PLAINFIELD

Wedding of Charlotte K. Nutting and William B. Stratton Tuesday.

One of the prettiest events of the season took place Tuesday afternoon in Plainfield at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Leavitt when their daughter, Charlotte Kimball Nutting, was united in marriage to William Bingham Stratton of Montpelier.

The room in which the ceremony took place was decorated in white and green. Mrs. C. F. Nutting of Littleton, N. H., superintended the decorations.

After the ceremony a delicious collation was served. The bride and groom were the recipients of many costly and beautiful gifts of cut glass, silver and china, also five twenty-dollar gold pieces, the gift of the bride's father, and a substantial sum of money from the employees of the National Life Insurance Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Stratton will live in Montpelier at 6 Summer street. The bride is a young lady who has made a large circle of friends in her home town where she has spent a large part of her life. She attended Montpelier seminary for a time and was at Wheaton seminary in Newton, Mass., for about two years.

The groom is the son of President G. B. Stratton of the Vermont Mutual Fire Insurance Co. He is a graduate of the Montpelier high school, and for about five years was a clerk in the First National bank. At present he is employed in the treasurer's department in the National Life Insurance Co.

The many friends of the young couple wish them a happy and prosperous future.

The guests from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Stratton of Montpelier, parents of the groom; Mrs. Joseph Viart of Boston; Mrs. Arthur Stratton and son Robert of East Montpelier; Mrs. Edward Baker; Mrs. J. B. Anderson and Miss Olive Anderson of Montpelier; Mrs. F. H. Nutting and Miss Caroline Nutting of Bakersfield; Mrs. C. E. Barnes and Miss Blanche Barnes of Burlington; Mrs. Alfred Colburn and Miss Hazel Colburn; Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Nutting of Littleton; N. H.; Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Nutting of Branchton; Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Barnes and Miss Edwina and Frances Barnes of Burlington; Mr. J. E. Farrow and Miss Anna May Farrow of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Remarkable Rescue. That truth is stranger than fiction, has once more been demonstrated in the little town of Fedora, Tenn., the residence of C. V. Pepper, he writes: "I was in bed, entirely disabled with hemorrhages of the lungs and throat. Doctors failed to help me, and all hope had fled when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery. Then instant relief came. The coughing ceased; the bleeding diminished rapidly, and in three weeks I was able to go to work."

Work for Every Seeker. Every morning in the week except Sunday little groups of men and women gather about three doorways in three different sections of Chicago. When the weather is biting they stand huddled in neighboring hallways, down protecting basement stairs, and sometimes, in the case of men, in the nearest saloon.

Greenhorns. "Greenhorn" was the general term applied to all horned animals whose horns were "green"—that is to say, immature; hence it readily applies to anybody whose knowledge of the world or of a particular trade or profession is of the slightest description.

MAKES WORK EASIER

Barre People Are Pleased to Learn How It Is Done.

It's pretty hard to attend to duties with a constantly aching back! With annoying urinary disorders. Doan's Kidney Pills make work easier. They cure backache. They cure every kidney ill.

Mrs. M. M. Nelson of 18 West street, Barre, Vt., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at E. A. Doan's drug store, eight years ago, benefited me so greatly that I gave for publication a statement telling of my satisfactory experience with them. At that time a severe attack of the grip had left my kidneys in a weakened condition, and instead of getting better I grew worse. The slightest touch of the grip made me feel as if much sharp pains caught me across my back and compelled me to stop and rest. Other complications came on and trouble with the kidney secretions set in. I paid out over a hundred dollars for doctor's bills and medicines, but got no relief. I was finally advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills and did so. I received relief from the first few doses and as I continued using the remedy the attack from which I was suffering was completely relieved. Since then I have never been without Doan's Kidney Pills in the house and have often used them, and always with the same beneficial results. I am always glad to recommend this reliable medicine to my friends and acquaintances."

HOG FEEDING.

Soy Beans Proved to Be a Valuable Adjunct to Corn.

An experiment in feeding a lot of hogs at the Purdue university station leads to these conclusions: Soy beans proved to be a very valuable adjunct to corn, being the most efficient food tested.

Pigs fed a ration of one part soy beans to two parts corn produced 170 and one-fifth times as much gain in the same length of time as did those receiving corn only.

It required 310 pounds of feed per 100 pounds of gain where one-third of the ration was soy beans, while it took 537 pounds per 100 pounds of gain where corn alone was fed.

Comparing the soy bean ration with the middlings and tankage rations, the amount of feed required per 100 pounds gain stands—soy beans and corn, 310; middlings and corn, 343; tankage and corn, 330 pounds.

Cornmeal alone was shown to be very inefficient as a pork producer. The pigs receiving a ration of one-third soy bean meal and two-thirds cornmeal produced 402 pounds gain. A ration of one-half middlings and one-half cornmeal produced 365 pounds gain. One-sixth tankage and five-sixths cornmeal produced 348 pounds gain, while a ration of soy beans produced only 183 pounds gain.

Stated in another way, cornmeal alone produced less than one-half the gain made by a ration of one-third soy beans and two-thirds corn, one-half as much as middlings and corn, but little more than one-half as much as tankage and corn.

Cornmeal alone impaired the digestive capacity of the pigs, as shown by the feed consumed, which was 829 pounds less than any other lot consumed.

The longer the pigs were fed on corn alone the more inefficient it became, requiring 1,214 pounds of feed per 100 pounds during the last week of the test against 500 pounds the first week and an average of 567 pounds.

Cornmeal alone produced poor appetites, light bone, deficient development in valuable portions of the carcass and a general state of unthrift, as shown by the hair, skin and hungry look of the animals.

The gains on pigs fed under the conditions of this test cost $5.01 per 100 pounds where cornmeal alone was used, $3.44 with one-half middlings, $3.50 in the lot receiving two-thirds cornmeal and one-third soy bean meal and $3.71 where five-sixths corn and one-sixth digester tankage were fed.

Low Down Wagon. There is nothing on the farm that I find more handy than my low down wagon, says a writer in New England Homestead. I use it for all my road and farm work and cannot say anything but words of praise.

For hauling grain, straw, manure, coal, wood or, in fact, anything, it far exceeds the old fashioned high wagon. I use four inch tires, with a brake, and instead of tearing up the field it rolls it and causes lighter draft and little damage—in fact, none to a growing crop.

On the road it runs lighter than the high wheels, in my estimation. The sun and rains have no effect on a steel wheel, thus saving binding of tires and oftentimes a breakdown through dried wheels and loose tires.

All who have seen it admire it and think, as I do, it exceeds the high wooden wheels by far. It will only be a short time until the old wooden high wheeled wagon will be done away with.

Potato Scab. A popular belief prevails that lime produces potato scab and that barnyard manure does the same thing. This is an erroneous opinion, because nothing can produce potato scab except spores of the scab fungus. This scab fungus, however, thrives best in an alkaline soil, and a heavy coat of barnyard manure or a dressing of lime causes the soil to become alkaline; consequently if there are spores of the scab fungus in a soil that has been treated with lime or a heavy dressing of barnyard manure the conditions of that soil favor the growth of the scab fungus.—Kansas Farmer.

One Way to Destroy Red Ants. To destroy the red ant, which is in summer months a great trouble to the gardener, piece fresh meat bones where ants are found. They will soon collect in vast numbers on the bones and may be easily destroyed by dipping the bones in hot water, suggests R. R. in American Agriculture. Repeating the operation a few times will entirely do away with the pest.

Yarn Books. In mending the torn leaves of books a thin waxed paper, such as comes in cracker or button boxes, may be used and fastened with library paste. The paper being transparent may be used over the entire page if necessary, as the print easily shows through.
