-hour day in four years from now. In Belgium most miners work ten hours a day.

Venetian Glass. Venetian glass is not made in Venice, but in the island of Murano.

Will Harriman Win the Belt?

The American Magazine is afraid that E. H. Harriman is going to win the belt away from John D.D. Rockefeller—the belt awarded by a grateful public to its most unpopular citizens. Here are some of the editor's own words, taken from the April number: "Distinctly the man of the hour is Harriman. For three months I have sat in this office and firmly dealt with a procession of writers who asked, may I beg, for the privilege of writing about Harriman. It seemed at one time as if the literature of the twentieth century would consist entirely of works on one subject. A hundred years hence anthologists would speak of 1907 as the opening of the early Harriman period. The Harrimanoclast is a person not easily put off. He has fervor; he has imagination; he has a rooted belief that he alone can properly deal with this marvelous anti-Washington. It is hard to deal adequately with a genius who believes that Harriman caused the Johnstown flood and was responsible for the recent epidemic of scarlet fever in Heikken county. The school is numerous and enthusiastic and makes great progress against the defamers of Harriman's bad repute. Recently one of these, in Dr. Albert Shaw's illuminating Monthly Scissors" undertook in a spirit of savage detraction to prove that Mr. Harriman was not nearly as bad as he was painted, but it was a feeble performance based on the fact that Mr. Harriman's father was an Episcopalian clergyman, as if a man who had been in Wall street for forty years could not live down his ancestry."

Alcohol not needed

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is not a strong drink. As now made, there is not a drop of alcohol in it. It is a non-alcoholic tonic and alterative. Ask your own doctor about your taking this medicine for thin, impure blood. Follow his advice every time. He knows. Trust him. We have no secrets! We publish the formulae of all our preparations.

Wanted a Door.

In Rockville, Md., each year there is held a series of races "for all comers." On one such occasion the sun was blazing down on the field of hot, excited horses and men, all waiting for a tall, raw-boned beast to yield to the importunities of the starter and get in line. The patience of the starter was nearly exhausted. "Bring up that horse!" he shouted, "bring him up!" You'll get into trouble pretty soon if you don't!" The rider of the refractory beast, a youthful Irishman, yelled back: "I can't help it! This here's been a cab horse, and he won't start till the door shuts, and I ain't got no door!"—Argonaut.

REAPING BENEFIT

From the Experience of Barre People. We are fortunate indeed to be able to profit by the experience of our neighbors. The public utterances of Barre residents on the following subject will interest and benefit thousands of readers. Read this statement. Its emphasis and convincing. No better proof can be had.

L. H. Hooker, retired, of 101 Prospect street, Barre, Vt., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got at E. A. Drown's, did me more good than all the prescriptions and other remedies I ever used. Over eight years ago I gave a statement for publication telling what they had done for me, and today I have even more confidence in them than I had at that time. I had suffered for a long time from kidney complaint, and it finally became so bad that my condition was considered serious. My back ached nearly all the time, an annoying urinary difficulty existed and the action of my kidneys was disordered. I used every remedy I heard of, but without beneficial results until I at last resorted to Doan's Kidney Pills. I used in all five boxes and received wonderful relief. I use this remedy occasionally now, and have recommended it to dozens of people, many of whom have been so greatly benefited that they have come back and thanked me for telling them of this valuable medicine."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McIlburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

FRIENDLY IN NEW YORK.

M. Saint-Saens Delighted With The Town.

The Courier des Etats-Unis has this opinion of New York from Saint-Saens: "As I did not expect to find reminiscences of the past in America, their absence did not make a bad impression on me. When I arrived in New York the great expense of the Hudson struck me as magnificent. It is a strange town, with its houses sometimes mere towers. As to the inhabitants, they do not agree with the description I had been given of them. In the streets they struck me as being quiet by comparison with the excited haste of people in some of our northern towns. I found everybody courteous, friendly and sympathetic. How would it be possible not to like a country where all the women are charming? Those who are not beautiful find a way to appear it. I was afraid first of all of meeting bachelor girls with short hair. I was agreeably surprised. Woman reigns in America by her grace and charm alone. Everything that one sees in that country has more or less the effect of a miracle. The new world is still in a transitory state. It may take several centuries for it to get its final definite shape."

IRONICAL HONESTY.

The whip flickering hero of the story had driven an irascible old fellow a good three-mile journey in the metropolis. When the fare climbed stiffly out and slowly produced a big pocket-book, cabby drew a deep breath and prepared to be assuaged. A vacant stare, however, standing near prevented all thought of his relieving his feeling by the use of picturesque terms. Cabby watched the fare make a lengthy mental calculation of the distance he had been driven, select the exact legal fare, count it twice over, and then proffer it to him with an expression on his face plainly indicative of "Now then, you dare dispute it and I'll take your number!" But cabby didn't dispute it. Instead, he promptly accepted it, but slipping his hand into another pocket he produced a farthing, which he handed to the fare.

"What's this for demanded the old fellow.

"One farthen, currant coin o' the rillum sir," said cabby gathering up the reins, "I drove yer just the exact distance represented by arf of that there sockel under the three mile you reckoned. I ain't got no arf farthen about me, but it don't matter. You can keep the change I ain't mean. Good-by, sir, and God Bless you! Ge up, 'orse!"—Tit-Bits.
