See the graduates leap.

Carrie Nation resembles a cork; you can't keep her down.

It looks as if they were going to fight it out on this line all summer in Boise, Idaho.

If the crop of June weddings continues large there will be an apple famine next fall, judging by the decorations now being lavished.

Perhaps it was only habit that caused the Montpelier Argus to write up the Montpelier city court record and then label it "Barre City Court."

TODAY'S ANNIVERSARY.

For one hundred and thirty years the strip of hunting which quickens every patriotic heart at the sight has been the flag of the United States. On June 14, 1777 the flag was adopted by the Congress of the struggling colonies. So on this anniversary day every reverent American should permit the star spangled banner to take fresh hold on his affections and he should again swear fealty to what it represents. The stars and stripes forever!

A WORD OF APPRECIATION.

The Times cannot allow this occasion to pass—the closing of the school year—without extending its thanks in behalf of all people of Barre who are interested in the welfare of the public school system to those teachers who lay down the work which they have been doing for periods ranging from two to seventeen years. 'Tis true that they are paid employes like the worker in the shop, the office or any other place and as such they have received compensation for their services. Looking at the matter from the purely materialistic standpoint they have been given their reward with the receipt of the city's checks. But there is another reward of service which, while not tangible like the coin of the realm, is prized as highly as the money consideration and lasts longer. That is the reward of gratitude and appreciation which the employer pays to the faithful, efficient servant. The city of Barre certainly does owe a debt of this nature to the seven women who have, by vote of the school commissioners, been displaced on the roles of the city schools. They one and all have given painstaking and conscientious service toward the betterment of the civic life of the community through the education of the young and have been, we feel confident, quite instrumental also toward the building up of the present school system insofar as it can be built about an efficient teaching force. In finishing their duties today they may, therefore, retire in the confidence of work well done, and The Times gladly extends to them a feeling of appreciation and gratitude.

Marrying For Love

Happy marriages are surely possible even in these unpoetic, hard-hearted times. They are, if people will only follow the instinct of their better natures and marry for love—the reverent, impassioned love of the man for the maiden, the pure unsophisticated affection of the maiden for the man—instead of bartering happiness for rank or money.—From the Throne.

JINGLES AND JESTS

Nature Faking.

When baby comes to your knee at night
 And begs in his plaintive way
 For a tale about wolves that growl and bite,
 Be heedful of what you say.
 Don't tell him of Little Red Riding Hood,
 To grandma the sweetmeats taking,
 Who met a wolf as she crossed the wood,
 For that would be nature faking.

When baby cries in the dead of night,
 And keeps up a fearful noise
 Don't tell of the bears outside that bite
 And feed upon naughty boys.
 Don't tell of the big black bear outside,
 When his tummy perhaps is aching
 Nor picture his fangs nor his jaws so wide,
 For that would be nature faking.

When baby comes to your knee at night,
 And asks in his plaintive way
 For a story, tell him about the light
 You had with a fish one day.
 And tell him about the time you had
 A pike from the water taking,
 You'll be a dry and a prosy dad,
 But you won't be nature faking.
 —Detroit Free Press.

Youth and Age.

"Come on," urged the first old tippler,
 "let's have 'nuzer drink. Let's have be young agen 't'night, 'cause a man's old only old as he feels."
 "It zhat's so," replied the other,
 "we'll be 'bout hundred an' fifty t'morrow mornin'."—Philadelphia Press.

The promenade held at the town hall Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Foresters was largely attended and very much enjoyed.

D. W. Boothower, who has been spending several weeks at his home in Fletcher, has returned to town and is working in Eugene H. Kennedy's blacksmith shop.

Rogers F. Brown alias Lock of Wells River was committed to jail for twenty days last Monday for intoxication. He was conducted to town by Deputy Sheriff H. T. Baldwin.

Among other visitors in town this week are Geo. W. Flagg of Braintree, H. M. Gaylord and Dr. J. P. Gifford of Randolph, Deputy Sheriff W. Grant Jackson of Topsham, W. H. Burr of Thetford, Frank Hayden of Montpelier and Mrs. E. W. Kent of Randolph.

Deputy Sheriff E. W. Kent of Randolph was in Windsor Tuesday and gathered in Arthur Adahale, who is wanted to answer to an indictment by the grand jury for breach of the peace, and he is also wanted for violating his parole from the house of correction on a conditional pardon granted by Governor Charles J. Bell.

The lecture by the Hon. D. J. Foster of Burlington upon his recent trip to Panama at the town hall Tuesday night was very instructive and very interesting, it being illustrated by about 100 stereoscopic views of Panama along the line of the canal now in process of construction.

Coming to Castle Park.

The managers of Mason Bros. Uncle Tom's Cabin company will appear at Castle Park soon have made a radical departure this season from the methods pursued by most companies playing this popular drama, inasmuch as they have dispensed with the customary stage, parade and confine the outside advertising to simply a hand concert at noon. Managers heretofore have practically given the best part of the performance on the street, introducing dogs, donkeys and ponies that play no part in the production. The dramatic strength of the company suffered in consequence. There are no brass band actors with Mason Bros. company, but instead, a cast of high salaried and capable performers who give a complete and convincing presentation of the greatest of all American dramas. The uniformly large audiences and the favorable comments received at every place visited, has proven conclusively that the theatre-goers appreciate the efforts of the management in presenting the play with the best talent obtainable.

Mrs. Harty Whittier and daughter will move into the house with Mr. and Mrs. L. Lyford for the summer.

The Rev. J. Edward Farrow gave a very interesting lecture Thursday night at the Congregational church.

Cards are out for the marriage of Louise Bludeau to Edwin David Loney Wednesday evening, June 26, at Cabot.

Mr. Clifford, who has been in Heaton hospital for two weeks having an operation performed, returned home the first of the week and is getting along well.

THE WOMAN NOT INDICTED.

Mrs. E. C. Smith Released From Charge of Forgery.

Bennington, June 14.—The grand jury for the June term of court in session at Manchester has brought in its report of seven true bills and two not found. No indictment was found against Mrs. E. C. Smith, who has been confined in the county jail here and at the work house in Rutland since last September on the charge of forgery.

The woman was arrested with her alleged husband in Manchester six months ago, where the people had been operating as agents of a Boston produce house. Checks with which Smith paid for butter and eggs were found to be forgeries and he and his wife were arrested, the charge against the woman being that she attempted to pass a forged check on the North Bennington bank.

They were given a hearing and held for the grand jury but Smith escaped on the night of January 1 by means of a wooden key with which he unlocked the jail corridor door. The woman was later transferred to the house of correction from which she will now be released.
